Window of Life Georgina Kenway,2008 The Window of Life Deleola Akeredolu,2012-06-19 In this jet age people are closer to their computers iPods and iPhones than to God their creator In the Old Testament God put in place prophets to guide His people and under the covenant of grace the Holy Spirit educates and teaches all things Rather than seek help through the Holy Spirit people are moving farther away from God by wanting to do things in their own way Earthly wisdom always leads people astray That is further reason why there is no peace in the world but the wisdom from God is peaceable gentle open to reason and full of mercy and good In The Window of Life Deleola Akeredolu clearly explains how beneficial it is to look at life through the eyes of God All the materials in this book are from visions and revelations given by God

The Window of Opportunity: Pre-Pregnancy to 24 Months of Age D. J. P. Barker, R. L. Bergmann, P. L. Ogra, 2008-07 There is no longer any doubt that the inherited genetic constitution of the individual has a large influence on the entire life cycle from human fetal development and pre and postnatal growth to subsequent health status However growing evidence suggests that this predisposition is not rigid but that early genetic imprinting caused by exposure to a diverse spectrum of nutrients macromolecules microbial agents and other cellular or soluble components present in the external environment is also of importance According to this concept of the developmental origins of adult diseases intrauterine and early life events play an important role in the etiology of human diseases there seems to exist a critical window of opportunity in the human infant before and during pregnancy and up to 24 months of age Altered exposure to different environmental agents during this critical period may determine the nature of responses in the perinatal period and the expression of specific disease states in later life The papers presented in this publication thus focus on the impact of perinatal growth nutrition environmental microflora and host immune responses on the outcome of health and disease in later life

The First 1000 Days: Window of Opportunity for Child Health and Development Shoba Suri, Giovanna Verlato, Subhasree Ray, 2025-09-23 The first 1000 days of a child's life starting from conception until their second birthday are a critical period for their growth and development During this time the child's brain is developing rapidly and their body is growing at a remarkable pace Proper nutrition healthcare along with social and emotional support during this period can have a significant impact on the child's future health and well being The 1000 day window of opportunity is based on research that has shown malnutrition and other health problems during this period can have long lasting effects on the child's health and development For example malnutrition during this period can lead to stunted growth cognitive deficits and a weakened immune system These effects can have lasting consequences that can affect the child's health and well being into adulthood Therefore it is essential to provide children with proper nutrition health care and social and emotional support during this period This includes promoting breastfeeding providing a diverse and nutrient rich diet ensuring access to clean water and sanitation and providing appropriate health care including vaccinations and regular check ups Additionally creating a supportive and nurturing environment for the child including providing responsive caregiving and a safe and stimulating living environment can also have a positive impact on their development Investing in the health and well being of children during the first 1000 days of life is not only crucial for their future but also for the well being and development of communities and societies as a whole By prioritizing a child's health and development during this critical period we can set the foundation for a healthier more productive and equitable future for all
