Typing On A Form:

Clause Typing in the Old Irish Verbal Complex Carlos García-Castillero, 2020-07-06 Austin's words on page 1 of his seminal work How to do things with words are valid for this study on clause typing in the Old Irish verbal complex. The phenomenon to be discussed is very widespread and obvious and it cannot fail to have been already noticed at least here and there by others. Yet I have not found attention paid to it specifically Old Irish a regular V1 language morphologically distinguishes six clause types to wit declarative relative wh and polar interrogative responsive and imperative clause types. After discussing the constituency of the Old Irish verbal complex and the pragmatically marked orders i.e. cleft sentence and left dislocation the form function paradigmatic consistency and syntax of those clause types are then analysed in detail. The other main issues of this study are the descriptively adequate paradigm of clause types and the interaction of clause typing with subordination and with non verbal predication in Old Irish. This monograph offers a comprehensive view of clause typing its morphological expression and related phenomena in the earliest Insular Celtic language and may also contribute to the general consideration of these topics in both the typological and diachronic perspectives.
