of their time and it now appears that many of their dramas are well worth staging Once the sixteenth century was freed from the stigma of being the preparatory phase for the Golden Age the way was clear for thorough studies of the literature produced during the most turbulent period in the history of the Low Countries This volume contains essays which deal with works written not only in Dutch but also in French and in New Latin with topics ranging from the effects of poetic principles on literary practice to the use of poetry as a means for improving society and developing the individual The unifying thread in these studies is the pivotal importance of rhetoric in all forms of literary expression The Golden Mean of Languages Alisa van de Haar, 2019-09-02 In The Golden Mean of Languages Alisa van de Haar sheds new light on the debates regarding the form and status of the vernacular in the early modern Low Countries where both Dutch and French were local tongues The fascination with the history grammar spelling and vocabulary of Dutch and French has been studied mainly from monolingual perspectives tracing the development towards modern Dutch or French Van de Haar shows that the discussions on these languages were rooted in multilingual environments in particular in French schools Calvinist churches printing houses and chambers of rhetoric The proposals that were formulated there to forge Dutch and French into useful forms were not directed solely at uniformization but were much more diverse
