The Woman in the Violence M. Cristina Alcalde, 2010-12-10 Combating abuse and violence in a South American capital

Sexual Violence during War and Peace J. Boesten, 2014-04-16 Using the Peruvian internal armed conflict as a case study this book examines wartime rape and how it reproduces and reinforces existing hierarchies Jelke Boesten argues that effective responses to sexual violence in wartime are conditional upon profound changes in legal frameworks and practices institutions and society at large

The Aesthetic and Political Practices of Trans Women in Peru Paola Patiño Rabines, 2023-12-27 This book explores the political aesthetic practices of transgender women in Lima Peru and how they use these to survive and fight for recognition and full citizenship through drawing on ethnographic research and on decolonial feminist and aesthetic theories Chapters analyze how the vulnerability and precariousness of trans women coexist with modes of feminist agency resistance and resilience as well as with proposals for political action to transform a heteropatriarchal society toward a more diverse and accepting one Finally the author draws on the Viennese artist Friedensreich Hundertwasser's metaphor of the five skins whereby the first skin is the epidermis the second is the clothes the third is the house the fourth is identity which refers to primary socialization spaces such as the neighbourhood and the fifth is the world environment The author uses this metaphor to analyze the corporal practices of trans women in a cumulative way paying special attention to the different stages of their lives to those skins that embody and accompany them from childhood to adulthood This book will be of interest to scholars of transgender studies decolonial feminist studies and aesthetic particularly those with a focus on gender and sexuality in Latin America

International Handbook on Gender and Demographic Processes Nancy E. Riley, Jan Brunson, 2018-05-02 This handbook presents a comprehensive and up to date overview of gender in demography addressing the many different influences of gender that arise from or influence demographic processes. It collects in one volume the key issues and perspectives in this area whereby demography is broadly defined. The purpose in casting a wide net is to cover the range of work being done within demography but at the same time to open up our perspectives to neighboring fields to encourage better conversations around these issues. The chapters in this handbook carefully document definition and measurement issues and take up parts of the demographic picture and focus on how gender plays a role in outcomes. In other cases gender often plays a cross-cutting role in social processes rather than having a single or easily distinguishable role; it often combines with other social institutions and even other statuses and inequalities to affect outcomes. Thus a key factor in this volume is how gender interacts with race, ethnicity, class, nationality, and sexuality in any demographic setting. While each section contains chapters that are broad overviews of the current state of knowledge and behavior, the handbook also includes chapters that focus on specific cultures or events in order to examine how gender operates in a particular circumstance.

Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty-First Century Ellen Lewin, Leni M. Silverstein, 2016-07-07. Feminist anthropology emerged in the 1970s as a much-needed corrective to the discipline's androcentric biases. Far from being a marginalized subfield, it has been at the forefront of developments that have revolutionized not only anthropology but also a host of other disciplines. This landmark collection of essays provides a contemporary overview of feminist anthropology's historical and theoretical origins, the transformations it has undergone, and the vital contributions it continues to make to cutting-edge scholarship. Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty-First Century brings together a variety of contributors giving a voice to both younger researchers and pioneering scholars who offer insider perspectives on the field's foundational moments. Some chapters reveal how the rise of feminist anthropology shaped and was shaped by the emergence of fields like women's studies, black and Latina studies, and LGBTQ studies. Others consider how feminist anthropologists are helping to frame the direction of developing disciplines like masculinity studies, affect theory, and science and technology studies. Spanning the globe from India to Canada, from Vietnam to Peru, Mapping Feminist Anthropology in the Twenty-First Century reveals the important role that feminist anthropologists have played in worldwide campaigns against human rights abuses, domestic violence, and environmental degradation. It also celebrates the work they have done closer to home helping to explode the developed world's preconceptions about sex, gender, and sexuality.

Feminist and Human Rights Struggles in Peru Pascha Bueno-Hansen, 2015-07-30. In 2001, following a generation of armed conflict and authoritarian rule, the Peruvian state created a Truth and Reconciliation Committee (TRC). Pascha Bueno-Hansen places the TRC, feminist and human rights movements, and related non-governmental organizations within an international and historical context to expose the difficulties in addressing gender-based violence. Her innovative theoretical and methodological framework based on decolonial feminism and a critical engagement with intersectionality facilitates an in-depth examination of the Peruvian transitional justice process based on field studies and archival research. Bueno-Hansen uncovers the colonial mappings and linear temporality underlying transitional justice efforts and illustrates why transitional justice mechanisms must reckon with the societal roots of atrocities if they are to result in true and lasting social transformation Original and bold Feminist and Human Rights Struggles in Peru elucidates the tension between the promise of transitional justice and persistent inequality and impunity Transition Towards Gender Equality Sonja Gierse-Arsten ,2024-01-30 Worldwide Namibia ranks high regarding gender equality However many women are intimidated by violence perpetrated by men This book is based on a social anthropological field research in the small town of Outjo situated in Northern Central Namibia over a period of 14 months Gender is learnt lived and reproduced in a societal frame Violence against women too is perpetrated by men in a societal context By using mainly qualitative research methods Sonja Gierse Arsten looks at male and female perspectives to reach a holistic understanding and to provide a basis for sustainable changes towards equal gender relations She traces the transition from a hierarchical gender system during colonial times to the aspired equal gender relations in present Namibia Current challenges characterised by poverty and great economic inequalities form the framework in which gender is performed and violence perpetrated This study offers inspirations to re think gender to reach substantive gender equality and to overcome the normalisation of violence The Trouble with Marriage Srimati Basu,2015-01-03 The Trouble with Marriage is part of a new global feminist jurisprudence around marriage and violence that looks to law as strategy rather than solution In this ethnography of lawyer free family courts and mediations of rape and domestic violence charges in India Srimati Basu depicts everyday life in legal sites of marital trouble reevaluating feminist theories of law marriage violence property and the state Basu argues that alternative dispute resolution originally designed to empower women in a less adversarial legal environment has created new subjectivities but paradoxically has also reinforced oppressive socioeconomic norms that leave women no better off individually or collectively

Writing Terror on the Bodies of Women Sarah England, 2018-08-15 Writing Terror on the Bodies of Women Media Coverage of Violence against Women in Guatemala analyzes the scope and dynamics of violence against women in Guatemala and how it is represented in the print media Using nearly two thousand Guatemalan newspaper reports covering murders and assaults on women this book contextualizes violence against women within the history of violence in Guatemala gender ideologies and patriarchal social structures and the contemporary demands of the women's movement for social and legislative change It shows that while some newspapers cover violence against women with investigative reports and editorials that use feminist analysis and language these are overshadowed by the large number of individual reports that reproduce narratives of terror and conceal the gendered nature of violence against women by suggesting that delinquents gangs unknown men and inexplicably violent husbands are the main culprits while simultaneously upholding dichotomous gendered narratives of good and bad wives and daughters

Battering States Madelaine Adelman, 2021-04-30 Battering States explores the most personal part of people's lives as they intersect with a uniquely complex state system The book examines how statecraft shapes domestic violence how a state defines itself and determines what counts as a family how a state establishes sovereignty and defends its borders and how a state organizes its legal system and forges its economy The ethnography includes stories from people places and perspectives not commonly incorporated in domestic violence studies and in doing so reveals the transformation of intimate partner violence from a predictable form of marital trouble to a publicly recognized social problem The politics of domestic violence create novel entry points to understanding how although women may be vulnerable to gender based violence they do not necessarily share the same kind of belonging to the state This means that markers of identity and power such as gender nationality ethnicity religion and religiosity and socio economic and geographic location matter when it comes to safety and pathways to justice The study centers on Israel where a number of factors bring connections between the cultural politics of the state and domestic violence into stark relief the presence of a contentious multinational and multiethnic population competing and overlapping sets of religious and civil laws a growing gap between the wealthy and the poor and the dominant presence of a security state in people s everyday lives The exact combination of these factors is unique to Israel but they are typical of states with a diverse population in a time of globalization In this way the example of Israel offers insights wherever the political and personal impinge on one another
