The Woman Who Was Chesterton:

The Woman who was Chesterton Nancy Carpentier Brown,2015 This is a love story But it is also a detective story And best of all it is a true story told here for the the first time Gilbert Keith Chesterton was a romantic a writer of detective tales and a teller of the truth His own story and the stories he told are becoming better and better known But what has remained unknown is the story of the most important person in his life his wife Frances Nancy Carpentier Brown has done incredible detective work to uncover the mystery of Frances tracking a figure who managed to leave very few traces of herself It is quite likely that as more is discovered about Frances more biographies will be written of her and they will be even more complete But they will all come back to this one Dale Ahlquist from the Foreword

English writer G K Chesterton gives readers a new outlook on beauty in his two essays A Piece of Chalk and On Chasing One's Hat. The author uses irony, imagery, and juxtaposition to persuade his audience that beauty is in the eye of the beholder. To Chesterton, even the most typical objects or situations can be enjoyed immensely if the audience chooses a more enlightened perspective.
