Western Fictions Black Realities Meanings Of Blackness And Modernities:

Western Fictions, Black Realities Isabel Soto, Violet Showers Johnson, 2011 This anthology interrogates two salient concepts in studying the black experience. Ushered in with the age of New World encounters, modernity emerged as brutal, complex and multiple from its very definition to its manifestations. Equally challenging is blackness, which is forever dangling between the range of uplifting articulations and insidious degradation. The essays confront the conflicting confluences of these two terms. Questioning Eurocentric and mainstream American interpretations, they reveal the diverse meanings of modernities and blackness from an equally diverse set of milieus of the black experience. Interdisciplinary and wide-ranging in thematic and epochal scope, they use theoretical and empirical studies to demonstrate that indeed blackness is relevant for understanding modernities and vice versa.

Black USA and Spain Rosalía Cornejo-Parriego, 2019-07-24 During the 20th century Spaniards and African Americans shared significant cultural memories forged by the profound impact that various artistic and historical events had on each other. Addressing three crucial periods, the Harlem Renaissance and Jazz Age, the Spanish Civil War and Franco's dictatorship, this collection of essays explores the transnational bond and the intercultural exchanges between these two communities using race as a fundamental critical category. The study of travelogues, memoirs, documentaries, interviews, press coverage, comics, literary works, music, and performances by iconic figures such as Josephine Baker, Langston Hughes, and Ramón G. Méndez de la Serna, as well as the experiences of ordinary individuals such as African American nurse Salaria Kea, invite an examination of the ambiguities and paradoxes that underlie this relationship among them, the questionable and at times surprising racial representations of blacks in Spanish avant-garde texts and in the press during the years of Franco's dictatorship, African Americans' very unique view of the Spanish Civil War in light of their racial identity, and the oscillation between fascination and anxiety when these two communities look at each other.

Ethnic Historians and the Mainstream Alan M. Kraut, David A. Gerber, 2013-11-06 Do historians write their biographies with the subjects they choose to address in their research? In this collection, editors Alan M. Kraut and David A. Gerber compiled eleven original essays by historians whose own ethnic backgrounds shaped the choices they have made about their own research and writing, as scholars These authors historians of American immigration and ethnicity revisited family and personal experiences and reflect on how their lives helped shape their later scholarly pursuits at times inspiring specific questions they asked of the nation s immigrant past They address issues of diversity multiculturalism and assimilation in academia in the discipline of history and in society at large Most have been pioneers not only in their respective fields but also in representing their ethnic group within American academia Some of the women in the group were in the vanguard of gender diversity in the discipline of history as well as on the faculties of the institutions where they have taught The authors in this collection represent a wide array of backgrounds spanning Europe Africa Asia the Middle East and Latin America What they have in common is their passionate engagement with the making of social and personal identities and with finding a voice to explain their personal stories in public terms Contributors Theresa Alfaro Velcamp John Bodnar Mar a C Garc a David A Gerber Violet M Showers Johnson Alan M Kraut Timothy J Meagher Deborah Dash Moore Dominic A Pacyga Barbara M Posadas Eileen H Tamura Virginia Yans Judy Yung
