Equity-Driven Leadership in School Counseling Caroline Lopez-Perry, E.C.M. Mason, 2025-09-26 Drawing from the authors experience as former school counselors their research on school counselor leadership and advocacy and their professional advocacy work this book provides insights and strategies to develop school counselors leadership skills This book is divided into two parts The first part focuses on self reflection and critical consciousness for school counselors It challenges their understanding of leadership and urges them to critically examine whether their personal definition of leadership aligns with the needs of diverse students and the broader educational context Chapter topics include leadership and liberation the limits of traditional leadership theories leading with emotional intelligence and the courage to confront systems of oppression The second part calls the reader toward critical action and engagement in social and political activity and advocacy with the intent to disrupt and change perceived inequalities Specific topics include developing political skills addressing resistance to change and developing collaborative relationships School counselors will find this book filled with the necessary knowledge and skills to effect change in schools districts and the public arena for the benefit of P 12 students particularly those from historically marginalized populations

What Is Sustainable Richard Adrian Reese, 2011-09-03 A hurricane called Peak Everything is rapidly approaching and we are not prepared for it Looking through doom colored glasses the future appears turbulent and chaotic for obvious reasons But when we switch to rose colored glasses it s thrilling to see that dawn is breaking out all over A dysfunctional way of life is dying and this opens up a wide variety of new possibilities some of which could lead to a genuinely sustainable future No matter what we do the Earth will heal It will heal if we self destruct and it will heal if we remember healthy values and lifestyles Are we capable of intelligent change Yes But problems that took centuries to create will not be resolved in a single generation The purpose of this book is to encourage the healing process to propose important questions and to examine our reality from a different perspective One thing is certain the future demands a radically more intelligent worldview and skill set and a genuinely healthy future will have little in common with the way we live today The four directions of this book are sustainable population sustainable worldview sustainable food and reconnection with our past our ancestors and our non human relatives the living world Subjects discussed include ecological history domestication voluntary simplicity collapse materialism peak energy peak food peak population antibiotics aquaculture and agroforestry

Making Place, Making Self Inger Birkeland, 2017-03-02 Making Place Making Self explores new understandings of place and place making in late modernity covering key themes of place and space tourism and mobility sexual difference and subjectivity Using a series of individual life stories it develops a fascinating polyvocal account of leisure and life journeys These stories focus on journeys made to the North Cape in Norway the most northern point of mainland Europe which is both a tourist destination and an evocation of a reliable and secure point of reference an idea that gives meaning to an individual s life The theoretical core of the book draws on an interweaving of post Lacanian versions of feminist psycho analytical thinking with phenomenological and existential thinking where place making is linked with self making and homecoming By combining such ground breaking theory with her innovative use of case studies Inger Birkeland here provides a major contribution to the fields of cultural geography tourism and feminist studies

Eco-Informed Practice Tracey A. Laszloffy, Markie L. C. Twist, 2019-04-17 This innovative book examines how family health and well being have been impacted by increased alienation from the natural world and calls for greater incorporation of ecological issues into therapeutic practice Positioning environmental activism as a critical social justice issue the book highlights the unique opportunities for family therapists to promote reconnection healing and sustainability by integrating attention to nature and the environment into their work Contributors also recommend clinical ideas strategies and interventions that can be employed as part of this approach to therapy research and teaching Among the topics covered Developmental benefits of childhood experiences with nature Applications of indigenous healing methods in Western practice Wilderness and adventure therapy immersion Clinical educational and supervisory applications of an eco informed approach to therapy The first work of its kind to address the overlap in environmental and family sustainability in the field of family therapy Eco Informed Practice Family Therapy in an Age of Ecological Peril fills a significant gap in family therapy literature Students and professionals in mental health fields will find this book an enlightening perspective on family therapy as well as a set of useful guidelines for implementing this exciting new approach in clinical practice
