The History of the University of Zambia, 1966-2016 B. J. Phiri, 2016. Widening University Access and Participation in the Global South Edward Mboyonga, 2024-12-31. Using a capability approach as an analytical framework, this timely volume examines how access to higher education enabled through private universities can transform students' lives and contribute to human development in low-income countries in the Global South. Providing new insights into the contribution of the private higher education sector in Africa's developmental agendas, the book offers an alternative to human capital theory by offering an expansive notion on the value of higher education, emphasising both the economic and the intrinsic societal and social benefits that come from access to university and raised aspirations. The chapters identify and discuss six specific capabilities valued by students that higher education provides. This includes epistemological access, epistemic contribution, aspiration, recognition, respect, and belonging, Ubuntu, and employability. The book foregrounds the voices of students and lecturers to explore students' aspirations, agency, access, and participation. Ultimately, promoting a reconsideration of access to higher education beyond numerical terms by focusing on students' access to transformative knowledge as a means to promote their freedom to achieve well-being, the book will appeal to scholars, researchers, and postgraduate students in higher education, African education studies, and international and comparative education more broadly.

The book highlights the many lives of men and their interactions with socioeconomic and political processes, including the family, fatherhood, migration, development, and violence. Critiques hegemonic masculinities and grapples with effective practices that engage men in the empowerment of women. Explores how cultures of masculinity can be transformed to promote social justice, conflict resolution, and peace building within and across nations. The book will be indispensable to researchers interested in critical masculinity studies, women's studies, sociology, social anthropology, law, public policy, political science, and international relations.
