Eurocentrism, Art and Art Education David Gall, 2025-09-24 In this book David Gall exposes Eurocentrism in higher art education in philosophy and aesthetic theory in art history and art criticism and in K 12 teacher training discourse. Gall's book challenges tendencies in academe that would have scholars stay within their lane, meaning that Art Education professors like him should stick to K 12 teacher training concerns. For the multiracial multiethnic hybrid context that characterizes our postcolonial world, ignoring the ethnocentrism and racism of higher levels of art education is not optional if as a global community we are to overcome resurgent fascism and realize our more comprehensive humanity. Though not the only obstacle to that end, Eurocentrism remains its biggest. This book examines Eurocentric legacies in modernist formalism in the linguistic turn of postmodernist discourse and argues that a different understanding of the aesthetics is needed; the current dominant understanding of aesthetics perpetuates an art/science polarization that mischaracterizes both art and science. Streams of thought outside and within Euro-Western philosophies offer alternative ways of viewing aesthetics and aesthetic experience. This text hopefully will help make them mainstream.

The Prehistoric Foundations of Europe to the Mycenaean Age C.F.C. Hawkes, 2014-10-24 First published in 1940, this is a classic work by one of the most well-regarded archaeological scholars. European archaeology had made remarkable progress in the early twentieth century, and this volume offers a clear impression of the understanding of European prehistory as a whole. Broken into six topics with additional prologue and epilogue, the text traces out the early foundations of human culture in Europe, covering the Palaeolithic, Mesolithic, Neolithic, and Bronze Ages, as well as offering specific focuses on trade routes and migration and conflict.

Unmistakably Black: Sculpture and Paintings from the World's First Civilizations Anu M'Bantu, 2013-06-10 Anthro photo journalist Anu M Bantu has traveled the world armed with a camera. He has taken aim at evidence of Black history in North Africa and Asia. The result is this magnificent book which contains 140 colour pictures that are rarely seen in textbooks. It proves that the ancient Egyptians, Sumerians, Akkadians, Babylonians, Elamites, Syrians, Anatolians, Minoans, and Moors were Unmistakably Black. Tell the Black community, Tell the children.

To Awaken My Afflicted Brethren Peter P.

Hinks, 2010-11-01 In 1829 David Walker, a free Black born in Wilmington, North Carolina, wrote one of America's most provocative political documents of the nineteenth century: An Appeal to the Colored Citizens of the World. Decrying the savage and unchristian treatment Blacks suffered in the United States, Walker challenged his afflicted and slumbering brethren to rise up and cast off their chains. His innovative efforts to circulate this pamphlet in the South outraged slaveholders who eventually uncovered one of the boldest and most extensive plans to empower slaves ever conceived in antebellum America. Though Walker died in 1830, the Appeal remained a rallying point for many African Americans for years.

to come In this ambitious book Peter Hinks combines social biography with textual analysis to provide a powerful new interpretation of David Walker and his meaning for antebellum American history Little was formerly known about David Walker s life Through painstaking research Hinks has situated Walker much more precisely in the world out of which he arose in early nineteenth century coastal North and South Carolina He shows the likely impact of Wilmington s independent black Methodist church upon Walker the probable sources of his early education and most significant the pivotal influence that Denmark Vesey s Charleston had on his thinking about religion and resistance Walker s years in Boston from 1825 his mounting involvement with the Northern black reform movement and the remarkable underground network used to distribute the Appeal all reconstructed here testify to Walker s centrality in the development of American abolitionism and antebellum black activism Hinks s thorough exegesis of the Appeal illuminates how this document was one of the most startling and incisive indictments of American racism ever written He shows how Walker labored to harness the optimistic activism of evangelical Christianity and revolutionary republicanism to inspire African Americans to a new sense of personal worth and to their capacity to challenge the ideology and institutions of white supremacy Yet the failure of Walker s bold and novel formulations to threaten American slavery and racism proved how difficult if not impossible it was to orchestrate large scale and effective slave resistance in antebellum America To Awaken My Afflicted Brethren fathoms for the first time this complex individual and the ambiguous history surrounding him and his world
