Race and Culturally Responsive Inquiry in Education Stafford L. Hood, Henry T. Frierson, Rodney K. Hopson, Keena N. Arbuthnot, 2022-08-16 Race and Culturally Responsive Inquiry in Education examines how assumptions about race and culture have shaped US education research and the interpretation and implementation of its results This ambitious volume sheds light on the detrimental effects of educational praxis and policies that have characterized communities of color and historically underserved communities as deficient It reveals how such bias has affected many facets of educational inquiry from research design and planning to education policy making and evaluation practices The provocative essays in this work challenge traditional suppositions about whose evidence matters highlighting approaches for reframing educational inquiry and arguing for the adoption of a culturally responsive stance that can correct inequities by accounting for students diverse backgrounds and needs Edited by Stafford L Hood Henry T Frierson Rodney K Hopson and Keena N Arbuthnot and featuring contributions from leading and emerging scholars the collection is organized around three key areas education research educational assessment and program evaluation The contributors identify provocative problems that exist at the intersection of race and education in these areas and they illuminate the many ways in which education reform can address intersectionality Calling for effective action they suggest compelling solutions for consideration by policy makers and practitioners as well as researchers Together the essays in this volume make the case that culturally responsive methods that deepen our understanding of educational disparities appropriately measure what students know and can do and ensure that we have accurate information about the effectiveness of educational interventions can improve educational outcomes for diverse learners

Assessment Policy Reform Tina Isaacs, Iasonas Lamprianou, 2020-05-21 This book highlights the impact of policy and politics on assessment across the globe With contributions from England the Irish Republic Northern Ireland Norway Sweden Switzerland and Wales it explores state led assessment policies and practices that have been the subject of much debate We are experiencing a shift from using assessments especially national tests as measurement instruments designed to produce information to a reliance on tests to influence policy and instruction Once tests become high stakes for students teachers and schools even those that might have been reasonable monitors of educational success can lose dependability and credibility However not all countries assessment policies follow the same model and the contributors explore and analyse a range of different national and supra national assessment policy approaches and perspectives The chapters identify the impetus behind changing assessment policies and practices and analyse ways forward and innovative approaches Readers can draw their own conclusions about which models can provide the best outcomes for learners surely the most important part of the equation This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education Principles Policy Practice

Governing the School under Three Decades of Neoliberal Reform Richard Münch, 2020-03-23 This book provides a critical analysis of the neoliberal reform agenda of the economic governance of schools Focusing on the role of the United States in this process it explores the transformation of schools in this agenda from educational establishments to enterprises in a competitive education market The study uses Bourdieu to apply a field theoretical framework to a detailed empirical analysis of the current changes of school government Chapters explore education bureaucracy reform and the effect of outside organizations on pedagogy and testing The book reveals how far the promises of corporate education reform are from reality and concludes with a plea for a realistic view of schools capabilities It goes beyond the state of the art with its focus on how the governance of education school and instruction is changing with the replacement of educracy by an education industrial complex The book will be of great interest for academics postgraduate students administrators and politicians in the field of education policy the governance of school systems and schools The book also has an international appeal as it studies a global transformation of the field of education Future Prospects of Learning in the Clinical Environment:

The Future of Test-Based Educational Accountability Katherine Ryan, Lorrie Shepard, 2010-03-17. In recent decades testing has become a much more visible and high stakes accountability mechanism that is now seen as a powerful tool that can be used to drive school improvement. The purpose of this book is to identify and analyze the key issues associated with test based educational accountability and to chart the future of educational accountability research. Chapter contributions are intended to be forward looking rather than a compendium of what has happened in the past. The book provides an accessible discussion of issues such as validity, test equating, growth modeling, fairness for special populations, causal inferences and misuses of accountability data.

Creative Provocations: Speculations on the Future of Creativity, Technology & Learning Danah Henriksen, Punya Mishra, 2023-01-01. This book explores the complex yet critical relationship between technology and creativity specifically in educational contexts. Creativity is important for success in today's rapidly changing, radically contingent and hyperconnected world. This is even more relevant in the context of teaching and learning where the psychological, sociological and cultural aspects of human learning confront the challenges of a rapidly changing, technologically saturated world. Written by some of the foremost thinkers and researchers in the area of creativity and/or technology, the chapters in this volume examine the impact of recent and future technologies on creativity, teaching and learning. Individually and collectively they help us develop an understanding of this nexus of creativity and technology for education. They offer new perspectives on this rapidly evolving future, exploring issues, paradoxes, tensions and points of interest for creativity and technology. They position these issues in ways that consider implications for thinking, learning, teaching and education in general.

Fardoun, Kevin J. Downing, Mandy Mok, 2018-03-26 This book addresses some of the challenges posed by the globalization of higher education It examines the emergence and resulting challenges of English as Lingua Franca ELF and of the decision to use English as the Medium of Instruction EMI as part of a strategic policy of internationalization It looks at survival challenges caused by globalization and expansion the diversity challenge the concept of marginality and how marginality can lead to creativity teaching and encouraging entrepreneurialism the tools needed for internationalizing higher education in developing countries innovative approaches the intelligent use of technology and finally the value of non constraint engagement in driving teaching and course quality improvements The expansion of higher education and the increasingly international body of students and staff continue to inspire and drive the development of global higher education systems Whilst these systems began locally many are now engaging with the challenges of retaining their local flavour whilst embracing the march of globalisation The challenge is to find local solutions that also meet the requirements of the rapid development of what might be termed the massification of international higher education This book reflects these contemporary challenges through its variety of topics taken from countries as diverse as Hong Kong Panama South Africa USA and Saudi Arabia The topics are as diverse as some of the local solutions but each chapter represents a response to a rapidly changing global landscape APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service , The Design of Instruction and Evaluation Mitchell Rabinowitz, Fran C. Blumberg, Howard T. Everson, 2004-09-22 This book is about empirically tested knowledge and principles that inform the design of instructional and evaluation systems and the use and promise of media and technology within such systems Historically psychology has informed the design of instructional and evaluation systems in different ways A behavioral perspective emphasizes the role of the environment in determining behavior a factor external to the learner A cognitive perspective focuses on the role of cognitive processing and constraints in determining learning factors that are internal to the learner This volume presents the affordances approach which addresses how the environment and the affordances within it interact with cognitive processes to determine learning Insights into this interaction are presented It is the book s contention that the affordance approach represents an advancement over the behavioral and cognitive perspectives it is an evolution within the cognitive approach not an alternative to it The Design of Instruction and Evaluation Affordances of Using Media and Technology is intended for education practitioners responsible for the implementation of media and technology in classrooms for researchers and faculty and for use as a text in courses on media and technology use in educational settings instructional design and psychology of learning
