The Unspeakable Art Of Bill Viola A Visual Theology:

The Unspeakable Art of Bill Viola Ronald R. Bernier, 2014-05-19 The breach of art from religion is just one of the many unhappy legacies of modernism There was a time however when the aesthetic and the spiritual were of a piece This study of the work of American video artist Bill Viola considers the possible reemergence of a theological dimension to contemporary art a reenchantment of art as some have called it Using the high tech apparatus of modern video Viola s art is rooted precisely in this theological tradition of transcendent mystical experience and spiritual self concentration The technological apotheosis of modern image making high speed film high definition video LCD and plasma screens and sophisticated sound recording are put to use by Viola in ways that significantly challenge prevailing intellectual and artistic traditions and return us to the power of the Sublime that which by definition defeats language Viola s art as such converges with postmodern notions of the unrepresentable and with the ancient theological tradition of apophysis speaking away or unsaying The fullness of meaning then appears only as a promise of presence through embodied absence neither fully here and now nor entirely elsewhere and beyond This study seeks to define through the work of a courageous and thoughtful contemporary artist the theological sublime as an aesthetic of revelation

The Cloud of Nothingness C. D. Sebastian, 2016-11-14 This book explores nothingness the negative way found in Buddhist and Christian traditions with a focused and comparative approach It examines the works of Nagarjuna c 150 CE a Buddhist monk philosopher and one of the greatest thinkers of classical India and those of John of the Cross 1542 1591 a Carmelite monk outstanding Spanish poet and one of the greatest mystical theologians The conception of nothingness in both the thinkers points to a paradox of linguistic transcendence and provides a novel insight into via negativa This is the first full length work comparing nothingness emptiness in Nagarjuna Mahayana Buddhism and John of the Cross Christianity in any language It augments the comparative approach found in Buddhist Christian comparative philosophy and theology This book is of especial interest to academics of Buddhist and Christian studies searching for avenues for intellectual dialogue

The Shape of Motion Jordan Schonig, 2022 In The Shape of Motion Cinema and the Aesthetics of Movement author Jordan Schonig provides a new way of theorizing cinematic motion by examining cinema s motion forms structures patterns or shapes of movement unique to the moving image From the wild and unpredictable motion of flickering leaves and swirling dust that captivated early spectators to the pulsing abstractions that emerge from rapid lateral tracking shots to the bleeding pixel formations caused by the glitches of digital video compression each motion form opens up the aesthetics of movement to film theoretical inquiry By pairing close analyses of onscreen movement in narrative and experimental films with concepts from Maurice Merleau Ponty Henri Bergson and Immanuel Kant Schonig rethinks longstanding assumptions within film studies such as indexical accounts of photographic images and analogies between the camera and the human eye Arguing against the intuition that cinema reproduces our natural perception of motion The Shape of Motion shows how cinema s motion forms do not merely transpose

the movements of the world in front of the camera they transform them

Postdigital Theologies Maggi Savin-Baden, John Reader, 2022-09-01 This book is about the relationships between technologies and the content of religious belief and practice A number of models are now starting to emerge but each of these depends on the theological or philosophical framework within which the debate is set At the same time there are dilemmas operating at different ends of the spectrum For example at one end there is a tendency towards subsuming the digital within the divine and at the other an instrumental stance relating to how technology is deployed Either of these stances could be said to ignore rather than acknowledge that the human itself is being changed as a result of the interactions with the digital The book explores the following areas Where is God to be found or present in the postdigital condition What are the implications of the postdigital condition for spirituality and indeed for the activity of God through the Holy Spirit How do concepts of transhumanism or posthumanism effect understandings of the incarnation Does the doctrine of the Trinity need revisiting in the light of the digital as medium of relationship Does Creation now include the postdigital What of the Kingdom of God now that the kingdom of the Tech giants is so powerful all consuming

The Future of the Philosophy of Religion M. David Eckel, C. Allen Speight, Troy DuJardin, 2020-10-12 This collection of essays on the philosophy of religion and its future brings together accomplished thinkers across several related fields from comparative philosophy to analytic and continental philosophy of religion and beyond Contributing authors address pressing questions including Where does philosophy stand in relation to religion and the study of religion in the 21st century How ought the philosophy of religion to interact with religious studies and theology to make for fruitful interdisciplinary engagement And what does philosophy uniquely have to offer to the broad discourse on religion in the modern world Through exploring these questions and more the authors goal is not that of meeting the philosophical future but of forging it Readers will enter a vivid conversation through engaging essays which demonstrate the importance of disciplinary openness and show that we do not need to sacrifice depth in order to achieve breadth Modernity and postmodernity come together in a constantly evolving discussion that moves the philosophy of religion forward while keeping an eye toward the experience accumulated in past centuries This book will interest students of philosophy theology religious studies and other fields that wonder about the place of philosophy and religion in today s world It also has much to offer advanced scholars in these fields through its breadth and forward thinking

Culture as Capital Slavko

Kacunko, 2015-03-02 By following and reproducing the cultural turn the rhetoric of cultural mix and hybridism is disseminated today primarily in its crossing of trade barriers Cultures reduced to their exchange value function as capital an accumulative speculative and ultimately financial affair In some of its media and site un specific manifestations process art which aims to encompass both old and new media art seems to resist this pressure despite nonetheless not being protected from regulations and incorporations In the present collection of his recent essays Slavko Kacunko discusses the process art by crossing the disciplines of art history and comparative media visual and cultural studies As a first approximation several historiographical remarks on closed circuit video installations underline their importance as a core category of process art In the second part the problems of process art seen as a threshold of art history are further examined in another retroanalytical step in which concepts and objects related to mirror frame and immediacy are analyzed as the triple delimitation of visual culture studies In the third part previously outlined manifestations of what is termed the post visual condition are summarized and projected to the coreless core of the emerging art and research related to the coreless beings par excellence the bacteria

Play Among Books Miro Roman, Alice_ch3n81, 2021-12-06 How does coding change the way we think about architecture This question opens up an important research perspective In this book Miro Roman and his AI Alice_ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science

Visual

Theology Robin Margaret Jensen, Kimberly J. Vrudny, 2009 At least since the time of Paul see Acts 18 Christians have wrestled with the power and danger of religious imagery in the visual arts It was not until the middle of the twentieth century that there emerged in Western Christianity an integrated academic study of theology and the arts Here one of the pioneers of that movement H Wilson Yates along with fourteen theologians examine how visual culture reflects or addresses pressing contemporary religious questions The aim throughout is to engage the reader in theological reflection mediated and enhanced by the arts This beautifully illustrated book includes more than fifty images in full color Transforming Christian Thought in the Visual Arts Sheona Beaumont, Madeleine Emerald Thiele, 2021-07-06 This volume explores how the visual arts are presenting and responding to Christian theology and demonstrates how modern and contemporary artists and artworks have actively engaged in conversation with Christianity Modern intellectual enquiry has often been reluctant to engage theology as an enriching or useful form of visual analysis but critics are increasingly revisiting religious narratives and Christian thought in pursuit of understanding our present day visual culture In this book an international group of contributors demonstrate how theology is often implicit within artworks and how regardless of a viewer's personal faith it can become implicit in a viewer's visual encounter Their observations include deliberate juxtaposition of Christian symbols imaginative play with theologies the validation of non-confessional or secular public engagement and inversions of biblical interpretation Case studies such as an interactive Easter glow sticks as sacrament and visualisation of the Bible's polyphonic voices enrich this discussion Together they call for a greater interpretative generosity and more nuance around theology's cultural contexts in the modern era By engaging with theology culture and the visual art this collection offers a fresh lens through which to see the interaction of religion and art As such it will be of great use to those working in Religion and the Arts Visual Art Material Religion Theology Aesthetics and Cultural Studies Projects, Bill Viola Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 1979 Transformations in Persons and Paint Chloë R. Reddaway, 2015 How can pictures help people to relate to God and what can historical Christian images offer the viewer today A compelling theological encounter between Renaissance frescoes and the modern viewer Transformations in Persons and Paint looks at images from the viewer's position standing in a series of Florentine chapels surrounded by frescoes and discovering their powerful capacity to communicate what it means to live in a post-Resurrection world Proving that there is still plenty to say about works by Giotto Taddeo Gaddi Masolino Masaccio Fra Angelico and Ghirlandaio this book uncovers previously overlooked theological content and demonstrates the rewards of attentive interaction between a modern viewer and historical images Within the growing body of work on theology and the arts this is a rare example of what can happen when a theological gaze is turned towards some of the classics in the canon of Christian art while speaking directly to the modern viewer Chloe Reddaway offers a new model of theological viewing inhabiting both period and modern perspectives and reinvigorating our understanding of the incarnational nature of Christian art by taking account of the particular physicality of images especially as it is experienced through sacred space within and around them Through close and imaginative encounters with images a series of critical devotional interpretations transforms beautiful artefacts into living explorations of the Incarnation and its consequences the transformation and transfiguration that it enables the particularity and interconnectedness of the created world the generative capacity of liminal and apparently empty spaces and the nature of vocation and conformity to Christ Bill Viola Bill Viola,2017 The Video Installation Art of Bill Viola Kyra Seely,2000 Bill Viola Bill Viola,J. Hoberman,Donald Burton Kuspit,1987 Strangeness and Recognition Chloë R. Reddaway,2019 How do you paint a figure who is fully human and fully divine How do you paint Christ Strangeness and Recognition takes a fresh look at well known Renaissance paintings of Christ and shows how surprising and deeply strange they can be This book brings an imaginative and affective theological perspective to the viewing experience as it explores the twin roles played by strangeness and recognition in responding to the challenge of creating and relating to images of Christ By confounding expectations and defamiliarising subject matter the ambiguity and mystery of these paintings disturbs viewers expectations and reconnects them with the extraordinary mystery of the Incarnation While neither words nor images can fully describe God through a questioning challenging dialogue with paintings whose visual language disrupts itself viewers can be brought to the limits of their own understanding and can enter into transformative and personlike relationships with paintings These personal exchanges lead through estrangement to the rediscovery of the familiar within the strange and the renewed within the familiar and to the ultimately unspeakable unpaintable mystery of the Incarnation Drawing on a diverse range of theologians philosophers art historians and art theorists and building on her own earlier work Chloe Reddaway shows the theological potential of Christian images even when they are far removed from their original contexts A major contribution to the emerging field of visual theology this book will appeal to scholars of theology and art history alike as well as to the museum going public
