Ventilator-Associated Pneumonia Richard G. Wunderink, Richard D. Wunderink, Jordi Rello, 2001-10-31 Ventilator associated pneumonia VAP continues to be one of the greatest challenges to critical care practitioners and one of the greatest threats to the survival of our patients The choice of this topic for an issue of the PERSPECTIVES IN CRITICAL CARE INFECTIOUS DISEASES Series is therefore quite appropriate Despite its importance many areas of the management of ventilator associated pneumonia remain controversial We therefore are pleased to include contributions from experts and investigators offering different perspectives on some of these controversial areas Infectious Diseases in Critical Care Medicine Burke A. diagnostic eye findings are included as important diagnostic determinants in the CCU Written by infectious disease clinicians for CCU consultants Infectious Diseases and Antimicrobial Stewardship in Critical Care Medicine 4E remains a useful evidence based and experience tempered key clinical resource for infectious disease problems in the CCU Key Features Essentials of the tenets of clinical diagnostic reasoning is explained as it relates to formulating a rapid and accurate clinical syndromic diagnosis in the CCU The diagnostic significance of fever patterns and their relationship to the pulse rate in the proper clinical context is explained in depth as related to the CCU setting Formulating an accurate early clinical syndromic diagnosis is presented as essential since it is the basis of effective empiric antibiotic therapy in the CCU How to combine key non specific laboratory and imaging findings to increase diagnostic specificity and diagnostic probability in the CCU is presented Clinical perspective on the proper interpretation of the clinical significance of rapid diagnostic test results in the CCU is included A clinical approach to apparent antibiotic failure in the CCU is presented either due to actual antibiotic failure or seeming but unrelated non antibiotic failure Section focuses on the practical aspects of antimicrobial stewardship particularly as related to optimizing dosing effectiveness while minimizing resistance and adverse effects in the CCU
