Co-Honorable Mention for the 2021 Book Award by the Society for the Study of Early Modern Women and Gender (SSEMWG). In Heroines, Harpies, and Housewives Martha Moffitt Peacock provides a novel interpretive approach to the artistic practice of Imaging Women of Consequence in the Dutch Golden Age. From the beginnings of the new Republic, visual celebrations of famous heroines who crossed gender boundaries by fighting in the Revolt against Spain or by distinguishing themselves in arts and letters became an essential and significant cultural tradition that reverberated throughout the long seventeenth century. This collective memory of consequential heroines who equaled or outshone men is frequently reflected in empowering representations of other female archetypes: authoritative harpies and noble housewives. Such enabling imagery helped in the structuring of gender norms that positively advanced a powerful female identity in Dutch society. Changing Scenes in the Natural Sciences, 1776-1976 Clyde E. Goulden, 2008. This book is the result of a symposium held in Philadelphia in April 1976 on the bicentennial of American independence. It reviewed the contributions of evolution, systematics, quantitative genetics, ecology. The Influence of the New World on the Study of Natural History: Evolution, Population Genetics, Terrestrial Ecology, Aquatic Ecology, Behavior, Sociobiology. Illustrations. The Microscope in the Dutch Republic Edward G. Ruestow, 1996. Focusing on the two seventeenth-century pioneers of microscopic discovery, the Dutchmen Jan Swammerdam and Antoni van Leeuwenhoek, Ruestow demonstrates that their uneasiness with their social circumstances spurred their discoveries. Though arguing that aspects of Dutch culture impeded serious research with the microscope, Ruestow also shows, however, that the culture of the period shaped how Swammerdam and Leeuwenhoek responded to what they saw through the lens. He concludes by emphasising how their early microscopic efforts differed from the institutionalised microscopic research that began in the nineteenth century. The History of Natural History Gavin D. R. Bridson, 2008. With over 5,300 added references, this revised and updated edition is an essential source of information for scientists, researchers and enthusiastic amateurs. The History of Natural History is one of those key works that should be kept in easy reach of anyone interested in the study of natural history in all its branches.

Notes on the herpetofauna of Surinam IV M.S. Hoogmoed, 2012-12-06. Although biological exploration in Surinam started about 300 years ago, a thorough account of the Surinam herpetofauna has not hitherto been published. Several publications on the subject have been issued see below but none of them was comprehensive However there are several papers dealing with a part of the Surinam lizards The main reason for the absence of a complete review of the Surinam lizards and for that matter of the entire herpeto fauna has been the scarcity of the material available in museum collection although some of the more common species reached museums in considerable numbers Until about 1900 the interior of Surinam was virtually terra incognita and most collecting took place in a restricted cultivated area along the coast and the farthest inland point reached was Berg en Dal on the Suriname River From 1900 exploration of the interior was actively encouraged by the Dutch Government and under the auspices of the Koninklijk Nederlandsch Aard rijkskundig Genootschap several geographical expeditions explored the main river systems Although the main purpose of these expeditions was to map the visited areas usually the physician accompanying the expedition was entrusted also with the collecting of zoological and botanical specimens Interesting material from the interior started to reach the Dutch museums in ever increasing numbers after the late nineteen thirties when Dr D C GEIJSKES arrived in Surinam The Surinam Expedition 1948 49 in which Dr GEIJSKES and Mr P H Library Catalog of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.).
