Women And Transitional Justice The Experience Of Women As Participants:

Women and Transitional Justice Lisa Yarwood, 2012 This book discusses the evolving principle of transitional justice in public international law and international relations from the female perspective at a time when the concept is increasingly recognised by the international community as an effective framework in which to negotiate and manage a community's post conflict transition to peace and stability The book adopts a gender lens with a particular focus on women's direct experiences and perceptions either as intended beneficiaries of transitional justice TJ protagonists in that process or as practitioners in order to present a unique view in relation to the development of TJ The range of experiences and knowledge in this collection provides a fresh and unique perspective through its blend of theory and practice This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of law political science and gender studies

Women and Transitional Justice Lisa Yarwood, 2013 This book discusses the evolving principle of transitional justice in public international law and international relations from the female perspective The book contains contributions from a range of experts in the field of TJ The range of experiences and knowledge in this collection provide a fresh and unique perspective in the blend of theory and practice that these contributions collectively provide

Women's Access to Transitional Justice in Timor-Leste Noemí Pérez Vásquez, 2022-06-16 Seeing the role of transitional justice as an area of contestation this book focuses on the principle of equality guaranteed in the access to transitional justice mechanisms By raising women's experiences in dealing with the law and policies as well as the implications of community and family practices during post conflict situations the book shows how these mechanisms may have been implemented mechanically without considering the different intersections of discrimination the public and private divides that exist in the local context or the stereotypes and values of international and national actors The book argues that without unpacking the barriers in the administration of transitional justice the different mechanisms that are implemented in a post conflict situation may set a higher threshold for the participation of women Moreover by taking into account women's perceptions of justice it further argues that scholars have paid insufficient attention to the welfare structures that are produced after a conflict particularly the pensions of veterans Going beyond the focus on sexual violence a relationship between the violations and post conflict economic justice may have longer term consequences for women since it perpetuates their inequality and lack of recognition in times of peace The use of transitional justice may thus exacerbate the invisibility of and discrimination against certain sections of the population Inspired by the work of Hannah Arendt and based on extensive field research in Timor Leste the book has larger implications for the overarching debate on the social consequences of transitional justice

The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Global Security Studies, 2023-02-15 This encyclopedia provides an authoritative guide intended for students of all levels of studies offering multidisciplinary insight and analysis of over 500 headwords covering the main concepts of Security and Non traditional Security and their relation to other scholarly fields and aspects of real world issues in the contemporary geopolitical world

Feminist

Policymaking in Turbulent Times Hannah Partis-Jennings, Clara Eroukhmanoff, 2024-05-31 Feminist Policymaking in Turbulent Times offers a unique and timely reflection of the critical debates around the institutionalisation of feminist and gender focused ideas and norms into policy Many states and non governmental organisations are increasingly invested in feminist policymaking at the domestic and international levels Yet this liberal feminist agenda is also vastly disputed by critical intersectional and decolonial voices on the one hand and by anti gender movements around the world on the other hand Indeed while opposition to gender ideology is mounting from reactionary religious and secular forces feminist policymaking is also being challenged in important ways from within Thus this book situates feminist policymaking in a challenging and turbulent global context This book explores feminist policymaking in multiple areas of policy examining various gender focused programmes that states and international organisations have undertaken in the last decade offering critical interventions and rethinking the relationship between feminism and policy This book not only reflects on the advances of feminist policymaking globally but also critically assesses the intersectional challenges embedded within it and lying ahead It moves the field forward by creating opportunities based on lived experiences for re imagining the transformative potential of the nexus between feminism and policymaking Interdisciplinary in scope and bringing to the fore the voices of both academics and practitioners this book is the product of an international collaboration forging links and dialogue that are increasingly necessary to question some of the exclusionary militaristic and hierarchical assumptions of policymaking which is labelled as feminist Feminist Policymaking in Turbulent Times will be of interest to all scholars students and practitioners interested in the role of gender in policymaking and concerned with contestations around gender focused projects

Agency in Poverty and War Vivianna Rodriguez Carreon, 2024-11-07 This book examines how people's self awareness is affected by both internal and external factors amid war and poverty It explores how agency has influenced the inward human development of rural women who face triple disadvantages related to gender ethnicity and access to economic power It presents a multidisciplinary perspective on the intersection of war and poverty through narratives of surviving women It advances understandings of how rural people peasants and Indigenous Peoples of Peru particularly women have experienced poverty and war as a combination of oppression repression and aggression It explores their agency is affected and how it evolves during and after conflict in their search for truth and justice It does this by taking the capability approach combined with insights from perspectives on raising consciousness and inner transformation in human development in which awareness of rural people's experience enables them to be free and can move them from survival to conscious agents This book offers new narratives to evaluate the hazards of poverty and war and the potential human security for rural people agency and empowerment in building peace It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners of development studies peace and security political Latin America geography rural communities peace and conflict studies human development and political studies

Transitional Justice in Law, History and Anthropology Lia Kent, Melissa

Demian,2020-06-09 Transitional justice seeks to establish a break between the violent past and a peaceful democratic future and is based on compelling frameworks of resolution rupture and transition Bringing together contributions from the disciplines of law history and anthropology this comprehensive volume challenges these frameworks opening up critical conversations around the concepts of justice and injustice history and record and healing transition and resolution The authors explore how these concepts operate across time and space as well as disciplinary boundaries They examine how transitional justice mechanisms are utilised to resolve complex legacies of violence in ways that are often narrow partial and incomplete and reinforce existing relations of power They also destabilise the sharp distinction between before and after war or conflict that narratives of transition and resolution assume and reproduce As transitional justice continues to be celebrated and promoted around the globe this book provides a much needed reflection on its role and promises It not only critiques transitional justice frameworks but offers new ways of thinking about questions of violence conflict justice and injustice It was originally published as a special issue of the Australian Feminist Law Journal

Global Intersectionality and Contemporary Human Rights Johanna Bond,2021-07-22 Global Intersectionality and Contemporary Human Rights argues for an expansive definition of human rights one that encompasses the harm caused by multiple intersecting forms of subordination Intersectionality theory posits that aspects of identity such as race and gender are mutually constitutive and intersect to create unique experiences of discrimination and subordination Perpetrators of sexual violence in armed conflict of example often target women based on both gender and ethnicity Human rights remedies that fail to capture the intersectional nature of human rights violations do not offer comprehensive redress to victims This title explores the influence of intersectionality theory on human rights in the modern era and traces the evolution of intersectionality as a theoretical framework in the United States and around the world It draws upon feminist theory and human rights jurisprudence to argue that scholars and activists have under utilized intersectionality theory in the global discourse of human rights As the central intergovernmental organization charged with the protection of human rights the United Nations has been slow to embrace the insights gained from intersectionality theory This work argues that the United Nations and other human rights organizations must more actively embrace intersectionality as an analytical framework in order to fully address the complexity of human rights violations around the world

Women and Transitional Justice M.

Alam,2014-05-02 How can transitional justice institutions provide due diligence to the lived experiences of women during war and violent political upheaval How can transitional justice provide redress to women for harms suffered How can transitional justice help transform unequal gender relations post conflict These are some of the difficult but urgent questions addressed in this unique study Providing a compelling case for greater sensitivity towards the needs of women and increased efforts to promote women s participation in transitional justice initiatives Alam presents theoretical and conceptual analysis alongside revealing case studies from Kenya and Bangladesh The study offers descriptive normative and prescriptive value intended to improve the practice of transitional justice institutions and elevate the status of women in conflict affected societies This is a timely resource especially in light of the forthcoming 15th anniversary of UNSCR1325 and will appeal to a wide range of scholars and practitioners in Security Peace and Conflict Studies International Law and Gender Studies

Gender and Citizenship in Transitional Justice Sanne Weber, 2024-12-10 Through two Colombian case studies Sanne Weber identifies the ways in which conflict experiences are defined by structures of gender inequality and how these could be transformed in the post conflict context The author reveals that current apparently gender sensitive transitional justice TJ and disarmament demobilization and reintegration DDR laws and policies ultimately undermine rather than transform gender equality and consequently weaken the chances of achieving holistic and durable peace To overcome this Weber offers an innovative approach to TJ and DDR that places gendered citizenship as both the starting point and the continued driving force of post conflict reconstruction
