Women And Islamic Revival In A West African Town:

Women and Islamic Revival in a West African Town Adeline Masquelier, 2009-10-02 In the small town of Dogondoutchi Niger Malam Awal a charismatic Sufi preacher was recruited by local Muslim leaders to denounce the practices of reformist Muslims Malam Awal's message has been viewed as a mixed blessing by Muslim women who have seen new definitions of Islam and Muslim practice impact their place and role in society This study follows the career of Malam Awal and documents the engagement of women in the religious debates that are refashioning their everyday lives Adeline Masquelier reveals how these women have had to define Islam on their own terms especially as a practice that governs education participation in prayer domestic activities wedding customs and who wears the veil and how Masquelier's richly detailed narrative presents new understandings of what it means to be a Muslim woman in Africa today Gendered Lives in the Western Indian Ocean Erin E. Stiles, Katrina Daly Thompson, 2015-10-21 Muslim communities throughout the Indian Ocean have long questioned what it means to be a good Muslim Much recent scholarship on Islam in the Indian Ocean considers debates among Muslims about authenticity authority and propriety Despite the centrality of this topic within studies of Indian Ocean African and other Muslim communities little of the existing scholarship has addressed such debates in relation to women gender or sexuality Yet women are deeply involved with ideas about what it means to be a good Muslim In Gendered Lives in the Western Indian Ocean anthropologists historians linguists and gender studies scholars examine Islam sexuality gender and marriage on the Swahili coast and elsewhere in the Indian Ocean The book examines diverse sites of empowerment contradiction and resistance affecting cultural norms Islam and ideas of Islamic authenticity gender expectations ideologies of modernity and British education The book's attention to both masculinity and femininity broad examination of the transnational space of the Swahili coast and inclusion of research on non Swahili groups on the East African coast makes it a unique and indispensable resource Contributors Nadine Beckmann Pat Caplan Corrie Decker Rebecca Gearhart Linda Giles Meghan Halley Susan Hirsch Susi Keefe Kjersti Larsen Elisabeth McMahon Erin Stiles and Katrina Daly Thompson The Calls of Islam Emilio Spadola, 2013-12-25 A theoretically sophisticated reading of the mediation of social and spiritual relationships in Fez Gregory Starrett University of North Carolina at Charlotte The sacred calls that summon believers are the focus of this study of religion and power in Fez Morocco Focusing on how dissemination of the call through mass media has transformed understandings of piety and authority Emilio Spadola details the new importance of once marginal Sufi practices such as spirit trance and exorcism for ordinary believers the state and Islamist movements The Calls of Islam offers new ethnographic perspectives on ritual performance and media in the Muslim world A superb demonstration of anthropological analysis at its best A major contribution to our understanding of the complicated nexus of religion nationalism and technology Charles Hirschkind author of The Feeling of History An instructive contribution to the literature on Morocco's socio cultural and political idiosyncrasies Review of Middle East Studies Spadola's dense but short study manages admirably well to deal with a complex topic skillfully balancing ethnographic and analytic elements American Ethnologist The tension between social classes is subtly drawn out throughout this exemplary book and Spadola also does a magnificent job tying local national and transnational contexts together Although writing about a very specific place and time he manages to capture post millennial anxieties about Islam and belonging that are far reaching in their scope Contemporary Islam Spadola's book is theoretically sophisticated skillfully constructed and rich in detail Journal of Religion

Veiling in Africa Elisha P. Renne, 2013-06-04 This volume examines the complex histories politics and experiences of wearing Islamic dress in sub Saharan Africa Heather Marie Akou Indiana University Bloomington The tradition of the veil which refers to various cloth coverings of the head face and body has been little studied in Africa where Islam has been present for more than a thousand years These lively essays raise questions about what is distinctive about veiling in Africa what religious histories or practices are reflected in particular uses of the veil and how styles of veils have changed in response to contemporary events Together they explore the diversity of meanings and experiences with the veil revealing it as both an object of Muslim piety and an expression of glamorous fashion This is an exciting and strong collection of original research on women s and men s veiling practices in a range of African Muslim settings and the social and religious discourses that accompany changes in dress over time Taken as a whole it offers a fascinating overview of African Muslim interpretations of theological debates about the veil and gender relations in Muslim societies while illustrating some of the particular accommodations adopted by African women International Journal of African Historical Studies Explores the many meanings and uses of veiling which is so often treated as a monolithic phenomenon emblematic of Islam in different African and African diaspora contexts Emma Tarlo Goldsmiths University of London
