Ad Heliodorum Epitaphium Nepotiani J. H. D. Scourfield, 1993 Jerome AD c 347 420 is best remembered as the author of the Vulgate translation of the Bible But he was also an untiring letter writer Among the many letters which have survived are several written to friends who have suffered recent bereavement In the most impressive of these Letter 60 Jerome consoles Heliodorus Bishop of Altinum in north east Italy on the early death of his young nephew Nepotianus The letter is composed from a thoroughly Christian perspective but it belongs to a tradition of consolatory literature that reaches far back into the pagan world In this commentary Professor Scourfield places the letter in the context of this consolatory tradition showing how in the late fourth century a highly literate Christian author could take over pagan ideas and put them to Christian use The commentary also includes a full discussion of matters of language and style theology and exegesis as well as the historical background There is a freshly revised text as well as a completely new translation of the Letter

Catholic Philosophers in the United States Today Arthur Madigan, 2002

The Deconstruction of Dualism in Theology Gillian McCulloch, 2002

Between Horror and Hope is a study of Paul s metaphorical language of death in Romans 6 1 11 The scholarly debate focuses on two main issues the origin of the commentatio mortis tradition and its development Dr Sabou argues that the origin of this terminology is original to Paul that it was the apostle s own insight into the meaning of Christ s death a death to sin and his understanding of the identity of Christ in his death as the anointed davidic king which guided him to create this metaphor of dying to sin as a way of describing the relationship of the believer with sin On the development of this language of death the author argues that this language conveys two aspects horror and hope The first is discussed in the context of crucifixion in which Paul explains the believer s death to sin by presenting Christ s death as the death of the anointed davidic king who won the victory over sin and death by rising from the dead Paul affirms that believers are coalesced with what was proclaimed about Christ s death and resurrection thereby allowing him to assert that the releasing of the body from the power of sin is a result of crucifixion This crucifixion is the condemnation inflicted on our past lives in the age inaugurated by Adam s sin and this is such a horrible event that believers have to stay away from sin since sin leads to such punishment In contrast hope is presented in the context of burial The believers burial with Christ points to the fact that they are part of Christ's family and this is accomplished by the overwhelming action of God by which he pushes us toward the event of Christ's death an act pictured in baptism. It is this burial with Christ that allows believers to share with Christ in newness of life.
