When Loss Gets Personal Michelle M. Falter, Steven T. Bickmore, 2018-11-23 When Loss Gets Personal considers how secondary English language arts teachers and teacher educators can sensitively and thoughtfully teach pieces of literature in their classrooms in which death is a significant, if not central, aspect of the texts. Death is something that affects all people young and old, yet it is rarely discussed openly in classrooms despite its prevalence in texts read in ELA classrooms. Whether it is canonical or contemporary literature, middle grades or young adult literature, fiction, nonfiction, or graphic novels, literature provides a vehicle to have difficult but needed conversations about personal deaths such as cancer, accidents, suicide, etc. Each chapter in this book focuses on 1-2 texts and provides practical activities that ask students to engage with the loss through writing assignments, projects, activities, and discussion prompts in order to build empathy, understanding, and develop critically minded and engaged students. When Loss Gets Personal will be of interest to English language arts teachers, teacher educators, librarians, and scholars who wish to explore with their students the complex emotions that revolve around discussing deaths that occur in literature.

Starlings Jo Walton, 2018-01-23 Starlings isn't really a short story collection It's something better a written showreel illustrating yet again that Walton's imagination stretches to the stars or the starlings and that she's endlessly inventive in finding new methods to express it NPR Books An ancient coin cyber spies on lovers and thieves The magic mirror sees all but can do nothing A cloned savior solves a fanatically inspired murder Three Irish siblings thief treasures with bad poetry and the aid of the Queen of Cats With these captivating initial glimpses into her storytelling psyche Jo Walton shines through subtle myths and reinvented realities Through eclectic stories subtle vignettes inspired poetry and more Walton soars with humans machines and magic rising from the every day into the universe itself

The Things I've Seen Lara Marlowe, 2013-04-15 Lara Marlowe the Washington correspondent of The Irish Times has witnessed more than her share of history in three decades as a foreign correspondent She has reported with clarity and fearlessness on the main conflicts of our era from the civil war in Lebanon to the break up of Yugoslavia the US invasions of Afghanistan and Iraq and the ongoing Israeli Palestinian conflict She has been outspoken in her criticism of the often cruel and misguided actions of the world's leading powers and invariably seeks out the views of civilians caught up in wars that are not of their making. The human cost of conflict and the absurdity of war come through her work time and again. In this stunning and moving collection, Lara Marlowe has chosen her finest pieces of writing from her years as a foreign correspondent in some of the world's most troubled countries, notably Lebanon, the Palestinian territories, Iraq, and Haiti, as well as the power centers of Paris and Washington. She brings her keen insight to bear on some intractable problems and shares with the reader the terror of living in a war zone. There are lighter moments too: a wonderful housewarming party in Beirut during a lull in artillery bombardments; meetings with talented celebrities including Carla Bruni, Isabelle Adjani, and Marcel Marceau; the simple delight of the companionship of cats. This is a superb collection from a writer at the height of her powers.

Captives of the Flame Samuel R. Delany, 2023-09-18 In Captives of the Flame, Samuel R. Delany delves into the complexities of human relationships and identity set against a richly imagined backdrop of an interstellar society. The narrative unfolds in Delany's signature prose style, which seamlessly blends lyrical elegance with speculative inquiry, challenging conventional themes of love, power, and societal constructs. This novel not only reflects the author's groundbreaking approach to science fiction but also engages with philosophical undertones, inviting readers to contemplate the nature of freedom and captivity, both literal and metaphorical. Samuel R. Delany, a towering figure in speculative fiction, has often drawn from his own experiences as a Black LGBTQ man to explore themes of marginalization and cultural intersection. His extensive body of work, ranging from novels to literary criticism, showcases his unique voice and intellect, establishing him as a notable critic of societal norms. Delany's keen awareness of the intricate dynamics within relationships and his innovative world-building techniques shine brightly in this novel, showcasing his literary evolution and depth. Captives of the Flame is not merely a tale of adventure but a profound inquiry into the human condition. I highly recommend this book to readers interested in exploring multifaceted narratives that challenge perceptions of identity and belonging while delving into the philosophical depths of freedom and societal constraints. Reason and Other Variations on Kantian Themes Amihud Gilead,2021-11-23 This book combining integratively revised previously published papers with entirely new chapters challenges and treats some major problems in Kant s philosophy not by means of new interpretations but by suggesting some variations on Kantian themes Such variations are in fact reconstructions made according to Kantian ideas and principles and yet cannot be extracted as such directly from his writings The book also analyses Kant s philosophy from a new metaphysical angle based on the original metaphysics of the author called panenmentalism It reconstructs some missing links in Kant s philosophy such as the idea of teleological time which is vital for Kant s moral theory Although these variations cannot be found literally in Kant s works they can be legitimately explicated developed and implied from them Such is the case because these variations are strictly compatible with the details of the texts and the texts as wholes and because they are systematically integrated Their coherence supports their validation The target audiences are graduate and PhD students as well as specialist researchers of Kant s philosophy
