Understanding Service-Learning and Community Engagement Julie A. Hatcher, Robert G. Bringle, 2012-01-01 There is an increasing proliferation of service learning courses in colleges and universities in the U S and internationally and research in the field has seen significant growth in diverse geographic areas in the past decade Membership organizations now exist to convene scholars and practitioners across the globe Chapters in this volume are based on presentations given at the 2010 annual conference of the International Association for Research on Service Learning and Community Engagement held in Indianapolis IN The conference theme International Perspectives Crossing Boundaries through Research was chosen to highlight ways in which research crosses all kinds of boundaries disciplinary boundaries cultural boundaries and national boundaries Although service learning is valued as an active learning strategy across the globe little is known about the ways that service learning is similar or different in varied contexts Understanding service learning and community engagement from cross cultural and crossdisciplinary perspectives will improve both research and practice Together these chapters represent the diversity complexity and creativity evident by scholars and practitioners in this field of study Research Anthology on Service Learning and Community Engagement Teaching Practices Management Association, Information Resources, 2021-12-30 The need for more empathetic and community focused students must begin with educators as service learning has begun to grow in popularity throughout the years By implementing service and community aspects into the classroom at an early age educators have a greater chance of influencing students and creating a new generation of service minded individuals who care about their communities Teachers must have the necessary skills and current information available to them to provide students with quality service learning and community engagement curricula The Research Anthology on Service Learning and Community Engagement Teaching Practices provides a thorough investigation of the current trends best practices and challenges of teaching practices for service learning and community engagement Using innovative research it outlines the struggles frameworks and recommendations necessary for educators to engage students and provide them with a comprehensive education in service learning Covering topics such as lesson planning teacher education and cultural humility it is a crucial reference for educators administrators universities lesson planners researchers academicians and students Practical Wisdom for Conducting Research on Service Learning Julie A. Hatcher, Robert G. Bringle, Thomas W. Hahn, 2023-07-03 For scholars seeking to undertake consequential research in service learning and community engagement SLCE at a time when there is widening interest in and increasing acceptance of research in this field as a primary area of scholarship this book provides accounts by preeminent scholars about the trajectories of their research their methodologies lessons learned along the way as well as their views about the future direction of the field The contributors to this volume represent a range of disciplines and fields including education history organizational leadership political science philanthropic studies psychology and public health as well as both qualitative and quantitative traditions and offer models of scholarly learning that contribute to a knowledge base that can guide practice and further the broader public purposes of the academy They articulate how they view their research on SLCE as having broader purposes that matter to them personally as well as professionally and illustrate how the why and to what end of their research can evolve as a program of research develops and matures across time They identify key choices they made in terms of inquiry and methodology describe both successes and challenges in establishing and navigating a SLCE research agenda across their careers and share lessons learned from their research journey to advance the field both domestically and abroad Emerging from these narratives is a theme of practical wisdom that arises through the learning of researchers students and communities as they engage with complex social contexts

Creating Our Identities in Service-Learning and Community Engagement Shelley H. Billig, Barbara A. Holland, Barbara E. Moely, 2009-11-01 In this volume in the IAP series on Advances in Service Learning Research top researchers present recent work studying aspects of program development student and community outcomes and future research directions in the field of service learning and community engagement These chapters selected through a rigorous peer review process are based on presentations made at the annual meeting of the International Research Conference on Service Learning and Community Engagement held in October 2008 in New Orleans This volume features efforts in research and practice to support and expand service learning and engaged scholarship in both K 12 and higher education Models of effective partnerships between institutions of higher education and their community partners are developed in chapters looking at relationships between campus and community in terms of partnership identity or in terms of shared understanding by campus and community partners Outcomes for K 12 and college students engaged in service learning are the focus of several studies The impact of high quality service learning on K 12 student achievement and school related behaviors is described Racial identity theory provides a useful frame for understanding developing student conceptualizations while another chapter emphasizes aspects of self exploration and relationship building as bases for gains in student attitudes and skills In a final section chapters deal with service learning and community engagement as a coherent research field with a distinct identity reviewing current work and proposing directions for future research

Assessing Service-Learning and Civic Engagement Sherril B. Gelmon, Barbara A. Holland, Amy Spring, 2018-09-06 This book offers a broad overview of many issues related to assessment in higher education with specific application for understanding the impact of service learning and civic engagement initiatives This revised edition includes an additional chapter that explores recent changes in the assessment landscape and offers examples and resources for designing assessment strategies for community engagement in higher education The original text includes narrative addressing assessment issues and strategies a detailed discussion of learning from multiple research projects performed over the past two decades about impact on multiple constituencies students faculty communities and institutions and a discussion of strategies for data collection analysis synthesis and reporting Specific assessment instruments for use with each constituency are provided including suggestions for administration preparation and data analysis This volume will be helpful for individuals seeking a comprehensive resource on assessment issues in higher education Reconceptualizing Faculty Development in Service-Learning/Community Engagement Becca Berkey, Emily Eddins Rountree, Patrick M. Green, Cara Meixner, 2023-07-03

The role of educational developer in the realm of service learning and community engagement S LCE is multidimensional Given the potentially transformational nature for both faculty and students of the experiences and courses in whose design they may be directly or indirectly involved as well as their responsibility to the communities served by these initiatives they have to be particularly attentive to issues of identity values and roles As both practitioners and facilitators they are often positioned as third space professionals This edited volume provides educational developers and community engagement professionals an analysis of approaches to faculty development around service learning and community engagement Using an openly self reflective approach the contributors to this volume offer an array of examples and models as well as realistic strategies to empower readers to evolve their faculty development efforts in service learning and community engagement on their respective campuses It is also a call for recognition that the practice of S LCE needs to be institutionalized and improved The book further addresses the field s potential contributions to scholarship such as the scholarship of teaching and learning SoTL publicly engaged scholarship and collaborative inquiry among others The case studies provide an outline of program models and promising practices including an authentic analysis of the institutional context within which they operate the positionality of the practitioner scholars overseeing them the resources required and the evidence related to both successes and challenges of these approaches The contributed chapters are organized under four themes the landscape of faculty development and community engagement models of faculty development in S LCE challenges and opportunities in pedagogy and partnerships and engendering change in educational development Service-Learning and Writing: Paving the Way for Literacy(ies) through Community Engagement Isabel Baca, 2012-11-20 Service learning and Writing Paving the Way for Literacy ies through Community Engagement discusses service learning as a teaching and learning method and its integration with writing The various authors from different disciplines and institutions present service learning as a means of having students practice writing in real world settings and they show how relationship building and partnerships between higher education and diverse communities produce benefits for all involved the students faculty administrators and the communities themselves This volume demonstrates how writing instruction and or writing practice can complement community engagement and outreach at local national and international contexts Through different cross cultural contexts and academic disciplines the various authors explore reflection assessment internalization diversity and multiple literacies and their importance when integrating service learning in higher education and community literacy Community Engagement Program Implementation and Teacher Preparation for 21st Century Education Crosby,

Cathryn, Brockmeier, Frederick, 2016-08-26 Education in the 21st century has been tasked with preparing students to begin the journey towards a place in their communities in which they feel fulfilled and autonomous Service learning is one way to introduce students to careers and knowledge that will prepare them for a successful life Community Engagement Program Implementation and Teacher Preparation for 21st Century Education examines the many ways in which community engagement is carried out in all educational settings from K 12 to higher education This publication is unique in its mission to examine these topics from a holistic perspective From online education to volunteer organizations this book gives educators administrators community volunteers and students a window into the successful deployment of such programs to prepare students for a global society University Community Engagement and Lifelong Learning Julia Preece, 2017-07-13 This book offers a conceptual re think of how university community engagement functions as a lifelong learning resource for communities While having a specific focus on the South African context it has important implications for other universities which are concerned with their communities and makes a compelling argument for the university as a public good in spite of current trends towards marketization and commodification of higher education The book draws on a theoretical framework of capabilities asset based community development and the adult learning concept of dialogue to propose a model whereby the boundary walls of the university become metaphorically porous so that community members feel free to interact with the university as equal members of society A historical outline of African universities is provided as well as an exploration of the evolution of terms for community engagement service learning and learning cities and an examination of the policy and practice implications for the ideological model of a porous university Handbook of Research on Effective Communication in Culturally Diverse Classrooms González, Katia, Frumkin, Rhoda, 2016-02-17 Meaningful interaction between teachers and students is crucial to any educational environment and particularly so in intercultural settings When educators take steps to incorporate culturally responsive teaching into their classrooms student learning is enriched and improved The Handbook of Research on Effective Communication in Culturally Diverse Classrooms focuses on the significance of cultural sensitivity toward diverse students and the importance of communication to increase the overall educational experience Highlighting key concepts relating to curriculum design teaching models and critical pedagogies in transcultural classrooms this book is a pivotal reference source for teachers teacher educators and researchers interested in the impact of intercultural communication in learning environments
