Virginia Plantation Homes:

Virginia Plantation Homes David King Gleason, 1989-09-01 David King Gleason provides a grand tour of Virginia's distinctive plantation homes. As the architectural historian Calder Loth states in his prefatory note, Gleason's elegant photographs provide a seductive image of life in Old Virginia. He presents one inviting house after another, complete with handsome interiors and spacious grounds dotted with boxwoods and venerable trees. Unlike those in the Deep South, most of Virginia's plantation homes were built before the antebellum period and mainly reflect colonial English, Georgian, and Jeffersonian styles of architecture. Gleason has photographed the homes in all seasons, framing some in the pink blossoms of springtime dogwoods, showing others surrounded by the golden hues of autumn, and presenting still others blanketed in January snows. Many of the photographs provide aerial perspectives that encompass not only the homes themselves but outbuildings and dependencies, great lawns, and terraced gardens. The book begins with homes in the Tidewater region, where Bacon's Castle, built in 1665 on the south bank of the James River, still stands. It is the oldest surviving house, not only in Virginia but in all of English-settled North America. Other houses from the Tidewater region include Westover, considered one of the most beautiful Georgian residences in the United States; Brandon, at one time the home of Benjamin Harrison; Appomattox Manor, where Ulysses S. Grant headquartered for a period during the Civil War; and Carter's Grove, near Williamsburg. In northern Virginia and the Shenandoah valley are Gunston Hall near Alexandria, Woodlawn in Fairfax County, Washington's Mount Vernon, and Melrose, a castellated manor inspired by the romantic literature of Sir Walter Scott. In the Piedmont, Gleason photographed such houses as Ash Lawn, the home of James Monroe; Edgemont, an exquisitely proportioned house showing Thomas Jefferson's influence; and Estouteville, whose great center hall opens onto identical Tuscan porticos framing magnificent views of the Virginia countryside. Gleason's photographs of a mist-shrouded Monticello are among the most beautiful in the book. In all, Gleason has photographed more than eighty of Virginia's finest plantation homes. Extensive captions provide concise histories of each house, including its original builder and subsequent owners and its occupants, either friendly or hostile during the Revolutionary or Civil wars.

Historic Houses of Virginia Kathryn Masson, 2006 The treasures of American heritage showcased in this volume include such masterpieces as Colonial Williamsburg's Governor's Palace, George Washington's Mt. Vernon, Thomas Jefferson's Monticello, Robert E. Lee's Arlington House, and Stratford Hall. Plantation all presented in new photography commissioned for this book.

Architecture Plantation Homes of the James River Bruce Roberts, 1990 Bruce Roberts takes us on a photographic tour of fourteen of the famous colonial Virginia plantation houses nestled along the shores of the Lower James River from Richmond east to Jamestown and Williamsburg. Now carefully restored, often with the original furnishings, these houses are glorious monuments to a bygone era. If you have never visited the James River plantations, this book will inspire you to plan a trip there. If you have, you will find this book a wonderful memento of a special place. Robert's 141 color photographs capture the magnificent exteriors of the houses as well as their gardens and grounds and offer rare and intimate glimpses of their interiors and furnishings The plantations portrayed include Shirley Plantation one of the oldest in America Belle Air Plantation with its unique seventeenth century frame house containing America s finest Jacobean staircase and Westover Plantation site of the elegant Georgian home built by William Byrd II The text provides histories of the plantations presenting them as places where real people lived and worked and still do in many cases While the plantations share some common history each reflects the individual characteristics of the men women and children who lived there In the dining room at Berkeley Hundred George Washington Thomas Jefferson and eight other presidents enjoyed meals and discussed affairs of state At Carter s Grove Roberts photographed the Refusal Room where according to local history both Washington and Jefferson were refused in marriage by Virginia belles Today many of the plantation homes have been designated state and national historic sites and with this book you can visit them and relive four hundred years of history Historic Virginia Homes and Churches Robert Alexander Lancaster,1915 Plantations of Virginia Charlene C. Giannetti,Jai Williams,2017-02-01 Southern plantations are an endless source of fascination That s no surprise since these palatial homes are rich in history representing a pivotal time in U S history that truly is gone with the wind With the Civil War literally exploding all around many of these homes were occupied either by Confederate or Union troops Nowhere else in the south were plantations so affected by the nation s bloodiest war than in Virginia At times families fled leaving behind slaves to manage the property There are still more than 60 plantations in Virginia today most of them open to the public Some have been restored others undergoing that process If only the walls could talk the stories we might hear That s what we hope to bring into this book on The Plantations of Virginia We ll take the tours and talk to the guides and dig even further if there is more to discover We hope that travelers will be enlightened before they travel to Virginia their visits will thus be enriched and that residents will equally love exploring this deep history of Virginia Accompanying the text will be photographs taken by one of the authors showing in all their splendor the exteriors of these plantations as well as areas of interest inside the buildings Virginia Country Betsy Wells Edwards,1998 Describes 27 homes in Virginia from Toddsbury built around 1690 to Woodside Farm built in 1850 with color photographs and histories of the families who live in them Virginia's Historic Homes and Gardens ,2009 Home to Jamestown the first permanent English settlement in the New World Virginia is in many ways the birthplace of America and the home of U S history It is also literally the birthplace of eight presidents and numerous Revolutionary and Civil War heroes Virginia was among the wealthiest southern states in the antebellum period resulting in a long tradition of stately homes on luxuriant plantations In addition to their elegant architecture and classic southern styling these homes feature some of the most extravagant and noteworthy gardens on the eastern seaboard From the James River Plantations to the Shenandoah foothills Virginia s Historic Homes and Gardens celebrates the legendary houses and landscapes of Old Dominion Virginia natives the authors travel throughout the state to highlight the best of the famous and lesser known homes Including such national landmarks as George Washington's Mount Vernon and Thomas Jefferson's Monticello the book brilliantly illustrates the homes exteriors and interiors as well as their gardens and landscaping Historical details accompany the exquisite color photographs along with useful information on each site's location A Virginia Family and Its Plantation Houses Elizabeth Coles Langhorne, K. Excerpt from Historic Homes of the South West Mountains Virginia The celebrated section of the South West Mountains Virginia stands as pre eminently among her sister sections as does the Old Dominion in the galaxy of stars in the Union as the birthplace of Presidents governors and statesmen as well as the seat of a refined and hospitable people The list of those who have lived here is a long and honored one Many names are of such national celebrity that it is felt that any account of those who bore them and of the homes which so reflected their personality will be of more than local interest My object has been to do for these historic homes what Bishop Meade has already done for the churches of Virginia to perpetuate the characteristics of these famous houses along the South West Mountains many of which are fast disappearing under the advance of modern architecture giving a faithful picture of each as they once stood as well as an anecdotal account and brief genealogy of their inhabitants thus embalming the traditions of these noble Virginia families About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
