Zanzibar Michael F. Lofchie, 1965-11-21 The Description for this book Zanzibar Background to Revolution will be forthcoming

Taarab Music in Zanzibar in the Twentieth Century Janet Topp Fargion, 2016-04-01 The musical genre of taarab is played for entertainment at weddings and other festive occasions all along the Swahili Coast in East Africa. Taarab contains all the features of a typical Indian Ocean music combining influences from Egypt, the Arabian Peninsula, India, and the West with local musical practices. In Taarab Music in Zanzibar, Janet Topp Fargion traces the development of the genre in Zanzibar from the late nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth. Of special interest is the role of women. Although men play the main role in the composition and performance of the genre, Topp Fargion argues that the modernization of the genre owes a debt to the participation of women as audiences and primary consumers but also as poets and innovators of musical concepts. The book weaves together the historical, social, economic, religious, and political dynamics involved in the development of the genre and investigates how these are played out in the performance of taarab music on Zanzibar.

Listen Africans! a Revolution Is Coming Emma Samuel Etuk, 2011-01-20 Etuk has been indefatigable in his profound determination for African revolution as admonished not only in this piece but also in his other works. Adams O Adah, Founder of Impart Africa, author of Service As Africa, begins her journey into the twenty-first century: the citizens ask, how can we survive? In Listen Africans! A Revolution Is Coming, author Emma Samuel Etuk addresses the question of revolutionary fundamental change to the basic fabric of society and its historical manifestations. Through thorough research, Etuk presents strong arguments about the need for change in the social, political, economic, and religious life of Africans. He contends that an array of issues has brought the continent to this point, including broken promises by administrators and governments, poverty, and widespread hunger, angry youth, and unemployment, official corruption, insensitivity, and kleptocracy, tyranny, despotism, and dictatorships, state-sponsored terrorism, infrastructural decay, and environmental pollution. As Etuk uses these examples and makes a call for a revolution, he provides a backdrop by discussing the following: Origin of revolutions, Necessity for an African revolution, Theological basis for a revolution, Five kinds of revolutions, Lessons learned from the six major revolutions of the past, Preparation for a revolution. Etuk maintains that change is necessary in life and that it is up to the Africans to decide what kind of revolution they should adopt in order to affect change on their continent.

Verandahs of Power Garth Andrew Myers, 2003-02-01 Garth Andrew Myers' work makes a significant contribution to a long tradition of research on colonial cities and a multidisciplinary body of literature on urban legacies of colonialism. He examines both colonial rule and postcolonial inheritance in these cities, tracing the legacies of colonialism in different and divergent postcolonial settings: a revolutionary left-wing socialist state, Zanzibar, and a reactionary right-wing dictatorship, Malawi. In addition to the examination of urban plans and the African urban majority's responses to them, the book traces the experience of the urban planning process through three different verandahs of power or levels of class depiction the colonial power the colonized middle and the urban majority Interspersed with personal stories this book illuminates our understanding of the workings of power in African cities by addressing human experiences of that power Cracks in the Dome: Fractured Histories of Empire in the Zanzibar Museum, 1897-1964 Dr Sarah Longair, 2015-08-28 As one of the most monumental and recognisable landmarks from Zanzibar's years as a British Protectorate the distinctive domed building of the Zanzibar Museum also known as the Beit al Amani or Peace Memorial Museum is widely known and familiar to Zanzibaris and visitors alike Yet the complicated and compelling history behind its construction and collection has been overlooked by historians until now Drawing on a rich and wide range of hitherto unexplored archival photographic architectural and material evidence this book is the first serious investigation of this remarkable institution Although the museum was not opened until 1925 this book traces the longer history of colonial display which culminated in the establishment of the Zanzibar Museum It reveals the complexity of colonial knowledge production in the changing political context of the twentieth century British Empire and explores the broad spectrum of people from diverse communities who shaped its existence as staff informants collectors and teachers Through vivid narratives involving people objects and exhibits this book exposes the fractures contradictions and tensions in creating and maintaining a colonial museum and casts light on the conflicted character of the colonial mission in eastern Africa
