of The Zealot's and the simplicity of John's character."
-Missouri Journal of Books*

A person with a backpack, seen from behind, stands on a hill overlooking a sprawling city at sunset. The person is wearing a red hooded jacket and blue jeans. The city below is densely packed with buildings, and the sky is filled with soft, colorful clouds. The title 'THE ZEALOTS' is overlaid in large, metallic, 3D letters across the middle of the image.

EBOOK: Deconstructing Special Education Gary Thomas, Andrew Loxley, 2007-08-16 This revised edition of a popular text offers students an updated and comprehensive overview across special education. It critically examines the intellectual foundations of special education and considers the consequences of their influence for professional and popular thinking about learning difficulties. The chapters place inclusion within a social and political context to highlight how concepts have been influenced by theory and ideology across the years. The book offers guidance to students on specific issues such as reading and behavioural difficulties with theoretically grounded information. With a fresh chapter discussing current research, intersectionality and increased marketisation within education, this book reflects the new landscape and legislation of special education. Essential reading for anyone studying or working in either special or inclusive education. Few could build the case as well as Thomas and Loxley. Melanie Nind, Professor of Education, University of Southampton, UK. Few books in the field of education merit the soubriquet 'must read'. This is one such. Philip Garner, Professor, Brunel University, UK. An absolute must read for all of us committed to realising genuine inclusion within schools and society. Jan Valle, The City College of New York, USA. Finishing your first reading of their book makes you realise that you must return to it: such is the richness of the analysis and reach of its detail. This is a tour de force, a line in the sand for all successive work in the field of inclusive education. Roger Slee, Diamond Jubilee Professor of Disability Studies, University of Leeds, UK.
