Vision Race And Modernity A Visual Economy Of The Andean World:

Vision, Race, and Modernity Deborah Poole, 2021-08-10 Through an intensive examination of photographs and engravings from European Peruvian and U S archives Deborah Poole explores the role visual images and technologies have played in shaping modern understandings of race Vision Race and Modernity traces the subtle shifts that occurred in European and South American depictions of Andean Indians from the late eighteenth to the early twentieth centuries and explains how these shifts led to the modern concept of racial difference While Andean peoples were always thought of as different by their European describers it was not until the early nineteenth century that European artists and scientists became interested in developing a unique visual and typological language for describing their physical features Poole suggests that this scientific or biological discourse of race cannot be understood outside a modern visual economy Although the book specifically documents the depictions of Andean peoples Poole s findings apply to the entire colonized world of the nineteenth century Poole presents a wide range of images from operas scientific expeditions nationalist projects and picturesque artists that both effectively elucidate her argument and contribute to an impressive history of photography Vision Race and Modernity is a fascinating attempt to study the changing terrain of racial theory as part of a broader reorganization of vision in European society and culture

Black Women, Citizenship, and the Making of Modern Cuba Takkara K. Zivin,2007-07-15 The last several decades have witnessed a reorientation of the political and a globalization of the cultural in Latin America shifting literature s function as a homogenizing citizen forming institution to a more dispersed fragmented and potentially democratic and liberating practice At the same time and perhaps in response to this cultural shift the field of Latin American literary studies has expanded to include cultural studies postcolonial theory performance studies gender studies Africana studies and subaltern studies at once expanding and disrupting the boundaries of literature criticism and of Latin America itself In light of these dramatic transformations within a globalized Latin American culture as well as within the field of Latin American literary studies itself what value can we attribute to aesthetics today Is a reconsideration of artistic creation a mere return to the hegemonic lettered city described by Angel Rama Or can we begin to think about an ethical potential inscribed within the act of reading that is an encounter with otherness that irreversibly alters the reading subject Crime, Histoire & Sociétés ,1998 A Saint in the City Allen F. Roberts,Mary Nooter Roberts,Gassia

Armenian,Ousmane Guèye,2003 *A Saint in the City*examines the elaborate visual culture of the Mourides a Senegalese Sufi movement based upon the mystical teachings of Sheikh Amadou Bamba 1953 1927 In the boldly visual city of Dakar images abound despite the fact that Senegal is largely a Muslim country Vibrant street murals calligraphy and calligrams didactic posters drawings that protect and heal advertising images colourful clothing Web sites intricate glass paintings and innovative architecture all attest to the transformative potency that expressive culture has for Mourides One image is ubiquitous throughout urban Senegal the portrait of Sheikh Amadou Bamba based upon a colonial photograph from 1913 Sacred images work for Mourides and as Bamba is a saint Wali Allah or Friend of God in Arabic his portrait actively conveys powerful blessings called baraka that help people to address everyday difficulties challenges and goals The Mouride Way is observed by over four million Senegalese and thousands more around the globe including increasing numbers of African Americans and others converting to this most African of Islamic paths Amadou Bamba s pacifism dignity and self reliance as well as his emphasis on the sanctity of work offer a view of Islam quite different from those currently suggested by Western media Indeed A Saint in the City reminds us that there are many faces of Islam in Africa and throughout the world It also assists readers to reconsider misconceptions concerning the prohibition of images in Islam in light of the explosion of visual culture derived from a single photograph of Sheikh Amadou Bamba A Saint in the City grows from a decade of interdisciplinary research and focuses upon nine contemporary artists who base their works upon the spiritual teachings of Amadou Bamba regardless of their particular backgrounds training or styles The book boldly transgresses the boundaries normally enforced between local and global fine and popular arts gallery and streets historical and contemporary circumstances An emphasis upon Mouride artists own voices further decenters the narrative Allen F Roberts is professor of world arts and cultures and director of the James S Coleman African Studies Center at UCLA Mary Nooter Roberts is deputy director and chief curator of the UCLA Fowler Museum of Cultural History

(In)visible Cities James Joseph MacDevitt, 2002 Pacific Studies, 1997 In and Out of Focus Christraud M. Geary, Krzysztof Pluskota, 2003 This is an exploration of the function of photography in Central Africa It explores and links two related themes the role of photographic images in constructing and circulating fantasies ideas and sentiments in Europe and the US relating to peoples of Central Africa and the role of photography in enabling Africans to project and create images of themselves during encounters with foreign photographers The publication is devoted to the holdings of the Eliot Eliofson Photographic Archives a department of the National Museum of African Art USA a repository of more than 200 000 historical and contemporary images from all over Africa

To Make the Earth Bear Fruit Olivia Harris, 2000 This volume opens a new series by the Institute of Latin American Studies dedicated to collecting the best work of leading Latin Americanists in the United Kingdom The book brings together previously published ethnographic essays based on anthropological fieldwork in Northern Potos Bolivia spanning the last 25 years The introduction puts into context the pieces within the empirical and analytical developments in Latin American and Andean anthropology The essays discuss key concerns and cultural symbols of the indigenous peasants of the Andes the importance of the land and practices relating to its continued fertility the cult of the dead the complex division of labor and forms of circulation within the indigenous economy the work of gender and the mythological figure of the earth mother While based upon detailed ethnographic research all the chapters also engage in theoretical and analytical debate both within and beyond the discipline
