Edward Sheriff Curtis Edward S. Curtis, Florence Curtis Graybill, Victor Boesen, 2000 First published in 1976 this book is the classic photographic record of Native American life by one of America's greatest photographers From 1904 to 1930 Curtis sought out the vanishing tribes with an unwavering passion to record the faces and lifestyles of the Indians before they vanished forever 95 duotone plates Visions of a Vanishing Race Florence Curtis Graybill, Edward Sheriff Curtis, 1994 182 photos incl 95 duotones Orig 35 00 Visions of a Vanishing Race A. D. Coleman, 1975 Alien Visions Margaret Ziolkowski, 2005 There are many parallels and some revealing differences in the encounter between on the one hand the Americans and various Indian tribes and on the other the Russians and some of the peoples of the Caucasus and Siberia The enduring cultural consequences of these encounters provide a fruitful area of inquiry for the comparative examination of national images in literatures The major focus on this study is the perceptions and literary portrayal of the Chechens by the Russians and the Navajos by the Americans Both the Chechen in Russian literature and the Navajo in American literature are often constructs images derived from a potent combination of prejudices and received assumptions In each case a relatively sizable corpus of writings produced over a century or longer exemplifies or attempts to counter persistent and influential modes of cultural stereotyping The diachronic analysis of the portrayal of either the Chechens or the Navajos illuminates patterns of prejudice that have immense implications for both popular and high culture The juxtaposition of the discussion of the two groups as they have been treated in Russian and American literature can deepen our understanding of the commonalities present in attempted cultural domination or ethnic idealization Margaret Ziolkowski is Professor of Russian at Miami University Ohio The Vanishing Race, 1925 The Vanishing Race Joseph Kossuth Dixon, 1913 As We See It Suzanne Newman Fricke, 2023-10-15 In As We See It Suzanne Newman Fricke invites readers to explore the work and careers of ten contemporary Native American photographers Jamison Banks Anna Hoover Tom Jones Larry McNeil Shelley Niro Wendy Red Star Beverly Singer Matika Wilber William Wilson and Tiffney Yazzie Inspired by As We See It an exhibition of these artists work cocurated by Fricke in 2015 the book showcases the extraordinary achievements of these groundbreaking photographers As We See It presents dialogues in which the artists share their unique perspectives about the history and current state of photography Each chapter includes an overview of the photographer's career as well as examples of the artist's work For added context Fricke includes an introduction a preface that explores the original exhibition of the same name and an essay that challenges the ghost of Edward S Curtis whose work serves as a counterpoint to the photography of contemporary Native Americans The text is designed to be read as a whole or in sections for anyone teaching Native American photography As We See It is an invaluable addition to the library of anyone interested in Native American photography and will be the key source for teachers researchers and lovers of photography for years to come

Dawn,2011-11-01 In the early decades of the twentieth century Canada sought to define itself as an independent dominion with allegiance to the British Empire The visual arts were considered central to the formation of a distinct national identity and the Group of Seven s landscapes became part of a larger program to unify the nation and assert its uniqueness National Visions National Blindness traces the development of this program and illuminates its conflicted history Using newly discovered archival evidence Leslie Dawn revises common interpretations of several well known events and rescues others from obscurity He problematizes conventional perceptions of the Group as a national school and underscores the contradictions inherent in international exhibitions showing unpeopled landscapes alongside Northwest Coast Native arts and the Indian paintings of Langdon Kihn and Emily Carr Dawn examines how this dichotomy forced a re evaluation of the place of First Nations in both Canadian art and nationalism National Visions National Blindness is an elegantly written work offering new and insightful analysis and will be of great interest to readers and researchers of Canadian art history First Nations art and history tourism cultural politics museum studies and ethnographic practices Catalog of Copyright theoretically rich work Mason Kamana Allred unearths the ways Mormons have employed a wide range of technologies to translate events beliefs anxieties and hopes into reproducible experiences that contribute to the growth of their religious systems of meaning Drawing on methods from cultural history media studies and religious studies Allred focuses specifically on technologies of vision that have shaped Mormonism as a culture of seeing These technologies he argues were as essential to the making of Mormonism as the humans who received interpreted and practiced their faith While Mormons uses of television and the internet are recent examples of the tradition s use of visual technology Allred excavates older practices and technologies for negotiating the spirit such as panorama displays and magic lantern shows Fusing media theory with feminist new materialism he employs media archaeology to examine Mormons ways of performing distinctions beholding as a way to engender radical visions and standardizing vision to effect assimilation Allred s analysis reveals Mormonism as always materially mediated and argues that religious history is likewise inherently entangled with media Reimagining Indians
