INTRODUCTION

This manual describes the service procedures for the LV series air-cooled, vertical single-cylinder, 4-stroke, direct injection engines.

These engines are certified by the U.S. EPA, California ARB and/or the 97/68/EC Directive for industrial use.

The use of this manual is recommended for safe, efficient and accurate servicing of the engine.

Use this manual together with the current model specific parts catalog for additional exploded part diagrams and identification of part numbers. Parts catalogs are intended for part number identification only. Exploded part diagrams within parts catalogs should not be used as an assembly reference. Follow the assembly procedures within the correct service manual for proper assembly instructions.

The information and procedures within this manual are for a typical engine. Some specifications and components may be different from your engine. All photographs and illustrations within this manual are intended as reference only and may not depict actual engine components or equipment.

When servicing optional engine equipment, refer to the documentation supplied by that optional equipment manufacturer for specific service instructions.

This manual may not include current field modifications or service updates that were not available at the time of printing. Contact an authorized Yanmar industrial engine dealer or distributor for current field modifications and service information.
