Grid-locked African Economic Sovereignty Victor Warikandwa,Artwell Nhemachena,2019-02-06 The emergent so called Fourth Industrial Revolution is regarded by some as a panacea for bringing about development to Africans This book dismisses this flawed reasoning Surfacing how investors are actually looting and plundering Africa how the industrial internet of things the gig economies digital economies and cryptocurrencies breach African political and economic sovereignty the book pioneers what can be called anticipatory economics which anticipate the future of economies It is argued that the future of Africans does not necessarily require degrowth postgrowth postdevelopment postcapitalism or sharing solidarity economies it requires attention to age old questions about African ownership and control of their resources Investors have to invest in ensuring that Africans own and control their resources Further it is pointed out that the historical imperial structural creation of forced labour is increasingly morphing into what we call the structural creation of forced leisure which is no less lethal for Africans Because both the structural creation of forced labour and the structural creation of forced leisure are undergirded by transnational neo imperial plunder theft robbery looting and dispossession of Africans this book goes beyond the simplistic arguments that Euro America developed due to the industrial revolutions Public

given the diversity of country situations Instead each chapter begins with an overview of the specific reform issue lists approaches and experiences from different countries and summarizes the references and good practices to be considered in designing country specific reform actions

Extraterritorial investments in agriculture in Africa: the perspectives of China and South Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2020-11-30 The 2008 global food price crisis and the resurgence of food prices in 2010 2011 caused both widespread concern and expectations On the one hand countries whose food supply depends on procuring food from international markets saw food price spikes as threats to their national food security On the other hand investors saw in these price spikes an opportunity to make profitable investments in agriculture Either as threat or opportunity food price spikes raised interest in Africa whose lands are fertile and have unrealised potential Concerns of a possible land acquisitions in Africa and in particular the impacts of Large Scale Land Based Investments in Agriculture LSLBIA on local communities became prominent policy and academic themes Unfortunately quantifying the phenomenon has proved hard due to the difficulty of finding empirical evidence As a result debates are either theoretical or based on anecdotal evidence This publication thus explores a different path and explores the reasons why entities from China and South Africa were interested in investing in African agriculture This publication examines the reasons why investors were interested in Africa and the relationship that these bear to The Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security the Voluntary Guidelines or VGGT While primarily aimed at governments the VGGT also contain important provisions that are applicable to the private sector They focus on helping investors pursue their projects in ways that recognise and respect legitimate tenure rights and human rights In addition the VGGT also contain provisions and encourages good practices for responsible investment in land forests and fisheries The VGGT are a valuable tool for helping investors minimise risk while also safeguarding the rights of local communities China and South Africa represent important sources of LSLBIA in Africa although the bulk of such investment comes from western countries Their investment may intensify in the future for a variety of reasons First China has the third largest land area in the world but its expansion through additional land use is limited Second the dual agricultural economy of South Africa is preventing commercial farming located in well endowed areas from expanding into remote resource poor areas where small scale subsistence based production is prevalent This publication assesses the extent to which selected investors from China and South Africa and the governments of those countries have adopted the best practices represented by the VGGT in relation to LSLBIA in Urban Development in Asia and Africa Yuji Murayama,Courage Kamusoko,Akio Yamashita,Ronald C. Livestock climate action in Zimbabwe Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,Svinurai, W.; Masunda, B.; Ayabagabo, J.D.D; Cabeza, I.L; Kachidza, F.; Kamana, R.; Reppin, S.; Rulli, M.; Uwizeye, A.,2025-04-25 Zimbabwe is advancing climate change adaptation in its livestock sector with key strategies reflected in both its initial and updated nationally determined contributions NDCs Although various climate smart practices are already being implemented through livestock support programs their contributions to adaptation and mitigation remain largely undocumented resulting in their omission from the NDCs To address this the Department of Livestock Research has introduced a Tier 2 greenhouse gas GHG inventory for cattle allowing for more accurate assessments of mitigation potential and informing the 2025 NDC update This report brings together insights from literature reviews policy analysis and stakeholder consultations to evaluate the current policy landscape for livestock related climate action It highlights the sector s growing vulnerability to climate change including feed scarcity disease outbreaks and declining productivity The report identifies key policy gaps and stresses the importance of capacity building data driven planning and inclusive engagement to enhance climate resilience and reduce emissions in the livestock sector State Governance of Mining, Development and Sustainability Tracy-Lynn Field,2019 States in mineral rich jurisdictions must promote mining as a development industry just as they must protect people and environment from the worst excesses of extractivism State Governance of Mining Development and Sustainability explores how the State's role in facilitating a developmental and sustainable mining industry has been defined. Legal Protection of Foreign Direct Investment. A Critical Assessment with Focus on South Africa and Zimbabwe Talkmore Chidede, 2016-06-02. This study undertakes a critical assessment of the legal protection of foreign direct investments (FDI) in South Africa and Zimbabwe by determining their compliance with the international minimum standards, norms and/or best practices on the legal protection of FDI by host states. Firstly, the study argues that foreign investment is much needed in South Africa and Zimbabwe to improve economic growth and development, to create jobs and to increase their competitiveness. However, these benefits are not accrued automatically but rather host states need to create an enabling environment to receive such benefits. Thus, host states need to put an investment scheme into operation to guarantee the legal protection of foreign investments. South Africa and Zimbabwe have at large crafted and implemented investment laws and related policies which tend to be hostile towards foreign investments. Therefore, similar investment laws and related policies in both jurisdictions are analysed. This study will also offer recommendations for a legal investment which is not only flexible, friendly and favourable to foreign investment in South Africa and Zimbabwe but also advances their local economic policies. Foreign Direct Investment as a Tool for Poverty Reduction in Developing Countries Ronald K.S.

Wakyereza, 2019-10-15. The textbook experience of poverty can be witnessed in a number of developing countries in Sub-Saharan Africa, South East Asia and Latin America. Accordingly, Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) has been identified as an important tool for poverty reduction as it is noted to accelerate economic growth and employment in a nation and is currently an essential issue for countries such as Uganda. This book finds that Ragnar's 1953 Vicious Circle of Poverty remains undisputed even today, showing that attracting FDI is not the end but that a nation's absorption capacity is equally paramount. The implications of the FDI frog leap theory for developing countries and the Community Capital Absorption Capacity Development (CCACD) framework provide plausible poverty reduction approaches in the 21st century. Without such measures, bringing an end to poverty is likely to elude governments and multinational corporations in developing countries.

Imposing Standards Martin Hearson, 2021-06-15. In Imposing Standards, Martin Hearson shifts the focus of political rhetoric regarding international tax rules from tax havens and the Global North to the damaging impact of this regime on the Global South. Even when not exploited by tax dodgers, international tax standards place severe limits on the ability of developing countries to tax businesses denying the Global South access to much needed revenue The international rules that allow tax avoidance by multinational corporations have dominated political debate about international tax in the United States and Europe especially since the global financial crisis of 2007 2008 Hearson asks how developing countries willingly gave up their right to tax foreign companies charting their assimilation into an OECD led regime from the days of early independence to the present day Based on interviews with treaty negotiators policymakers and lobbyists as well as observation at intergovernmental meetings archival research and fieldwork in Africa and Asia Imposing Standards shows that capacity constraints and imperfect negotiation strategies in developing countries were exploited by capital exporting states shielding multinationals from taxation and depriving nations in the Global South of revenue they both need and deserve Thanks to generous funding from the Gates Foundation the ebook editions of this book are available as Open Access volumes from Cornell Open cornellpress.cornell.edu/cornell-open and other repositories
