Turn Me Loose The Unghosting Of Medgar Evers:

Turn Me Loose Frank X Walker, 2013-05 Around the void left by the murder of Medgar Evers in 1963 the poems in this collection speak unleashing the strong emotions both before and after the moment of assassination Poems take on the voices of Evers's widow Myrlie his brother Charles his assassin Byron De La Beckwith and each of De La Beckwith's two wives Except for the book's title Turn me loose which were his final words Evers remains in this collection silent Yet the poems accumulate facets of the love and hate with which others saw this man unghosting him in a way that only imagination makes possible

Turn Me Loose Frank X. Walker, 2013-05-01 In this selection of poetry the author writes from the point of view of people involved in the life and death of Medgar Evers including his widow his brother his assassin Byron De La Beckwith and both of Beckwith's wives

Violence from Slavery to #BlackLivesMatter Andrew Dix,Peter Templeton,2019-11-12 Violence from Slavery to BlackLivesMatter brings together perspectives on violence and its representation in African American history from slavery to the present moment Contributors explore how violence signifying both an instrument of the white majority s power and a modality of black resistance has been understood and articulated in primary materials that range from slave narrative through lynching plays and Richard Wright s fiction to contemporary activist poetry and from photography of African American suffering through Blaxploitation cinema and Spike Lee s films to rap lyrics and performances Diverse both in their period coverage and their choice of medium for discussion the 11 essays are unified by a shared concern to unpack violence s multiple meanings for black America Underlying the collection too is not only the desire to memorialize past moments of black American suffering and resistance but in politically timely fashion to explore their connections to our current conjuncture Portrait of a Racist Reed Massengill,2024-01-26 Originally published in 1994 Portrait of a Racist is an astonishing biography of Byron De La Beckwith 1920 2001 who murdered Black civil rights leader Medgar Evers in June 1963 Written by Beckwith s nephew by marriage the book is based on dozens of exclusive personal interviews with Beckwith and people who knew him as well as letters Beckwith wrote directly to the author These unique sources provide as definitive a glimpse into the chilling psychological landscape of a man devoted to murderous intolerance as we will likely ever have. Although the slaying of Evers helped to galvanize the civil rights movement in the South, the killer evaded justice for three decades after the crime. Twice tried for murder in the 1960s, both times by all-male all-White juries, Beckwith was finally convicted in a third trial in 1994. Accompanied by new illustrations that have never been printed before, this new edition includes an afterword that recounts the author's participation as a witness and his introduction of new evidence in the third trial. It also chronicles Beckwith's last years of declining health behind bars, examines the rich scholarship on Evers and civil rights that has arisen since this book's original appearance, and reflects on the catastrophic persistence of Beckwith's ideology, Christian nationalism, and white supremacy in our own times.

The Necessary Past Annette Debo, 2024-04-15

Uncovering how poetry refigures Black history to imagine a more just present and future, Poets are lyric historians proclaimed Langston Hughes. Today, historical poetry offers a lyric history necessary to our current moment: poetry with the power to correct the past, realign the present, and create a more hopeful or even hoped-for future. The Necessary Past: Revising History in Contemporary African American Poetry focuses on six of today's most celebrated poets: Elizabeth Alexander, Natasha Trethewey, A. Van Jordan, Kevin Young, Frank X. Walker, and Camille T. Dungy. Their works reimagine the interiority of Black historical figures like the so-called Venus Hottentot, Sara Baartman, and the would-be spelling champion MacNolia Cox, the African American Native Guard who fought in the Civil War, and the unknown victims of domestic violence, Jack Johnson and Jean Michel Basquiat. Medgar Evers and those freed and enslaved in the early nineteenth century. These poets shift the power dynamic in revising our shared history, reconfiguring who speaks and whose stories are told, and writing a past that frees readers to change the present and envision a more just future.

Teaching the Works of Eudora Welty

Too often Eudora Welty is known to the general public as Miss Welty, a perfect lady who wrote affectionate portraits of her home region. Yet recent scholarship has amply demonstrated a richer complexity: Welty was an innovative artist with cosmopolitan sensibilities and progressive politics, a woman who maintained close friendships with artists and intellectuals throughout the world, a writer as unafraid to experiment as she was to level her pen at the worst human foibles. The essays collected in Teaching the Works of Eudora Welty seek to move Welty beyond a discussion of region and reflect new scholarship that remaps her work onto a larger canvas. The book offers ways to help twenty-first-century readers navigate Welty's challenging and intricate narratives. It provides answers to questions many teachers will have. Why should I study a writer who documents white privilege Why should I give this regional writer space on an already crowded syllabus Why should I teach Welty if I do not study the South How can I help my students make sense of her modernist narratives How can Welty's texts help me teach my students about literary theory about gender and disability about cultures and societies with which my students are unfamiliar The Cambridge Companion to American Civil Rights Literature Julie Armstrong, 2015-03-02 This Companion brings together leading scholars to examine the significant traditions genres and themes of civil rights literature A History of African American Autobiography Joycelyn Moody, 2021-07-22 This History explores innovations in African American autobiography since its inception examining the literary and cultural history of Black self representation amid life writing studies By analyzing the different forms of autobiography including pictorial and personal essays editorials oral histories testimonials diaries personal and open letters and even poetry performance media of autobiographies this book extends the definition of African American autobiography revealing how people of African descent have created and defined the Black self in diverse print cultures and literary genres since their arrival in the Americas It illustrates ways African Americans use life writing and autobiography to address personal and collective Black experiences of identity family memory fulfillment racism and white supremacy Individual chapters examine scrapbooks as a source of self documentation African American autobiography for children readings of African American persona poems mixed race life writing after the Civil Rights Movement and autobiographies by African American LGBTQ writers Britannica Book of the Year 2014 Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc., 2014-03-01 The Britannica Book of the Year 2014 provides a valuable viewpoint of the people and events that shaped the year and serves as a great reference source for the latest news on the ever changing populations governments and economies throughout the world It is an accurate and comprehensive reference that you will reach for again and again Family Stories, Poetry and Women's Work Sandra L. Another Throat Ryan Sharp, 2024-10-29 The early twenty first century has seen a sharp rise in Black US poets employing the mask of persona often including and interrogating archival materials as they do so While some have observed this rise and noted its connection to historical figures Ryan Sharp explores it more deeply as a project based historical and poetic practice Sharp examines its sustained use of historical persona and capacity for conjuring Black speakers as a countermeasure against the archival silencing and misrepresentation of Black voices and histories a tactic he theorizes as poetic fabulation through the poetry of Elizabeth Alexander Cornelius Eady Adrian Matejka Patricia Smith Natasha Trethewey and Frank X Walker This poetic practice is not only about looking back but about critically and creatively re imagining the past to expand the possibilities for Black presents and futures Through his argument Sharp demonstrates how the unique aesthetic and rhetorical license afforded to poetry along with the interiority of persona empowers such historically minded projects to be concurrently invested in the curation of Black narratives and identities
