Time And Materials Poems 1997 2005:

Time and Materials Robert Hass, 2009-10-13 Group ad in The Writer's Chronicle The Poetics of the Everyday Siobhan Phillips, 2010 Wallace Stevens once described the malady of the quotidian lamenting the dull weight of everyday regimen Yet he would later hail that which is always beginning over and over recognizing if not celebrating the possibility of fresh invention Focusing on the poems of Wallace Stevens Robert Frost Elizabeth Bishop and James Merrill Siobhan Phillips positions everyday time as a vital category in modernist aesthetics American literature and poetic theory She eloquently reveals how through particular but related means each of these poets converts the necessity of quotidian experience into an aesthetic and experiential opportunity In Stevens Phillips analyzes the implications of cyclic dualism In Frost she explains the theoretical depth of a habitual middle way In Bishop's work she identifies the attempt to turn recurrent mornings into a ceremony rather than a sentence and in Merrill she shows how cosmic theories rely on daily habits Phillips ultimately demonstrates that a poetics of everyday time contributes not only to a richer understanding of these four writers but also to descriptions of their era estimations of their genre and ongoing reconfigurations of the issues that literature reflects and illuminates

The Marram Grass Anne Simpson, 2009 In six essays poet and novelist Anne Simpson traces the paths of her thoughts from observation to association through poetry language and metaphor otherness and wilderness Walking the beaches and trails near her home in Antigonish Nova Scotia Simpson studies the connections between outdoors and inner life A hike along a local ridge and the sighting of an owl spurs an examination of birdsong and its kinship with poetry whose own perch is somewhere near the edge of grammar beyond sure knowledge where resonance and insight take the place of certainty what Thoreau called tawny grammar Following the owl Simpson takes us to the underworld also home to otherness and to the Spanish concept of duende the imminent presence of death in life In the work of other artists Matthias Grunewald's Isenheim Altarpiece Elizabeth Bishop's poetry and lesser known visual art and the fiction of Nabokov Borges and Dostoevsky Simpson ponders the location of the other in what is presented as subject For in this impasse between what readers and viewers and even the subjects themselves see and cannot see resides the death in life the wilderness on the edge of grammar Along the way Simpson shares some of her own poetic process The final piece in the collection recounts attempts to write poetry in response to a friend's photographs Simpson writes of missteps and her eventual decision to abandon grammar in an effort to move closer to the emptiness that form illuminates and that illuminates form This consideration of form takes on board the Buddhist teachings found in the Heart Sutra the commitment and responsibility we have to imagine what we are not Here then is the other that compels the poet to write to occupy a place on the outside edge of onself This book is a kind of wild walking Simpson says because as I was writing it my thinking became a little wild brambly and overgrown a kind of elderberry bush The walking and writing became almost indistinguishable I'd be busy turning something over in my mind imagining a world without grammar for instance while walking in the woods at the Fairmont Ridge and be startled out of it by the drumming of a ruffed grouse In winter walking across ice I began thinking that the descents and ascents of poetry were like those of the shamanic journey And why was poetry so intimately concerned with suffering did it reveal voyeurism or a depth of care These essays range around Nova Scotia as I kept returning to the way this province has become the home of my thinking not just the place where I live The final essay which seemed to grow out of the marram grass along the barrier beaches of the Northumberland Strait traces the connection between the Heart Sutra and poetry I guess the real question in each of these essays is the way writing depends upon otherness and how it arcs toward a relationship with the other
