Time Conflict And Human Values:

Time, Conflict, and Human Values Julius Thomas Fraser,1999 Over the course of history Fraser argues human values have served primarily not as conservative influences that promote permanence continuity and balance as commonly believed but as revolutionary forces that in the long run promote change by generating and sustaining certain unresolvable conflicts

BOOK JACKET Information and Human Values Kenneth Fleischmann,2022-06-01 This book seeks to advance our understanding of the relationship between information and human values by synthesizing the complementary but typically disconnected threads in the literature reflecting on my 15 years of research on the relationship between information and human values advancing our intellectual understanding of the key facets of this topic and encouraging further research to continue exploring this important and timely research topic The book begins with an explanation of what human values are and why they are important Next three distinct literatures on values information and technology are analyzed and synthesized including the social psychology literature on human values the information studies literature on the core values of librarianship and the human computer interaction literature on value sensitive design After that three detailed case studies are presented based on reflections on a wide range of research studies The first case study focuses on the role of human values in the design and use of educational simulations The second case study focuses on the role of human values in the design and use of computational models The final case study explores human values in communication via about or using information technology The book concludes by laying out a values and design cycle for studying values in information and presenting an agenda for further research

Time and Time Again Julius Thomas Fraser,2007 This work represents a guided tour to the interdisciplinary integrated study of time Through twenty two connected essays selected from the author s extensive writings Time and Time Again advances new insights into understanding the nature of time seen through philosophy the arts and letters the sciences of matter life mind and society Traditionally attitudes to future past and present remained distinct for different cultures But upon the globalizing earth all cultural regions are now in instant by instant communication There is a consequent turmoil about individual and collective identities and about value judgments in all of which attitudes to time play crucial roles The book explores this turmoil and through its references it also serves as a guide to the broadly spread literature about time

The Biology of Religious Behavior Jay R. Feierman,2009-06-08 This title offers a fresh and detailed take on the evolution of religious behavior from a biobehavioral perspective promoting a new understanding that may help build bridges across the religious divide Religious conflict and divisiveness have been important themes in human history and their effects are no less evident today The scientific study of religion cannot by itself mend these divisions but by enhancing our understanding of behavior it can make an important contribution towards that end There has been much recent interest in the study of religion from the perspective of Darwinian evolution The Biology of Religious Behavior The Evolutionary Origins of Faith and Religion offers a broad overview of the topic written by internationally recognized experts In addition to its primary focus on religious behavior the book addresses other important aspects of religion such as values beliefs and emotions as they affect behavior The contributors approach the evolution of religion by examining the behavior of individuals in their everyday lives After describing various religious behaviors the contributors consider the behaviors with reference to their evolutionary history development during the lifetime of the individual proximate causes and adaptive value Happily this foray into understanding religion from a biobehavioral perspective demonstrates that at the biological and behavioral levels what unites the different religions of the world is far greater than what divides them This title attempts to explain the link between biology and religious behavior It takes a multidisciplinary approach offering new insights into religious beliefs and behavior that may help bridge religious divisions It demonstrates that religious belief and behavior have evolved in a similar fashion for all religions It provides a means of understanding how religion could have evolved spread and become what it is today from www.amazon.co.uk Nov 25 2010

Religious Values Edgar Sheffield Brightman, 1925 Music William W. Sears, 2007 A revision of William Sears 1968 theory Processes in Music Therapy is the centerpiece of this work The revision presents in greater detail the Processes The most significant change is the proper elevation of music demands time ordered behaviour from a construct that is an explicit relation between music and human behaviour to its position as the overarching force that allows music to happen

Publications of the State of Illinois 1994 , Use of Social Media for Sustainable Peace by Church Pastors of the Nigerian Baptist Convention, 2010-2020 Adebayo Afolaranmi, 2023-05-08 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2022 in the subject Politics Region Africa language English abstract This research s objective is to critically engage in the study of responses of the Convention s pastors to the actualisation of Goal Sixteen which aims at peaceful and non violent societies The study examined how the Convention s pastors use social media in mediative dialogue to resolve conflicts in building peace in churches The study focused on using social media in mediative dialogue among pastors in Baptist churches within Ibadan city It focused on Facebook Twitter WhatsApp and Telegram Its time frame is 2010 to 2020 It was done through three qualitative research methods sample surveys semi structured interviews and document analysis The study discovers that many Baptist pastors in Ibadan have been using at least a social media platform It reveals that while few pastors consciously use social media to promote sustainable peace and resolve conflicts through mediative dialogue most pastors are sceptical about using social media to resolve conflicts through mediative dialogue While most pastors that use social media use WhatsApp and Facebook many are just migrating to Telegram and few pastors use Twitter The research recommended that governments faith based organisations and pastors of the Convention should deploy social media in the process of mediative dialogue as an instrument for deepening sustainable peace Conflicts in the world impair sustainable peace Conflicts have to be resolved and transformed for peaceful coexistence to achieve one of the seventeen blueprints of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals peaceful and non violent societies A process of attaining peace is peacebuilding One of peacebuilding means is mediative dialogue Many faith based organisations especially the Nigerian Baptist Convention resolve conflicts among its churches through various means As the world has metamorphosed digitally and social media changes communication means globally using social media in mediative dialogue will likely improve conflict resolution by faith based organisations
