Afro-Greeks Emily Greenwood,2010-01-28 Afro Greeks examines the reception of Classics in the English speaking Caribbean from about 1920 to the beginning of the 21st century Emily Greenwood focuses on the ways in which Greco Roman antiquity has been put to creative use in Anglophone Caribbean literature and relates this regional classical tradition to the educational context specifically the way in which Classics was taught in the colonial school curriculum Discussions of Caribbean literature tend to assume an antagonistic relationship between Classics which is treated as a legacy of empire and Caribbean literature While acknowledging the importance of this imperial context Greenwood argues that Caribbean appropriations of Classics played an important role in formulating original anti colonial and anti imperial criticism in Anglophone Caribbean fiction Afro Greeks reveals how in the twentieth century two generations of Caribbean writers including Kamau Brathwaite Austin Clarke John Figueroa C L R James V S Naipaul Derek Walcott and Eric Williams created a distinctive regional counter tradition of reading Greco Roman Classics Disturbers of the Peace Kelly Baker Josephs,2013-10-11 Exploring the prevalence of madness in Caribbean texts written in English in the mid twentieth century Kelly Baker Josephs focuses on celebrated writers such as Jean Rhys V S Naipaul and Derek Walcott as well as on understudied writers such as Sylvia Wynter and Erna Brodber Because mad figures appear frequently in Caribbean literature from French Spanish and English traditions in roles ranging from bit parts to first person narrators the author regards madness as a part of the West Indian literary aesthetic The relatively condensed decolonization of the anglophone islands during the 1960s and 1970s she argues makes literature written in English during this time especially rich for an examination of the function of madness in literary critiques of colonialism and in the Caribbean project of nation making In drawing connections between madness and literature gender and religion this book speaks not only to the field of Caribbean studies but also to colonial and postcolonial literature in general The volume closes with a study of twenty first century literature of the Caribbean diaspora demonstrating that Caribbean writers still turn to representations of madness to depict their changing worlds The Routledge Companion to Eighteenth-Century Literatures in English Sarah Eron,Nicole N. Modernist Voyages Anna Snaith, 2014-02-24 London's literary and cultural scene fostered newly configured forms of feminist anticolonialism during the modernist period. Through their writing in and about the imperial metropolis, colonial women authors not only remapped the city; they also renegotiated the position of women within the empire. This book examines the significance of gender to the interwoven nature of empire and modernism. As transgressive figures of modernity, writers such as Jean Rhys, Katherine Mansfield, Una Marson, and Sarojini Naidu brought their own versions of modernity to the capital, revealing the complex ways in which colonial identities traveled to London at the turn of the twentieth century. Anna Snaith's original study provides an alternative vantage point on the urban metropolis and its artistic communities for scholars and students of literary modernism, gender, and postcolonial studies, and English literature more broadly.

On the Very Edge Ian Kinane, 2025-01-15 On the Very Edge Bidentities in Michelle Cliff's Fiction uses the life and work of bisexual, biracial, and bicultural author Michelle Cliff (1946–2016) to develop an entirely new approach to intersectional cultural, race, and gender sexuality studies that prioritizes bi-ness as a methodological tool. The book focuses not simply on bisexuality, biracialism, or biculturalism as isolated identity concepts; rather, it explores the very nature of these intersectional identity categories as configured by Cliff. The text therefore represents a reclamation of bi-identity in Cliff's work as a much broader cultural and not just sexual or racial category, arguing that Cliff's spaces and/or stages of bi-ness are in themselves significant in understanding contemporary global identity politics, as well as in navigating complex and often damaging identity constructs. Michelle Cliff, partnered with poet Adrienne Rich and passing as white, had an often invisible sexuality and cultural identity. Yet her acclaimed work Abeng, No Telephone to Heaven, Bodies of Water, If I Could Write This in Fire, Free Enterprise, and others demonstrates the intersections between bisexuality, biracialism, and biculturalism in often profound ways. Drawing on original research, interviews, diaries, editorials, and other correspondences, On the Very Edge will have far-reaching implications in the understanding of complex Caribbean identity politics and intersectional race, gender, and sexuality studies at large.

Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Twentieth Century Eric L. Haralson, 2014-01-21 The Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Twentieth Century contains over 400 entries that treat a broad range of individual poets and poems, along with many articles devoted to topics, schools, or periods of American verse in the century. Entries fall into three main categories: poet entries, which provide biographical and cultural contexts for the author's career; entries on individual works, which offer closer explication of the most resonant poems in the 20th-century canon; and topical entries, which offer analyses of a given period of literary production, school, thematically constructed category, or other verse tradition that historically has been in dialogue with the poetry of the United States.
