Twice Under The Persian Sky:

Cult and Ritual in Persian Period Egypt Fatma Talaat Ismail, 2019-10-15 Ancient Egyptian temple walls expressed royal and political ideologies reflected the ancient Egyptian secular and spiritual world order supplied a medium for the reenactments of assorted myths and implied a metaphor for the universe The Temple of Hibis is one of the most important temples from Late Period Egypt Despite the conventional overall architecture plan of the temple it exhibits numerous particularities While the more prominent parts of the temple such as the sanctuary have been studied by numerous scholars in other areas the decoration schemes remain largely unexplained This book focuses on the decorative schemes of several chapels in the earlier part of the temple chapels that were either established and or were decorated during the first Persian Period 525 404 BCE These chapels were located around the main sanctuary A but have rarely been the subject of scholarly discussions It concentrates on a few chapels of the Temple of Hibis chapels F and G to the south of sanctuary A on the first level of the temple and all the decorated chapels E1 E2 H1 and H2 on the second level of the temple Each chapter begins with a brief description of the scenes and their basic layout and a complete translation of the accompanying texts A more in depth analysis regarding both text and image follows in the commentary It includes the analysis of the different aspects of the gods their origins and the development of their cults that are significant to the scenes and to each other Also discussed are their coherence any aspects that are especially emphasized and any other information that could be gleaned from the whole scene The analysis tries to detail the specific composition that makes up the mosaic of the picture wall or room Attention is paid to both the scenic arrangement and the hieroglyphic inscriptions as the interpretation of one would be meaningless without the other Attention is given to investigating the general function of the different rooms by means of their decoration and by identifying the patterns or important themes generated by the layout of the scenes The results are summarized in the last chapter A number of line drawings have been inserted into the text beside a described scene as an aid to the reader Columbia University Indo-Iranian Series, 1917 Zeus Arthur Bernard Cook, 1914 *Life of Rev. Benardete,2012-12-06 Herodotus has so often been called since ancient times the father of history that this title has blinded us to the question Was the father of history an historian Everyone knows that the Greek word from which history is derived always means inquiry in Herodotus His so called Histories are inquiries and by that name I have preferred to call them His inquiries partly result in the presentation of events that are now called historical but other parts of his inquiry would now belong to the province of the anthropologist or geographer Herodotus does not recognize these fields as distinct they all belong equally to the subject of his inquiry but it is not self evident what he understands to be his subject the notorious difficulties in the proemium are enough to indicate this If his work presents us with so strange a mixture of different fields we are entitled to ask Did Herodotus understand even its historical element as we understand it Without any proof everyone as far as I am aware who has studied him has assumed this to be so
