Understanding Learning at Work David Boud, John Garrick, 2012-10-12 Work now invariably requires a continual focus on learning to improve productivity to enhance the flexibility of employees and to develop and transform organizations This volume brings together leading experts from the United States Britain Australia and New Zealand to critically evaluate the current debates on workplace learning and to propose directions for future developments in both research and practice Topics covered include expectations of learning at work into the twenty first century learning theories practice and performance implications the relationship between workplace learning and other forms of lifelong learning the international developments in competency based approaches to learning and assessment the influence of language power culture and gender upon the construction of learning Topical and informative this volume will be an invaluable resource for students and researchers of training HRD continuing and adult education Work, Subjectivity and Learning Stephen Billett, Tara Fenwick, Margaret Somerville, 2007-06-03 In recent year efforts to understand learning for and throughout working life have moved away from a focus on workplace training to concerns about learning as a component and outcome of engaging in work and work related activities and interactions This shift acknowledges a broader set of workplace factors that shape workers learning and development Yet equally it acknowledges that this learning through engagement is also necessarily shaped by the diverse ways that individuals elect to engage or participate in workplace activities Central here is the issue of individuals subjectivity and how this is shaped by but shapes engagement in work and therefore what learning flows from their participation It is in considering the relations among subjectivity learning and work that it is possible to advance both the conceptual and procedural bases for understanding learning through and for working life Moreover the focus on relations among subjectivity work and learning represents a point of convergence for diverse disciplinary traditions and practices that are provided by the book s contributors In this way the contributions represent something of the emerging perspectives that are elaborating the complex relations among subjectivity work and learning and circumstances in which they are played out

Current Practices in Workplace and Organizational Learning Bente Elkjaer, Maja Marie Lotz, Niels Christian Mossfeldt Nickelsen, 2022-01-01 The central assumption that guides this book is that research and practice about learning at the workplace has recently lost its critical edge This book explores what has happened to workplace learning and organizational learning and studies what has replaced it In addition the book discusses to what extent there are reasons to revitalize it Today themes such as innovation co creation and knowledge sharing seem to have become preferred and referred to as theoretical fields as well as fields of practice In several chapters of this book it is argued that the critical power of learning could be regained by starting a new discussion of how these new fields of practice can be substantiated by topics such as learning arrangements learning mechanisms and learning strategies Hence the aim of this book is to both advance and recapture our knowledge of learning in today s increasingly complex world of work and organizing The contributions in this work do so by revisiting classic research on workplace and organizational learning and discussing how insights from this body of literature evokes new meaning It sets the stage for new agendas and rethinks current practices that are entangled in activities such as innovation co creation knowledge sharing or other currently widespread fields of practice

Valerie K. Otero, 2001 The concepts investigated in this study stemmed from two things First a pilot study where we found that the static electricity simulator results coupled with the CPU pedagogical structure provided facilitated the articulation and sharing of ideas in a small group of three students From this we hypothesized that the simulator tools played a role in knowledge construction and we wanted to find out more about what role it played Second the past ten years of research in mathematics and science education has led to the recognition of the importance of the instructional setting collaboration and cognitive tools in the construction of knowledge A tradition has emerged where researchers have begun to look at the individual's knowledge construction through a different lens than the knowledge that emerges through group interactions From this type of research we can learn about the knowledge construction of the individual and the knowledge construction of the group We can understand how the interactions within the group have influenced the knowledge development of the individual However we cannot learn about how the individual influences the group parameters Repeated interactions between individuals and tools can fundamentally change the social and material setting We need to look at how the social and material setting changes as a result of the individuals interaction with it and how this changing social setting influences the conceptual development of the individual Investigating interdependent interaction between the individual and the social and material setting is the foundation for this work I believe that understanding learning requires more than understanding the individual and understanding the social environment of which he was a part Understanding learning means understanding how the individual changes the social and material setting and how these changes influence the individual This dissertation is devoted to understanding individuals learning the factors that influenced it and further understanding how these factors were determined by the knowledge evolution of the individual

The Catechism Explained Francis Spirago, 1899 This Catechism is divided into three parts The first part treats of faith the second of morals the third of the means of grace In the first part Our Lord appears in His character of Teacher in the second in His character of King and in the third in His character of High Priest And since this Catechism proposes as its primary object to answer the question for what purpose are we here upon earth thereby emphasizing and giving prominence to man's high calling and destiny it is especially suited to the present day when the pursuit of material interests self indulgence and pleasure engrosses the attention of so many This Catechism is in fact nothing more nor less than an abstract of Our Lord's teaching and may be called a guide book for the Christian on the road to heaven Preface
