Uneven Growth Tactical Urbanisms For Expanding:

Uneven Growth Pedro Gadanho, 2014 In 2030 the world's population will be a staggering eight billion people. Of these two thirds will live in cities and most will be poor. With limited resources this uneven growth will be one of the greatest challenges faced by societies across the globe. Over the next years city authorities, urban planners and designers, economists and many others will have to join forces to avoid major social and economical catastrophes, working together to ensure these expanding megacities will remain habitable. To engage this international debate The Museum of Modern Art presents Uneven Growth: Tactical Urbanisms for Expanding Megacities, its third iteration in the Issues in Contemporary Architecture series. Following the same model as the critically acclaimed Rising Currents: Projects for New York's Waterfront and Foreclosed Rehousing the American Dream, Uneven Growth brings together an international group of scholars, practitioners and experts of architecture and urbanism in a series of workshops, an exhibition and a publication to focus on how emergent forms of tactical urbanism can address the increasing inequality of urban development around the globe. Featuring proposals for six global metropolises: New York, Mumbai, Rio de Janeiro, Istanbul, Hong Kong and Lagos, each developed by a team pairing local practitioners with international researchers, Uneven Growth documents the brainstorming sessions and workshops, interviews with each team and essays by leading scholars on the issue, making the publication a rich resource for students and professionals alike and a catalyst for worldwide change.

The Social (Re)Production of Architecture Doina Petrescu, Kim Trogal, 2017-07-14 The Social Re Production of Architecture brings the debates of the right to the city into today's context of ecological, economic and social crises. Building on the 1970s discussions about the production of space which French sociologist Henri Lefebvre considered a civic right, the authors question who has the right to make space and explore the kinds of relations that are produced in the process. In the emerging post capitalist era, this book addresses urgent social and ecological imperatives for change and opens up questions around architecture's engagement with new forms of organization and practice. The book asks what new kinds of social can architecture re produce and what kinds of politics, values and actions are needed. The book features 24 interdisciplinary essays written by leading theorists and practitioners including social thinkers, economic theorists, architects, educators, urban curators, feminists, artists and activists from different generations and global contexts. The essays discuss the diverse global locations with work taking different and specific forms in these different contexts. A cutting edge critical text which rethinks both practice and theory in the light of recent crises, making it key reading for students, academics and practitioners.

The Urbanism of Exception Martin J. Murray, 2017-03-10 This book argues that understanding global urbanism in the twenty first century requires us to cast our gaze upon vast city regions without an urban core.

The Routledge Handbook of Placemaking Cara Courage, Tom Borrup, Maria Rosario Jackson, Kylie Legge, Anita Mckeown, Louise Platt, Jason Schupbach, 2020-12-30 This Handbook is the first to explore the emergent field of placemaking in terms of the recent research, teaching and learning and practice agenda for the next few years Offering valuable theoretical and practical insights from the leading scholars and practitioners in the field it provides cutting edge interdisciplinary research on the placemaking sector Placemaking has seen a paradigmatic shift in urban design planning and policy to engage the community voice This Handbook examines the development of placemaking its emerging theories and its future directions The book is structured in seven distinct sections curated by experts in the areas concerned Section One provides a glimpse at the history and key theories of placemaking and its interpretations by different community sectors Section Two studies the transformative potential of placemaking practice through case studies on different places methodologies and theoretical frameworks It also reveals placemaking s potential to nurture a holistic community engagement social justice and human centric urban environments Section Three looks at the politics of placemaking to consider who is included and who is excluded from its practice and if the concept of placemaking needs to be reconstructed Section Four deals with the scales and scopes of art based placemaking moving from the city to the neighborhood and further to the individual practice It juxtaposes the voice of the practitioner and professional alongside that of the researcher and academic Section Five tackles the socio economic and environmental placemaking issues deemed pertinent to emerge more sustainable placemaking practices Section Six emphasizes placemaking s intersection with urban design and planning sectors and includes case studies of generative planning practice The final seventh section draws on the expertise of placemakers researchers and evaluators to present the key questions today new methods and approaches to evaluation of placemaking in related fields and notions for the future of evaluation practices Each section opens with an introduction to help the reader navigate the text This organization of the book considers the sectors that operate alongside the core placemaking practice This seminal Handbook offers a timely contribution and international perspectives for the growing field of placemaking It will be of interest to academics and students of placemaking urban design urban planning and policy architecture geography cultural studies and the arts

New modes of practice are now emerging in architecture Rural Studio Exyzt Muf Assemble and many more have led the way by challenging conventional ideas of The Architect and reclaiming the notion of architecture as something public that should work ultimately towards the collective good This quiet revolution is born out of a crisis in the profession and a wider vacuum in the political environmental and economic situation On the one hand architecture as a profession has seen its influence diminish rapidly over the last 50 years through privatisation and the dominance of finance while on the other hand it has also lacked collective courage and readiness to evolve Without necessarily being aware of each other studios around the world are now redefining the profession of architecture as something more proactive self aware and political They are broadening their skill sets and becoming deeply involved in their projects initiating them themselves financing them and running them Though much of this work is dealing with local issues at a relatively small scale it is inherently ambitious with global application Contributors include Shumi Bose Indy Johar Alison Killing Douglas Murphy and Finn Williams Featured architects regulation typically is viewed as passive projects proceed when criteria established by ordinances are satisfied but are delayed or scuttled when parameters of building or zoning codes are unmet Insufficient attention is directed by local governments to the economic impacts of any such events The current employment and productivity perils of inner ring suburbs lately dismissed first outskirts of metropolitan areas beg the question if expanding economic opportunity for every community citizen must dominate conversations among zoning administrations Too many first suburbs are in decline their citizens dismayed about their futures and helpless without government intervention This paper describes how their local administrations partnering with developers and citizens must refocus efforts to revitalize inner ring neighborhoods physically while growing job opportunities Deploying familiar and novel land use regulation and related collaborative strategies is one answer calculated to improve the inner city The paper addresses how administrators of planning regimes using dynamic zoning tools can catalyze jobs creation without sacrificing land use s primary goal keeping communities livable and peaceful places
