Estoque, 2017-03-29 This book examines the urban growth trends and patterns of various rapidly growing metropolitan regions in developing Asian and African nations from the perspective of geography State of the art geospatial tools and techniques including geographic information system science and remote sensing were used to facilitate the analysis. In addition to the empirical results, the methodological approaches employed and discussed in this book showcase the potential of geospatial analysis, e.g., land change modeling for improving our understanding of the trends and patterns of urban growth in Asia and Africa. Furthermore, given the complexity of the urban growth process across the world, issues raised in this book will contribute to the improvement of future geospatial analysis of urban growth in the developing regions. This book is written for researchers, academicians, practitioners, and graduate students. The inclusion of the origin and brief history of each of the selected metropolitan regions, including the analysis of their urban primacy, spatiotemporal patterns of urban land use changes, driving forces of urban development, and implications for future sustainable development, makes the book an important reference for various related studies. The Routledge Handbook for Advancing Integration in Mixed Methods Research John H. Hitchcock, Anthony J.

Onwuegbuzie, 2022-05-10 This groundbreaking edited book The Routledge Handbook for Advancing Integration in Mixed Methods Research presents an array of different integration ideas with contributions from scholars across the globe. This handbook represents the first major volume that comprehensively discusses this topic of integration. Perhaps the most fundamental and longstanding question in mixed methods research is: How does one best integrate disparate forms of information to produce the best form of inquiry? Each of the 34 seminal chapters in this handbook accelerates the discussion of integration across a broad range of disciplines, including education, arts-based analyses, and work in the Global South, as well as special topics such as psychometrics and media research. Many of the chapters present new topics that have never been written about before, and all chapters offer cutting-edge approaches to integration. They also offer different perspectives of integration, leading the introductory chapter to offer a new and comprehensive definition for integration as follows: referring to the optimal mixing, combining, blending, amalgamating, incorporating, joining, linking, merging, consolidating, or unifying of research approaches, methodologies, philosophies, methods, techniques, concepts, language, modes, disciplines, fields, and/or teams within a single study. The concluding chapter offers a meta-framework that accounts for this definition and is designed to help scholars think more about integration in a way that represents a continuous, dynamic, iterative, interactive, synergistic, and holistic meaning-making process. This handbook will be an essential reference work for all scholars and practitioners using or seeking to use mixed methods in their research. Sustainable Development Goals for Society Vol. 1

Godwell Nhamo, Muchaiteyi Togo, Kaitano Dube, 2021-06-16 Written by 43 authors from Africa, Europe, and Latin America, this book presents 19 topics addressing poverty in the context of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), leadership in implementing SDGs, and SDGs in service delivery and local government. As the world has gone past five years of implementing the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the intertwined 17 SDGs, new opportunities in research continue to open up. Hence, documenting some of the initiatives put in place around the world regarding the implementation of the SDGs is one of the aims of this publication. With 10 years remaining, the book further enhances the desire to scale up

SDGs implementation The selection of case studies from the selected regions also provides a balance in terms of how the SDGs are being rolled out for economic growth environmental stewardship and social protection The ambition remains even with the challenge brought by the COVID 19 pandemic that preoccupied the whole of 2020 spilling over to 2021 There is no doubt that resources have been diverted but the world must stay on the course to 2030 and beyond Therefore the book is relevant for several stakeholders including the academics development partners government officials and other individuals that are involved in making sure no one is left behind in the lead to 2030

Transforming Teaching and Learning Experiences for Helping Professions in Higher Education ,2023-02-27 Higher education has transformed and continues to transform in this century because of decolonizing the curriculum and the COVID 19 pandemic which have added an indelible mark to the methodology of teaching and learning Learning spaces have become open to more people through privatization massification e learning platforms and internationally mobile academics allowing individuals from diverse backgrounds to enter the academic and helping professions space Educators need to reskill repurpose redesign and reimagine for a world that is rapidly evolving New ways of teaching need to consider nuances of decolonization of the curriculum deep understanding of subjects transformative ways of imparting knowledge and technology enhanced learning needs to be embraced Thus the teaching and learning spaces in developed and developing environments move beyond the classroom to prepare 21st century citizens to embrace life long learning Furthermore the content as well as processes involved in teaching and learning must be explored thoughtfully that includes the perspectives of a more inclusive wave of educators and students Thus this book has implications for a global scholarship specifically during disruptive times in Higher Education It is hoped that the book stimulates reflections so that the reader draws inspiration to find contextual relevance that extends into the real world
