Matthew Henry Jong Hun Joo, 2017-03-31 Jong Hun Joo offers a model of how both solid biblical understanding and effective practice of worship can be realised in churches today by exploring the theology and practice of Matthew Henry 1662-1714. Matthew Henry is one of the most famous biblical commentators in the English speaking world. He was however also a pastor who was liturgical in negotiating the political and religious landmines of his day. This all but overlooked aspect of Henry's biography and writings is both a window into his life and times and an insightful view into the pastoral dimensions of Christian rituals and practices in the home and church. Joo discerns how Henry understood and practised English Presbyterian worship as an example of Reformed worship in his context and suggests how contemporary churches can appropriately develop and articulate their own worship in their own contexts making the case for worship renewal.

Being the Church Edward Rommen, 2017-07-18 If the divine liturgy really is as beautiful as we claim wouldn't more people attend? Wouldn't the church grow? Driven by our desire for growth we count, we analyze, we make charts and we strategize but often with few discernible results. That is probably the result of focusing on secondary aspects of church life. As we know the very existence of a church is a gift of God's presence and not the result of any particular actions taken by human beings. For that reason church is primarily about being something rather than doing or achieving something. So the growth of the church is not reflected in ever increasing numbers, dollars and activities but rather in steadily growing conformity to the divine ideal. So in order to evaluate ecclesial growth we will first have to ask what the church is supposed to be. One answer to that question is captured in the four marks of the church given in the creed: Oneness, Holiness, Catholicity and Apostolicity. These four characteristics serve as a matrix or framework within which we can focus on the primary aspects of ecclesial being and help it grow and become what it was intended to be.
