Abstract

In order to ensure synchronization, decentralization, and democratization of operations as well as the devolution of power, the collegiate system of administration was implemented in the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology (KNUST). It is anticipated that it will assist in the decision-making and execution processes to combat the bureaucratic issues related to the faculty system of administration. The study seeks to evaluate the effectiveness of the collegiate system of administration and the challenges associated with it. The study used a mixed method to solicit data. Data was gathered using a structured questionnaire, interviews (Provost, Deans, Heads of Department, Deputy registrars, Accountants, and Librarians) as well as data from secondary sources. Data from each source were analysed descriptively. The study revealed that the collegiate system had cultivated a strong feeling of engagement, and the system has helped towards academic and administrative leadership that deserves a more concentrated focus, and the style of administration has been successful in increasing the scope of operations in the colleges. Appropriate recommendations have been given to reduce the challenges identified.

Strategic Evaluation of University Knowledge and Technology Transfer Effectiveness, 2013 Academic knowledge and technology transfer has been growing in importance both in academic research and practice A critical question in managing this activity is how to evaluate its effectiveness The literature shows an increasing number of studies done to address this question however it also reveals important gaps that need more research One novel approach is to evaluate the effectiveness of this activity from an organizational point of view which is to measure how much knowledge and technology transfer from a university fulfills the mission of the institution This research develops a Hierarchical Decision Model HDM to measure the contribution values of various knowledge and technology transfer mechanisms to the achievement of the mission The performance values obtained from the university under investigation are applied to the model to develop a Knowledge and Technology Transfer Effectiveness Index for that university The Index helps an academic institution assess the current performance of its knowledge and technology transfer with respect to its mission This robust model also helps decision makers discover areas where the university is performing well or needs to pay more attention In addition the university can benchmark its own performance against its peers in order to set up a roadmap for improvement It is proved that this is the first index in the literature which truly evaluates the effectiveness of university knowledge and technology transfer from an organizational perspective It is also the first method that incorporates hard data of university technology transfer and expert judgments into the evaluation of the effectiveness of the activity Practitioners in the area of academic technology transfer can also apply this evaluation model to quantitatively evaluate the performance of
