The Struggle for Change Marvin T. Chiles, 2023-12-28 A Black majority city with a history of the most severe segregation and inequity Richmond is still grappling with this legacy as it moves into the twenty first century Marvin Chiles now offers a unique take on Richmond's racial politics since the civil rights era by demonstrating that the city's current racial disparities in economic mobility housing and public education actually represent the unintended consequences of Richmond's racial reconciliation measures He deftly weaves municipal politics together with grassroots efforts examining the work and legacies of Richmond's Black leaders from Henry Marsh on the city council in the 1960s to Mayor Levar Stoney to highlight the urban revitalization and public history efforts meant to overcome racial divides after Jim Crow yet which ironically reinforced racial inequality across the city Compellingly written this project carries both local and broader regional significance for Richmonders Virginians southerners and all Americans Race in American Television David J. Leonard, Stephanie Troutman Robbins, 2021-01-26 This two volume encyclopedia explores representations of people of color in American television It includes overview essays on early classic and contemporary television and the challenges for developments related to and participation of minorities on and behind the screen Covering five decades this encyclopedia highlights how race has shaped television and how television has shaped society Offering critical analysis of moments and themes throughout television history Race in American Television shines a spotlight on key artists of color prominent shows and the debates that have defined television since the civil rights movement This book also examines the ways in which television has been a site for both reproduction of stereotypes and resistance to them providing a basis for discussion about racial issues in the United States This set provides a significant resource for students and fans of television alike not only educating but also empowering readers with the necessary tools to consume and watch the small screen and explore its impact on the evolution of racial and ethnic stereotypes in U S culture and beyond Understanding the history of American television contributes to deeper knowledge and potentially helps us to better apprehend the plethora of diverse shows and programs on Netflix Hulu YouTube and other platforms today Refining Prevention: Genetic and Epigenetic Contributions

Steven Beach, Jessica McDermott Sales, 2016-04-11 Currently most prevention efforts are famed as universal interventions However despite the demonstrated efficacy of many prevention programs variability in response is the rule with some participants responding very little and others accounting for the bulk of the positive impact of the program Better understanding the processes associated with better and worse response to prevention is a critical first step in refining and adapting existing programs or alternatively designing new prevention programs with enhanced outcomes Because vulnerabilities to substance use emotional problems risky sexual behavior and other behavioral problems are influenced by a combination of environmental genetic and epigenetic factors mediated in part through psychological processes Kreek et al 2005 Rutter et al 2006 the study of genetic and epigenetic vulnerability and susceptibility factors provides an important starting point for efforts to address this critical need A growing body of research on differential genetic susceptibility indicates that efforts to enhance prevention impact may benefit from consideration of the contribution of individual genetic differences to treatment response Brody et al 2013 In addition the recent expansion of genetic research to include a focus on epigenetic change provides considerable promise for the development of indicated prevention and individually tailored prevention efforts However before this promise can be realized a number of theoretical and practical challenges remain Thus through this special section we propose to provide a foundation for a new era of prevention research in which the principles of prevention science are combined with genomic science In the current special section we will bring together authors to deal with genetic and epigenetically driven processes relevant to depression substance abuse and sexual risk taking Together they will comment on and provide data relevant to assessment research and statistical methods development of biomarkers and implementation strategies with disadvantaged and high risk populations The papers will help to inform the development of a new generation of prevention programs that go beyond universal programs and sensitively target key processes while providing greater precision regarding prediction of population level impact Brody GH Beach SRH Hill KG Howe GW Prado G Fullerton SM 2013 Using genetically informed randomized prevention trials to test etiological hypotheses about child and adolescent drug use and psychopathology American Journal of Public Health 103 Suppl 1 S19 24 Doi 10 2105 AJPH 2012 301080 Kreek MJ Nielsen DA Butelman ER LaForge KS 2005 Genetic influences on impulsivity risk taking stress responsiveness and vulnerability to drug abuse and addiction Nature Neuroscience 8 1450 1457 Rutter M Moffitt TE Caspi A 2006 Gene environment interplay and psychopathology Multiple varieties but real effects Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry 47 226 261
