Veld Management In South Africa:

Veld Management in South Africa Neil Melbourne Tainton, 1999 This text is a synthesis of research in production and management since the inception of the discipline as an agricultural science in the 1930s All the ecological regions are covered extensively but the main emphasis is on the three biomes grassland savanna and karoo which produce the bulk of the forage supporting the domestic livestock conservation and the game farming industries The book has an audience beyond the borders of South Africa in the grassland and savanna areas which stretch through southern and central Africa

Aspects of Veld Management in South Africa and South West Africa D. G. Wilcox, 1977 Veld Management in South Africa. [With a Map.] J. D. SCOTT (M.Sc.), 1947 Wildland Fire Management Handbook for Sub-Sahara Africa Johann Georg Goldammer, Cornelis De Ronde, 2004 Africa is a fire continent Since the early evolution of humanity fire has been harnessed as a land use tool Many ecosystems of Sub Sahara Africa that have been shaped by fire over millennia provide a high carrying capacity for human populations Southern Africa Gwendolen Margaret Carter, 1981 A study of the educational systems of Botswana Lesotho South Africa Southwest Africa Namibia and Swaziland with an addendum on Zimbabwe Rhodesia A guide to the academic placement of students in educational institutions of the United States

Rangelands: A Resource Under Siege P. J. Joss, P. W. Lynch, O. B. Williams, 1986 This volume comprises the proceedings of the Second International Rangelands Congress held in Adelaide Australia in May 1984 and includes some 350 contributions drawn from 43 different countries The Congress addressed the problem of the conflict between land users and the degradation of this valuable resource Some 40% of the Earth's land surface is and or alpine and therefore unsuitable for agricultural cultivation Collectively these lands are known as rangelands and in their natural state they constitute a habitat for grazing animals both domestic and wild Despite their low productivity rangelands have been used for thousands of years as a source of food and fibre but other uses such as mining tourism recreation and conservation are exerting increasing demands The result is often conflict between land users and degradation of the resource The National Agricultural Directory 2009, 2009 Pasture Management in South Africa Neil Melbourne Tainton, 2000 Covers the major aspects of pasture production and management This title focusses on species selection pasture establishment fertilizer grazing and forage management and livestock related aspects of nutrient supplementation and feed budgeting It is useful to students and practitioners beyond South Africa's borders Management of Semi-Arid Ecosystems B.H. Walker, 2012-12-02 Extensive regions of the world have a climate which whilst permitting development of a continuous vegetative cover is too dry for successful annual cropping These are the semi arid areas where land use is based on the natural vegetation Easily degraded and difficult to maintain they are under increasing pressure as expanding human populations move in and endeavour to force a living from them As a result they contain some of the worst examples of resource degradation This book examines the problems and opportunities involved in man's use of semi arid areas The authors are all actively involved in research and land management in the areas discussed Each chapter begins with a detailed up to date account of the ecology of the region its climate soils vegetation fauna and main ecological characteristics This is followed by a history of land use problems involved in its management a review of current research and recommended land use practices The common features of semi arid ecosystems are brought together in a final section

Vegetation science applications for rangeland analysis and management P.T. Tueller,2012-12-06 Natural grasslands pastures and meadows are among the vegetation types most frequently investigated with phytosociological methods This was one of the reasons why volume 13 Application of vegetation science to grassland husbandry and agriculture edited by W Krause appeared as one of the first volumes of this handbook It appeared under the chief editorship of Prof R Tiixen and in his time main emphasis of the handbook was placed on Ziirich Montpellier methods and the European vegetation When we redesigned the handbook we felt the need to include other methods and aims of grassland analyses as well as a more global coverage of grasslands Especially the natural dry and semidry areas of the world needed to be covered was very fortunate in getting Prof Tueller of the University of Reno I Nevada as an editor for this volume He and the colleagues he motivated to compile volume 14 on Application of vegetation science to rangeland analysis and management have created a truly global coverage of the topics interesting for vegetation analyses in natural grasslands Since volume 13 covered the problems of anthropogenically created grasslands this topic was not expressly treated in order to avoid duplication For the same reason no specific attempt was made to get more papers from Europe and the temperate forest region in general The cooperation with Dr Tueller has been very rewarding for me

Ecological Effects of Fire in South African Ecosystems P. de V. Booysen,N. M. Tainton,2012-12-06 This is a stimulating tale of the interplay of observation experimentation working hypotheses tentative conclusions niggling and weightier doubts and great aspirations on the part of some score of students on varied ecological and other aspects of the regime and role of fire in relevant biomes and ecosystem mainly in South Africa and on other pertinent features of fire ecology The impressive contents is a tribute to conveners and authors alike One can expect a profound range and depth of investigation and interpretation a closeknit fabric of knowledge delicately interwoven with wisdom an exposition and quintessence of information Admipable is the collective vision responsible for selecting appropriate topics the wide sweeps of the brush picturing the nature of the biomes ably describing the fire regimes whether in grassland savanna fynbos or forest skillfully defining the effects of such regimes according to ecosystem upon aerial and edaphic factors of the habitat upon constituent biota individually specifically and as a biotic community elucidating the basic implications in the structure and dynamics of the plant aspect of that community and unravelling to some degree the tangled knot of the conservation and dissipation of moisture and nutrients Moreover gratitude is owed for efforts exerted to understand the interplay of fire and faunal behaviour and dynamics as well as composition together with the principle of adaptive responses of organisms of diverse kinds

Ecology of Tropical Savannas B. J. Huntley,B. H. Walker,2012-12-06 Land Use Change and Mountain

Biodiversity Eva M. Spehn,Maximo Liberman,Christian Korner,2006-01-13 Part of the worldwide biodiversity program DIVERSITAS the Global Mountain Biodiversity Assessment GMBA assesses the biological richness of high elevation biota GMBA s focus includes the uppermost forest regions or their substitute rangeland vegetation the treeline ecotone and the alpine and nival belts Providing more than description the GM

Grasslands of the World Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2005-01-01 This book brings together information on the contrasting characteristics condition present use and problems of the world s main natural grasslands Since grassland is commercialized through the grazing animal particular attention is paid to the livestock production systems associated with each main type Grazing resources are more than simply edible herbage many other factors have to be taken into account notably water in all areas and shelter in winter cold climates Seasonality of forage supply is a characteristic of almost all grazing lands so the strategies for dealing with lean seasons are described The main problems of each type are mentioned and possible strategies for their sustainable management discussed taking into account their multiple functions not only livestock production The book is primarily aimed at agricultural scientists educationalists extensionists and decision makers with interests in responsible use of extensive grasslands

A Scientific Bibliography of the Drakensberg, Maloti and Adjacent Lowlands Rodney Moffett,2021-04-19 This bibliography includes scientific articles on the Drakensberg Maloti and Adjacent Lowlands published between 1808 and 2019 Although focusing on material appearing in accredited journals there is such a wealth of information in the form of unpublished yet traceable reports documents presentations and dissertations these are also included The bibliography has two parts a complete list arranged alphabetically and the same references arranged in 33 different disciplines These range from Palaeobotany with 17 entries to Rock Art with 502 entries

Impact of Agriculture on Soil Degradation I Paulo Pereira,Miriam Muñoz-Rojas,Igor Bogunovic,Wenwu Zhao,2023-05-11 This is the first of two volumes that together provide a global overview of the impact of agriculture on soil degradation tracing the most critical drivers like the use and abuse of agrochemicals mechanization overgrazing irrigation slash and burn agriculture and the use of plastics This book covers the main effects of agriculture practices on soil degradation in several countries from Africa America Asia and Oceania and it elucidates the impact of chemical agents on soil quality namely the use of fertilizers herbicides pesticides soil acidification and microplastics pollution In these continents a large number of the population depend on agriculture which sets an enormous pressure on the ecosystems Divided into 13 chapters the book offers authoritative contributions about the fundamental soil degradation problems in countries such as Argentina Australia Peru and Bolivia Brazil Chile China Colombia India Israel Kenya Mexico South Africa the United States of America As soil degradation issues are often linked with biodiversity loss and poverty readers will also find in this book an important discussion of the different social economic political and environmental aspects contributing to soil quality and sustainable management Given the breadth and depth of its coverage the book offers an invaluable source of information for researchers students environmental managers and policymakers alike Bibliography of Agriculture ,1971 Adaptive Herbivore Ecology R. Norman Owen-Smith,2002-06-27 A unique monograph describing plant herbivore interactions in the context of large African herbivorous mammals Landscape Evolution Kerry Gallagher,Stuart J. Jones,John Wainwright,2008 The morphology of Earth s surface reflects the interaction of climate tectonics and denudational processes operating over a wide range of spatial and temporal scales These processes can be considered catastrophic or continuous depending on the timescale of observation or interest Recent research had required integration of historically distinct subjects such as geomorphology sedimentology climatology and tectonics Together these have provided new insights into absolute and relative rates of denudation and the factors that control the many dynamic processes involved Specific subject areas covered are sediment transport processes and the timescales of competing processes the role of the geological record and landscapes in constraining different processes the nature of landscape evolution at different spatial scales and in contrasting geological environments
