Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World (2 Vol. Set) Susan Sinclair, C. H. Bleaney, Pablo García Suárez, 2012 Following the tradition and style of the acclaimed Index Islamicus the editors have created this new Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World The editors have surveyed and annotated a wide range of books and articles from collected volumes and journals published in all European languages except Turkish between 1906 and 2011 This comprehensive bibliography is an indispensable tool for everyone involved in the study of material culture in Muslim societies "The Turk and Islam in the Western Eye, 1450-1750" James G. Harper, 2017-07-05 Unprecedented in its range extending from Venice to the New World and from the Holy Roman Empire to the Ottoman Empire this collection probes the place that the Ottoman Turks occupied in the Western imagination and the ways in which this occupation expressed itself in the visual arts Individual essays in this volume examine specific images or groups of images problematizing the truths they present and analyzing the contexts that shape the presentation of Ottoman or Islamic subject matter in European art The contributors trace the transmission of early modern images and representations across national boundaries and across centuries to show how through processes of translation that often involved multiple stages the figure of the Turk and by extension that of the Muslim underwent a multiplicity of interpretations that reflect and reveal Western needs anxieties and agendas The essays reveal how anachronisms and inaccuracies mingled with careful detail to produce a Turk a figure which became a presence to reckon with in painting sculpture tapestry and printmaking Looking for Marco

The Land between Two Seas: Art on the Move in the Mediterranean and the Black Sea 1300-1700 Alina

Payne, 2022-06-20 The Land Between Two Seas Art on the Move in the Mediterranean and the Black Sea 1300 1700 focuses on the strong riverine ties that connect the seas of the Mediterranean system from the Western Mediterranean through the Sea of Marmara the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov and their hinterland Addressing the mediating role of the Balkans between East and West all the way to Poland and Lithuania as well as this region's contribution to the larger Mediterranean artistic and cultural melting pot this innovative volume explores ideas artworks and stories that moved through these territories linking the cultures of Central Asia with those of western Europe Who Owns Antiquity? James

Cuno, 2010-10-18 Whether antiquities should be returned to the countries where they were found is one of the most urgent and controversial issues in the art world today and it has pitted museums private collectors and dealers against source countries archaeologists and academics Maintaining that the acquisition of undocumented antiquities by museums encourages the looting of archaeological sites countries such as Italy Greece Egypt Turkey and China have claimed ancient artifacts as state property called for their return from museums around the world and passed laws against their future export But in Who Owns Antiquity one of the world's leading museum directors vigorously challenges this nationalistic position arguing that it is damaging and often disingenuous Antiquities James Cuno argues are the cultural property of all humankind evidence of the world's ancient past and not that of a particular modern nation They comprise antiquity and antiquity knows no borders Cuno argues that nationalistic retention and reclamation policies impede common access to this common heritage and encourage a dubious and dangerous politicization of antiquities and of culture itself Antiquities need to be protected from looting but also from nationalistic identity politics To do this Cuno calls for measures to broaden rather than restrict international access to antiquities He advocates restoration of the system under which source countries would share newly discovered artifacts in exchange for archaeological help and he argues that museums should again be allowed reasonable ways to acquire undocumented antiquities Cuno explains how partage broadened access to our ancient heritage and helped create national museums in Cairo Baghdad and Kabul The first extended defense of the side of museums in the struggle over antiquities Who Owns Antiquity is sure to be as important as it is controversial Some images inside the book are unavailable due to digital copyright restrictions

Dürer's Knots Susan Dackerman, 2024-09-10 An important new examination of Islamic themes in the art of Albrecht Dürer Albrecht Dürer's depictions of Muslim figures and subjects are considered by many to be among his most perplexing images This confusion arises from the assumption that the artist and his northern European contemporaries regarded the Muslim Levant as an exotic faraway land inhabited by hostile adversaries not a region of neighboring empires affiliated through political and mercantile networks Susan Dackerman casts Dürer's art in an entirely new light focusing on prints that portray cooperation between the Muslim and Christian worlds rather than conflict and war enabling us to better understand early modern Europe through its visual culture In this beautifully illustrated book Dackerman provides new readings of three of the artist's most enigmatic print projects Sea Monster Knots and Landscape with Cannon situating them within historical contexts that reflect productive collaborations between Christendom and Islam from the artistic and commercial to the ideological and political Dackerman notes how Gutenberg's development of printing shares an inextricable relationship to the 1453 Ottoman siege of Constantinople While Gutenberg's workshop produced a call to crusade and other publications antagonistic to the Muslim East Dürer's prints she shows instead emphasize instances of affiliation between Christendom and Islam A breathtaking work of scholarship Dürer's Knots shows how the artist's prints of Muslim subjects give expression to the interconnectedness of Christian Europe and the Islamic East

Islam, Christianity and the Making of Czech Identity, 1453-1683 Laura Lisy-Wagner, 2016-05-06 Unlike many narratives about the Czech lands which place them on the periphery of their own history this study considers Czechs as central characters looking both east and west to find their place in the early modern world Islam Christianity and the Making of Czech Identity 1453 1683 works through the descriptive and ethnographic texts produced by Czech speakers about Islam and the Ottoman Empire to show how they used this discourse to create Czech identities Rather than simply constructing identity in opposition to the Islamic Other Laura Lisy-Wagner shows how these authors played the Holy Roman and Ottoman Empires off each other creating an autonomous space for themselves in between Lisy Wagner introduces sources that are new to English language historiography and uses them in a way that is new to Czech historiography as well. The chapters are organized based on different categories of agents: travelers, ethnographers, religious leaders, artists, and political revolutionaries whose voices cast ideas of Europe and Czech identity in the early modern period in a new and different light. The Venetian Discovery of America Elizabeth Horodowich, 2018-09-06

Offering snapshots of mercantile devotion to saints in different regions, this volume is the first to ask explicitly how merchants invoked saints and why. Despite medieval and modern stereotypes of merchants as godless and avaricious, medieval traders were highly devout and rightly so. Overseas trade was dangerous and merchants' commercial activities were seen as jeopardizing their souls. Merchants turned to saints for protection and succor, identifying those most likely to preserve their goods, families, reputations, and souls. The essays in this collection, written from diverse angles, range across later medieval western Europe from Spain to Italy to England and the Hanseatic League. They offer a multi-disciplinary examination of the ways that medieval merchants, from petty traders to influential overseas wholesalers, deployed the cults of saints. Three primary themes are addressed: danger, community, and the unity of spiritual and cultural capital. Each of these themes allows the international panel of contributors to demonstrate the significant role of saints in mercantile life. This book is unique in its exploration of saints and commerce, shedding light on the everyday role religion played in medieval life. As such, it will be of keen interest to scholars of religious history, medieval history, art history, and literature. Gentile Bellini's Portrait of Sultan Mehmed II Elizabeth Rodini, 2020-08-20. In 1479 the Venetian painter Gentile Bellini arrived at the Ottoman court in Istanbul where he produced his celebrated portrait of Sultan Mehmed II. An important moment of cultural diplomacy, this was the first of many intriguing episodes in the picture's history. Elizabeth Rodini traces

Gentile's portrait from Mehmed's court to the Venetian lagoon from the railway stations of war-torn Europe to the walls of London's National Gallery exploring its life as a painting and its afterlife as a famous often puzzling image Rediscovered by the archaeologist Austen Henry Layard at the height of Orientalist outlooks in Britain the picture was also the subject of a lawsuit over what defines a portrait it was claimed by Italians seeking to hold onto national patrimony around 1900 and it starred in a solo exhibition in Istanbul in 1999 Rodini's focused inquiry also ranges broadly considering the nature of historical evidence the shifting status of authenticity and verisimilitude and the contemporary political resonance of Old Master paintings Told as an object biography and imagined as an exploration of art historical methodologies this book situates Gentile's portrait in evolving dialogues between East and West uncovering the many and varied ways that objects construct meaning

Rediscovering Objects from Islamic Lands in Enlightenment Europe Isabelle Dolezalek, Mattia Guidetti, 2021-12-30 This book argues that the provenance of early modern and medieval objects from Islamic lands was largely forgotten until the long eighteenth century when the first efforts were made to reconnect them with the historical contexts in which they were produced For the first time these Islamicate objects were read studied and classified and given a new place in history Freed by scientific interest they were used in new ways and found new homes including in museums More generally the process of rediscovery opened up the prehistory of the discipline of Islamic art history and had a significant impact on conceptions of cultural boundaries differences and identity The book will be of interest to scholars working in the history of art the art of the Islamic world early modern history and art historiography
