Crossing the Great Divide Rod Moss,2019-04-01 The memoirs and paintings that Rod Moss has produced during the last 35 years are unique in their dramatisation of the lives of his trusting Aboriginal family and have been critically acclaimed nationally and internationally In his third memoir we follow the nurturing of the curiosity and openness that has fastened him to the luminous power of Central Australia and its First Peoples From the foothills of Victoria s Dandenong Ranges and his city based art education we are taken to the Mallee where he first embraces the climate most conducive to his wellbeing He returns to the city and is invited to participate in Melbourne s dynamic experimental small school movement A year is spent in the USA studying the teachings of Armenian philosopher George Gurdjieff in a rural community Shenandoah farm setting Travel widens Moss perceptions and continues to pique his curiosity A trip to a Pilbra Indigenous community opens the door on the Aboriginal world that he will spend the rest of his life coming to terms with In Crossing the Great Divide Rod Moss shows the reader through his formative years in 1950s and 1960s Victoria and through young adulthood in the 1970s He weaves his experiences together with sensitivity and a painterly eye Workshop Manual Victa Limited. Victa Mower

Patrick Troy,2008-06-01 Australian cities have traditionally relied for their water on a predict and provide philosophy that gives primacy to big engineering solutions In more recent years privatised water authorities seeking to maximise consumption and profits have reinforced the emphasis on increasing supply Now the cities must cope with the stresses these policies have imposed on the eco systems from which they harvest water into which they discharge wastes and on which they are located Residents are having to pay more for their water while the cities themselves are becoming less sustainable Must we build more dams and desalination plants or should we be managing the demand for urban water more prudently This book explores the demand for urban water and how it has changed in response to shifting social mores over the past century It explains how demand for centralised provision of water might be reshaped to enable the cities to better cope with expected changes in supply as our climate changes And it discusses the implications of property rights in water for proposals to privatise water services Victa Mowers ,1981 Victa Mowers ,1984 Victa Mowers Universal Publishers,1986
