Three Women Of Herat:

Three Women of Herat Veronica Doubleday, 2006-03-31 In the years before the communist coup and the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan Veronica Doubleday set up home in the ancient city of Herat with her husband who was researching Central Asian music At first her only glimpses of women were as shadows faceless and voiceless Gradually however she formed friendships with three young mothers who welcomed her into their lives taught her their customs and music and shared the details of their everyday existence She witnessed their most personal moments the births and deaths of their children their marriages and celebrations religious holidays healings and rituals After the Soviet invasion in 1979 she lost touch with her friends but returned to Herat recently adding another chapter to this poignant story

Women's Writing and Muslim Societies Sharif Gemie, 2012-11-15 Women's Writing and Muslim Societies looks at the rise in works concerning Muslim societies by both western and Muslim women from pioneering female travellers like Freya Stark and Edith Wharton in the early twentieth century whose accounts of the Orient were usually playful and humorous to the present day and such works as Azar Nafisi's Reading Lolita in Tehran and Betty Mahmoody's Not Without My Daughter which present a radically different view of Muslim Societies marked by fear hostility and even disgust The author Sharif Gemie also considers a new range of female Muslim writers whose works suggest a variety of other perspectives that speak of difficult journeys the problems of integration identity crises and the changing nature of Muslim cultures in the process this volume examines varied journeys across cultural political and religious borders discussing the problems faced by female travellers the problems of trans cultural romances and the difficulties of constructing dialogue between enemy camps

Musics Lost and Found Michael Church, 2021 This is the first ever book about song collectors music's unsung heroes They include the Armenian priest who sacrificed his life to preserve the folk music which the Turks were trying to erase in the 1915 Genocide the prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp who secretly noted down the songs of doomed Jewish inmates the British singer who went veiled into Afghanistan to learn record and perform the music the Taliban wanted to silence With globalisation urbanisation and Westernisation causing an irreversible erosion of the world's musical diversity Michael Church suggests we may be seeing folk music's end of history Old forms are dying as the conditions for their survival or replacement disappear the death of villages means the death of village musical culture This ground breaking book is the sequel to the author's award winning The Other Classical Musics and it concludes with an inventory of the musics now under threat or already lost for ever

War, Exile and the Music of Afghanistan John Baily, 2016-09-01 In the 1970s John Baily conducted extensive ethnomusicological research in Afghanistan principally in the city of Herat but also in Kabul Then with Taraki's coup in 1978 came conflict war and the dispersal of many musicians to locations far and wide This new publication is the culmination of Baily's further research on Afghan music over the 35 years that followed This took him to Afghanistan Pakistan Iran the USA Australia and parts of Europe London Hamburg and Dublin Arranged chronologically the narrative traces the sequence of political events from 1978 through the Soviet invasion to the coming of the Taliban and finally the aftermath of the US led invasion in 2001 He examines the effects of the ever changing situation on the lives and works of Afghan musicians following individual musicians in fascinating detail At the heart of his analysis are privileged vignettes of ten musical personalities some of friends and some newly discovered The result is a remarkable personal memoir by an eminent ethnomusicologist known for his deep commitment to Afghanistan Afghan musicians and Afghan musical culture John Baily is also an ethnographic filmmaker Four of his films relating to his research are included on the downloadable resources that accompanies the text Three Women of Herat Veronica Doubleday,1988 The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music Alison Arnold,2017-09-25 In this volume sixty eight of the world s leading authorities explore and describe the wide range of musics of India Pakistan Bangladesh Sri Lanka Kashmir Nepal and Afghanistan Important information about history religion dance theater the visual arts and philosophy as well as their relationship to music is highlighted in seventy six in depth articles Three Women of Herat Veronica Doubleday,2022 Asian Music ,1999 The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music: South Asia : the Indian subcontinent Bruno Nettl,Alison Arnold,Ruth M. Afghan Immigrants in the USA and Germany Maliha Zulfacar,1998 After the breakdown of all hopes in a peaceful settlement between the Afghan war parties many of the refugees who had just returned to their country saw themselves forced to emigrate again But while the first waves of emigrants during the Soviet occupation had been welcomed and had obtained in West Germany political asylum the attitudes in many countries changed drastically to indifference and even to expulsion This indifference in face of the largest national exodus after World War II must be classified as a scandal Author Maliha Zulfacar has engaged her studies to elucidate the social and cultural dimensions of this large diaspora in applying Bourdieu s categories of social and cultural capital as well as that of habitus to the different ways of adaptation to social and cultural conditions in two important countries the US and West Germany In spite of difficult economic conditions Afghans in the US can maintain their kinship links and use them to reinforce their traditional habitus and to improve their material conditions by patterns of solidarity In Germany on the other hand the administrative rigidity which limits economic activities and regional mobility in spite of relatively high public financial inputs the results are negative The social condition of the Afghans is marked by dependence and exclusion Dr Zulfacar s study suggests urgent modifications of the German policy towards refugees in general Notwithstanding the high theory level of her sociological analysis its pragmatic aspect is considerable The empirical results of Zulfacar s investigation reveal the high achievement motivation of the refugees who in their overwhelming majority emigrated just to save their lives This study constitutes a moving appeal to the humanitarian responsibility of the decision makers in industrial societies Afghanistan Edward Girardet,Jonathan Walter,2004 Updated to reflect recent events this guidebook provides a unique and indispensable tool for anyone working and traveling in Afghanistan Specially commissioned articles from leading experts in the field examine Afghanistan s historical legacy and contemporary milieu covering everything from the security situation and the resurgence of the Taliban to two decades of human rights abuses and the current situation of women Street maps for all major cities practical advice on daily survival important contacts and a list of key phrases make this an essential practical resource for any visitor to Afghanistan Detailed information and statistics on key political and humanitarian sectors are included Central Asia Bradley Mayhew,Paul Clammer,Michael Kohn,2004 In 1955 four intrepid Brits set out on a bit of an adventure They planned to drive to London from Kenya in an eight horse power Morris Traveller via the Sahara desert that turned their joyride into a nightmare when their jaunt across the sands ended in a desperate fight for survival This tells their story General Catalogue of the Standard Reading Club in Conjunction with the Booklovers Library ... ,1906 The Muslim World Book Review ,1988
