Regulating Romance Shanti Parikh, 2016-04-11 Drawing on ten years of ethnographic research, two hundred fifty interviews and over three hundred youth love letters, author Shanti Parikh uses lively vignettes to provide a rare window into young people's heterosexual desires and practices in Uganda. In chapters entitled 'Unbreak my heart', 'I miss you like a desert missing rain' and 'You're just playing with my head', she invites readers into the world of secret longings, disappointments and anxieties of young Ugandans as they grapple with everyday difficulties while creatively imagining romantic futures and possibilities. Parikh also examines the unintended consequences of Uganda's aggressive HIV campaigns that thrust sexuality and anxieties about it into the public sphere. In a context of economic precarity and generational tension that constantly complicates young people's notions of consumption-based romance, communities experience the dilemmas of protecting and policing young people from reputational and health dangers of sexual activity. 'They arrested me for loving a school girl' is the title of a chapter on controlling delinquent daughters and punishing defiant boyfriends for attempting to undermine patriarchal authority by asserting their adolescent romantic agency. Sex education programs struggle between risk and pleasure amidst morally charged debates among international donors and community elders transforming the youthful female body into a platform for public critique and concern. The many sides of this research constitute an eloquently executed critical anthropology of intervention.

How to Make Love Six Nights a Week Graham Masterton, 1991-04-03

Flirting with Danger Lynn Phillips, 2000-11-01 How young women make sense of resist and negotiate conflicting messages on female sexuality and sexual agency. In 'Flirting with Danger', Lynn M. Phillips explores how young women make sense of resist and negotiate conflicting cultural messages about sexual agency, responsibility, aggression and desire. How do women develop their ideas about sex, love and domination? Why do they express feminist views condemning male violence in the abstract but often adamantly refuse to name their own violent and exploitive encounters as abuse, rape or victimization? Based on in-depth individual and collective interviews with a racially and culturally diverse sample of college-aged women, 'Flirting with Danger' sheds valuable light on the cultural lenses through which young women interpret their sexual encounters and their experiences of male aggression in heterosexual relationships. Phillips makes an important contribution to the fields of female and adolescent sexuality, feminist theory and feminist method. The volume will also be of particular use to advocates seeking to design prevention and intervention programs which speak to the complex needs of women grappling with questions of sexuality and violence.
