Routledge Revivals: David Rabe (1988) Philip C. Kolin, 2016-11-10 In the twenty years that preceded the publication of this book in 1988 David Rabe was in the vanguard of playwrights who shaped American theatre As the first full length work on Rabe this book laid the groundwork for later critical and biographical studies The first part consists of an essay that covers three sections a short biography a summary and evaluation of his formative journalism for the New Haven Register and a detailed and cohesive stage history of his work The second part presents the most comprehensive and authoritative primary bibliography of Rabe to date with the third section containing a secondary bibliography including a section on biographical studies Second City Television Jeff Robbins, 2014-11-29 This work offers a complete episode guide and comprehensive history of Second City Television The influential Canadian sketch comedy series created dozens of memorable characters i.e. station president Guy Caballero and showbiz mogul Johnny LaRue and featured well known performers such as John Candy Catherine O'Hara and Martin Short at the height of their comedic careers Presenting a thorough summary and review for each of SCTV's 135 episodes the author traces the initial appearance and evolution of some of comedy's best known television characters and sketches Two appendices provide guides to the program's compilation shows and recently released boxed sets on DVD Time in Television Narrative Melissa Ames, 2012-08 This collection analyzes twenty first century American television programs that rely upon temporal and narrative experimentation These shows play with time slowing it down to unfold the narrative through time retardation and compression They disrupt the chronological flow of time itself using flashbacks and insisting that viewers be able to situate themselves in both the present and the past narrative threads Although temporal play has existed on the small screen prior to the new millennium never before has narrative time been so freely adapted in mainstream television The essayists offer explanations for not only the frequency of time play in contemporary programming but the implications of its sometimes disorienting presence Drawing upon the fields of cultural studies television scholarship and literary studies as well as overarching theories concerning postmodernity and narratology Time in Television Narrative offers some critical suggestions The increasing number of television programs concerned with time may stem from any and all of the following recent scientific approaches to quantum physics and temporality new conceptions of history and posthistory or trends in late capitalistic production and consumption in the new culture of instantaneity or in the recent trauma culture amplified after the September 11 attacks In short these televisual time experiments may very well be an aesthetic response to the climate from which they derive These essays analyze both ends of this continuum and also attend to another crucial variable the television viewer watching this new temporal play
