Keller, Michael Carolan, Michael M. Bell, 2020-12-03 The Cambridge Handbook of Environmental Sociology is a go to resource for cutting edge research in the field This two volume work covers the rich theoretic foundations of the sub discipline as well as novel approaches and emerging areas of research that add vitality and momentum to the discipline Over the course of sixty chapters the authors featured in this work reach new levels of theoretical depth incorporating a global scope and diversity of cases This book explores the broad scope of crucial disciplinary ideas and areas of research extending its investigation to the trajectories of thought that led to their unfolding This unique work serves as an invaluable tool for all those working in the nexus of environment and society Handbook of Environmental Sociology Beth Schaefer Caniglia, Andrew Jorgenson, Stephanie A. Malin, Lori Peek, David N. Pellow, Xiaorui Huang, 2021-11-01 This handbook defines the contours of environmental sociology and invites readers to push boundaries in their exploration of this important subdiscipline It offers a comprehensive overview of the evolution of environmental sociology and its role in this era of intensified national and global environmental crises Its timely frameworks and high impact chapters will assist in navigating this moment of great environmental inequality and uncertainty The handbook brings together an outstanding group of scholars who have helped redefine the scope of environmental sociology and expand its reach and impact Their contributions speak to key themes of the subdiscipline inequality justice population social movements and health Chapter topics include environmental demography food systems animals and the environment climate change disasters and much more The emphasis on public environmental sociology and the forward thinking approach of this collection is what sets this volume apart This handbook can serve as an introduction for students new to environmental sociology or as an insightful treatment that current experts can use to further their own research and publication It will leave readers with a strong understanding of environmental sociology and the motivation to apply it to their work

Elgar Encyclopedia of Environmental Sociology Christine Overdevest, 2024-04-12 The Elgar Encyclopedia of Environmental Sociology serves as a repository of insight on the complex interactions challenges and potential solutions that characterize our shared ecological reality Presenting innovative thinking on a comprehensive range of topics expert scholars researchers and practitioners illuminate the nuances complexities and diverse perspectives that define the continually evolving field of environmental sociology

Environmental Sociology and Social Transformation Magnus Boström, Rolf Lidskog, 2024-06-07 Environmental Sociology and Social Transformation demonstrates how sociological theory and research are critical for understanding the social drivers of global environmental destruction and the conditions for transformative change Written by two professors of sociology who are deeply involved in the international community of environmental sociology Magnus Boström and Rolf Lidskog argue that we need to better understand society as well as the fundamentally social nature of environmental problems and how they can be addressed The authors provide answers to why so many unsustainable practices are maintained and supported by institutions and actors despite widespread knowledge of their negative consequences Employing a pluralistic sociological approach to the study of social transformations the book is divided into five key themes Causes Distributions Understandings Barriers and Transformation Overall the book offers an integrative and comprehensive understanding of the social dimension of unsustainability societal inertia and conditions for transformative change It provides the reader with references from classic and contemporary sociology and uses pedagogical features including boxes and questions for discussion to help embed learning Arguing that a broad and deep social transformation is needed to avoid a global civilization crisis Environmental Sociology and Social Transformation will be a great resource for students and scholars who are exploring current environmental challenges and the societal conditions for meeting them

Handbook on Inequality and the Environment Michael A. Long, Michael J. Lynch, Paul B. Stretesky, 2023-06-01 This innovative Handbook provides a comprehensive treatment of the complex relationship between inequality and the environment and illustrates the myriad ways in which they intersect Featuring over 30 contributions from leading experts in the field it explores the ways in which inequality impacts three of the most pressing contemporary environmental issues climate change natural resource extraction and food insecurity Twenty Lessons in the Sociology of Food and Agriculture Jason Konefal,Maki Hatanaka,2019

Twenty Lessons in the Sociology of Food and Agriculture examines food and agriculture from farm to fork using a sociological lens Following the Lessons format the book presents twenty sociological lessons on food and agriculture from both established and up and coming scholars Each lesson is written in an accessible and engaging format incorporates historical and contemporary topics and examples and discusses hot button issues wherever relevant The book draws primarily on cases and issues in the United States but given the global character of food and agriculture it also incorporates relevant examples from other countries Handbook of Teaching and Learning in Sociology Sergio A. Cabrera,Stephen

Sweet,2023-01-20 Showcasing advanced research from over 30 expert sociologists this dynamic Handbook explores a wide range of cutting edge developments in scholarship on teaching and learning in sociology It presents instructors with a comprehensive companion on how to achieve excellence in teaching both in individual courses and across the undergraduate sociology curriculum Building Something Better Stephanie A. Malin,Meghan Elizabeth Kallman,2022-04-15 As the turmoil of interlinked crises unfolds across the world from climate change to growing inequality to the rise of authoritarian governments social scientists examine what is happening and why Can communities devise alternatives to the systems that are doing so much harm to the planet and people Sociologists Stephanie A Malin and Meghan Elizabeth Kallman offer a clear accessible volume that demonstrates the ways that communities adapt in the face of crises and explains that sociology can help us understand how and why they do this challenging work Tackling neoliberalism head on these communities are making big changes by crafting distributive and regenerative systems that depart from capitalist approaches The vivid case studies presented range from activist water protectors to hemp farmers to renewable energy cooperatives led by Indigenous peoples and nations Alongside these studies Malin and Kallman present incisive critiques of colonialism extractive capitalism and neoliberalism while demonstrating how sociology s own disciplinary traditions have been complicit with those ideologies and must expand beyond them Showing that it is possible to challenge social inequality and environmental degradation by refusing to continue business as usual Building Something Better offers both a call to action and a dose of hope in a time of crises Experts and Campaigners Mercedes Martínez-Iglesias,2014-07-14 The papers assembled in this volume should enable readers to understand what too many people today insistently misperceive Environmental protection is not just a special interest It is an essential task for everyone This book brings together texts by social scientists from the United States France and Spain Their common frame of reference is the dialectic between experts and activists in socio environmental movements as well as the concern about changes both cognitive and political arising in that context Food Systems Governance Amanda Kennedy,Jonathan Liljeblad,2016-04-28 Sustainability and food production represent a major challenge to society with both consumption and supply sides posing practical and ethical dilemmas This book shows that food governance issues can occur in many ways and at many points along the food chain The risks and impacts particularly with the increasing globalisation of food systems are often distributed in unequal ways It is the role of law to form the pivot around which these issues are addressed in society in the form of food governance mechanisms The chapters in this book address a range of issues in food governance revolving around questions of justice fairness equality and human rights They identify different issues regarding inequality in access and control over food governance Some address generic governance and institutional issues across a range of international contexts while others present case studies including from Argentina China India Indonesia Thailand UK and West Africa The book offers directions for reform of the law and legal institutions to mitigate the dangers of inequality and promote greater fairness in food governance

Transnational Environmental Crime Rob White, 2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age

Ecuador's Environmental Revolutions Tammy L. Lewis, 2016-03-04 An account of the movement for sustainable development in Ecuador through four eras movement origins neoliberal boom neoliberal bust and citizens revolution Ecuador is biologically diverse petroleum rich and economically poor Its extraordinary biodiversity has attracted attention and funding from such transnational environmental organizations as Conservation International the World Wildlife Fund and the United States Agency for International Development In Ecuador itself there are more than 200 environmental groups dedicated to sustainable development and the country's 2008 constitution grants constitutional rights to nature The current leftist government is committed both to lifting its people out of poverty and pursuing sustainable development but petroleum extraction is Ecuador's leading source of revenue While extraction generates economic growth which supports the state's social welfare agenda it also causes environmental destruction Given these competing concerns will Ecuador be able to achieve sustainability In this book Tammy Lewis examines the movement for sustainable development in Ecuador through four eras movement origins 1978 to 1987 neoliberal boom 1987 to 2000 neoliberal bust 2000 to 2006 and citizens revolution 2006 to 2015 Lewis presents a typology of Ecuador's environmental organizations ecoimperialists transnational environmentalists from other countries ecodependents national groups that partner with transnational groups and ecoresisters home grown environmentalists who reject the dominant development paradigm She examines the interplay of transnational funding the Ecuadorian environmental movement and the state's environmental and development policies

Along the way addressing literatures in environmental sociology social movements and development studies she explores what configuration of forces political economic and environmental is most likely to lead to a sustainable balance between the social system and the ecosystem

Nature is a Battlefield Razmig Keucheyan, 2016-09-26 In the midst of the current ecological crisis there is often lofty talk of the need for humanity to overcome its divisions and work together to tackle the big challenges of our time But as this new book by Razmig Keucheyan shows the real picture is very different Just take the case of the siting of toxic waste landfills in the United States if you want to know where waste is most likely to be dumped ask yourself where Blacks Hispanics Native Americans and other racial minorities live and where the poorest neighbourhoods are This kind of environmental racism is by no means restricted to the United States it is very much a global phenomenon Keucheyan show how the capitalist response to the crisis has been marked by a massive expansion in environmental finance From carbon markets to pollution permits climate derivatives and catastrophe bonds we are seeing a proliferation of nature related financial products Instead of tackling the root of the problem the neoliberal strategy seeks to profit from environmental risks Moreover with the rise in natural disasters resource scarcity food crises the destabilization of the poles and oceans and the prospect of tens of millions of climate refugees Western powers are increasingly adopting a military response to ecological problems The Cold War is over welcome to the green wars From New Orleans to the Siachen glacier via the Arctic floes Keucheyan explores the landmark sites of this new climate geostrategy Through a sharp critique of the way capitalism responds to environmental disaster this innovative book provides a fresh perspective on some of the most critical issues confronting our societies today

Fractured Communities Anthony E. Ladd, 2018-03-23 While environmental disputes and conflicts over fossil fuel extraction have grown in recent years few issues have been as contentious in the twenty first century as those surrounding the impacts of unconventional natural gas and oil development using hydraulic drilling and fracturing techniques more commonly known as fracking on local communities In Fractured Communities Anthony E Ladd and other leading environmental sociologists present a set of crucial case studies analyzing the differential risk perceptions socio environmental impacts and mobilization of citizen protest or quiescence surrounding unconventional energy development and hydraulic fracking in a number of key U S shale regions Fractured Communities reveals how this contested terrain is expanding pushing the issue of fracking into the mainstream of the American political arena

Green Culture Kevin Wehr, 2011-06-28 This volume provides an overview of the many ways in which culture cross cuts everyday ecological practices The entries focus on the ways in which environmentalism is portrayed in the media and how ecological communication happens Through its 150 signed entries this work provides readers with photos cross references and a resource guide

Ecofamilism: Women, Religion, and Environmental Protection in Taiwan Wan-Li Ho, 2016 Ecofamilism proposes a new analytical framework moving beyond ecofeminism based on Western feminism and Christian theology to illuminate Taiwanese women s motivations and how they understand their role in the environmental movement Based on extensive interviews with women founders leaders and members of six non governmental often religious based organizations from 1990 2015 the work presents contemporary issues in Taiwan from the perspectives of social anthropology geography inter religious cooperation and global ethics Ecofamilism offers a new way of approaching life in contemporary Asia engaging more precisely with while authentically portraying the experiences of Taiwanese women whose gender roles are ancillary to motivations of family religion and society Its key concept of ecofamilism pairs the notions of ecology and family while drawing on Chinese religio cultural traditions of responsibility to the family to illuminate ecologically responsible positions toward society environment and all living beings Divided Bodies Abigail A.

Dumes,2020-08-24 While many doctors claim that Lyme disease a tick borne bacterial infection is easily diagnosed and treated other doctors and the patients they care for argue that it can persist beyond standard antibiotic treatment in the form of chronic Lyme disease In Divided Bodies Abigail A Dumes offers an ethnographic exploration of the Lyme disease controversy that sheds light on the relationship between contested illness and evidence based medicine in the United States Drawing on fieldwork among Lyme patients doctors and scientists Dumes formulates the notion of divided bodies she argues that contested illnesses are disorders characterized by the division of bodies of thought in which the patient s experience is often in conflict with how it is perceived Dumes also shows how evidence based medicine has paradoxically amplified differences in practice and opinion by providing a platform of legitimacy on which interested parties patients doctors scientists politicians can make claims to medical truth
