Undertaking Discourse Analysis For Social Research:

Undertaking Discourse Analysis for Social Research Kevin C. Dunn, Iver B. Neumann, 2016-03-03 Kevin C Dunn and Iver B Neumann offer a concise accessible introduction to discourse analysis in the social sciences A vital resource for students and scholars alike Undertaking Discourse Analysis for Social Research combines a theoretical and conceptual review with a how to guide for using the method In the first part of the book the authors discuss the development of discourse analysis as a research method and identify the main theoretical elements and epistemological assumptions that have led to its emergence as one of the primary qualitative methods of analysis in contemporary scholarship Then drawing from a wide range of examples of social science scholarship Dunn and Neumann provide an indispensable guide to the variety of ways discourse analysis has been used They delve into what is gained by using this approach and demonstrate how one actually applies it They cover such important issues as research prerequisites how one conceives of a research question what counts as evidence how one reads the data and some common obstacles and pitfalls The result is a clear and accessible manual for successfully implementing discourse analysis in social research Research Methods in Critical Security Studies Mark B. Salter, Can E. Mutlu, Philippe M. Frowd, 2023-05-12 This textbook surveys new and emergent methods for doing research in critical security studies filling a gap in the literature The second edition has been revised and updated This textbook is a practical guide to research design in this increasingly established field Arguing for serious attention to questions of research design and method the book develops accessible scholarly overviews of key methods used across critical security studies such as ethnography discourse analysis materiality and corporeal methods It draws on prominent examples of each method s objects of analysis relevant data and forms of data collection The book s defining feature is the collection of diverse accounts of research design from scholars working within each method each of which is a clear and honest recounting of a specific project s design and development This second edition is extensively revised and expanded Its 33 contributors reflect the sheer diversity of critical security studies today representing various career stages scholarly interests and identities This book is systematic in its approach to research design but keeps a reflexive and pluralist approach to the question of methods and how they can be used The second edition has a new forward looking conclusion examining future research trends and challenges for the field This book will be essential reading for upper level students and researchers in the field of critical security studies and of much interest to students in International Relations and across the social sciences Freedom of the Seas and US Foreign Policy Connor Donahue, 2024-04-05 This book critically analyzes US political military strategy by arguing that freedom of the seas discourse is fundamentally unfit for an era of maritime great power competition The work conducts a genealogical intellectual history of freedom of the seas discourse in US foreign policy to show how the concept has evolved over time to facilitate American control over the global ocean space It concludes that the contemporary discourse works to establish the high seas as an arena free from claims of sovereignty so that the United States as the presumed unrivaled naval power can intervene globally on behalf of its national interests. However, since sea control strategies depend on a preponderance of material force as the United States wanes in relative material capability, it becomes less able to support political military strategies predicated on the assumption of global naval dominance. The book provides a timely commentary on the current geopolitical competition between the United States and China and critiques the US approach toward China in the maritime domain in order to highlight potential avenues of foreign policy action that may enable the two countries to mitigate the risk of conflict. This book will be of much interest to students of naval history, maritime security, US foreign policy, and international relations.

Historical Memory and Foreign Policy Lina

Klymenko, Marco Siddi, 2022-10-13 This book explores the uses of the past in foreign policy making. It outlines why and how political leaders refer to historical events in contemporary foreign policy discourses, the goals they hope to achieve, and the sometimes unintended foreign policy consequences of their abuse of historical memory. Furthermore, it looks at how political leaders shape domestic collective memories in pursuit of their international agendas and highlight historical events leaders forget, reinterpret, or obscure through selective narratives. The chapters explore a variety of theoretical concepts that shed light on how memory and foreign policy are linked in a complex and reciprocal way. The following mechanisms are discussed: the application of historical analogies, the construction of historical narratives, the creation of memory sites, the marginalisation and forgetting of the past, and the securitisation of historical memory. Through the use of a number of methodological approaches such as discourse analysis, narrative analysis, and content analysis of securitising moves, and a broad range of qualitative and quantitative data (newspaper articles, policy documents, commemorative speeches, interviews with policymakers, and the observation of memory sites), the contributions highlight the interdependence of the international, national, regional, and local dimensions of memory practices and history writing. Although they mostly focus on national case studies of foreign policy making, they also reveal how representations of historical events evolve through interaction between political actors at the international level of analysis. The collection originated in the section entitled 'Exploring the Link between Historical Memory and Foreign Policy' at the annual Pan-European Conference of the European International Studies Association (EISA) 2018 held in Prague, the Czech Republic.

International Relations' Last Synthesis? J. Samuel

Barkin, Laura Sjöberg, 2019-02-12 Many scholars intentionally or unintentionally have entangled constructivism and critical theories in problematic ways, either by assigning a critical theoretical politics to constructivism or by assuming the appropriateness of constructivist epistemology and methods for critical theorizing IR. 'Last Synthesis' makes the argument that these connections mirror IR's grand theoretical syntheses of the 1980s and 1990s and have similar constraining effects on the possibilities of IR theory. They have been made without adequate reflection in contradiction to the basic assumptions of each theoretical perspective and to the detriment of both knowledge accumulation about global politics and theoretical rigor in disciplinary IR. By rejecting its over-simple syntheses, this book hews a road toward reviving IR theorizing.

The European Union and Its Eastern Neighbourhood Andriy Tyushka, Tobias Schumacher, 2021-11-29 This edited volume brings together some of the most important scholarly perspectives in the form of both journal article reprints and original contributions on the structure and dynamics of the EU's multi-layered relations with its Eastern neighbours within the Eastern Partnership EaP framework and beyond In May 2019 the EU's EaP an ambitious and sophisticated policy framework conjoining elements of cooperation and integration with the EU's six eastern neighbours i.e. Ukraine Belarus Moldova Georgia Armenia and Azerbaijan turned ten years This anniversary in conjunction with repeatedly voiced critique by scholars and policy makers alike regarding the framework's effectiveness and utility led the EU to submit the EaP to a fundamental auditing and revision Structured around both enduring and emerging issues in the broader EU Eastern neighbourhood framework this book provides a retrospective analysis of key structural and relational challenges unfolding regional dynamics distinctive forms of bilateral multilateral engagement whilst also offering a critical perspective on the contested future relations between the EU and its Eastern neighbours Looking backwards and providing a critical and thorough assessment of the first ten years of the EaP in practice this book thinks forward and gauges its many potential future avenues This comes at a crucial moment as the EU and its six Eastern neighbours are in search of new and mutually acceptable forms of association

Qualitative Research Methods in Human Geography Iain Hay, 2005 This book offers a comprehensive accessible and practical guide on how to conduct qualitative research in human geography Enhanced and greatly expanded by nine new chapters the latest edition shows students how to plan conduct interpret and communicate qualitative research

Social Constructionism in Housing Research Keith Jacobs, Jim Kemeny, Tony Manzi, 2004 By stressing the importance of subjectivity and interpretation social constructionism offers a different conception of reality from the traditional approach to housing policy analysis This book provides an up to date review of the social constructionist perspective and considers its philosophical basis It discusses how social problems are constructed and in turn how this informs policy making It is divided into two parts The first section is theoretical and discusses the variety of conceptual approaches utilised within the constructionist paradigm The second part provides a number of empirically based case studies from the UK and Australia to illustrate the different methodologies that form the social constructionist corpus The book also evaluates both the criticisms that have been made against the social constructionist perspective and the strengths and weaknesses of constructionist methods It therefore contributes to the development of a future research agenda for social constructionist research in housing and urban policy
