Unitra Forms For Application:

New Forms of Work Organization in Europe Peter Grootings, Bjørn Gustavsen, Lajos Hécthy, A remarkable development in the sociology of work in recent years has been the explosion of brilliant cross national and cross cultural studies in Europe examining the conditions of labor against the background of different economic systems and differences within each of the major free market mixed welfare and planned economic systems that dot the European landscape In Vienna and Budapest in particular a group of intellectual workers have gotten together for what can only be described as breakthrough studies in the conditions and purposes of work in post industrial society The question of new forms of work organization focuses on job satisfaction participatory democracy in the work place levels of productivity and issues of health and safety in the occupational environment That these elements are important have long been known But what this collection of studies emphasizes is the specific mix that produced specific outcomes It does not shy away from dangerous and tough questions worker control and control of workers political participation in contexts of authoritarian regimes and personal rewards in contexts that once frowned upon private acquisition of capital The volume is rich in empirical studies and draws the theoretical implications that can and already have had vast policy consequences for workers in the modern context Issues relating to job rotation enrichment enlargement and autonomy and others related to new forms of organization starting with the shop floor and extending throughout the management of the enterprise as a whole are dealt with candidly The social character of labor long frowned upon as a mechanism for evading bread and butter issues is now recognized East and West as a dimension of concern that is growing precisely as the size and character of the labor sector is diminishing This is must reading for those interested in new forms of social and policy synthesis and ways of meliorating competing claims of different sectors in modern societies

Technological Innovation, Modernity, and Electric Goods in Late State Socialist Poland Patryk Wasiak, 2023-12-15 Technological Innovation Modernity and Electric Goods in Late State Socialist Poland deconstructs the public performance of technological innovation and imagined modernity in relation to the home technologies market in late state socialist Poland While doing so Patryk Wasiak sheds light on the politics that accompanied the modes of representations of the new innovative consumer technologies in the public sphere and the agenda of actors who performed such representations This book argues that the central form of the mediation of home technologies was the projection of specific sociotechnical imaginaries that included visions of how these technologies would have an impact on the creation of a desirable future social order and economy Later such imaginaries were re negotiated and challenged as infeasible or undesirable The author demonstrates how expert groups the industry lobby research institutes and non governmental organizations attempted to secure their role as intermediary actors in order to have a tangible impact on not only the production of commodities but more importantly on the definition of which commodity or a product feature is modern and innovative and which is obsolete
