

Accuracy... in one word it says what you expect from a planter. Now White® introduces the planter that meets that expectation. The new 5100 Seed Boss™

The key design difference... an entirely new metering system. Seed falls into each pressurized metering chamber and fills each cell of the seed disc by the very natural, very gentle means of gravity. So there are no metal fingers, fluted seed cups or long distance pneumatic tubes to damage the seed coat. Once in the seed cell, air pressure holds the seed in place until it passes a gentle brush that breaks the air pressure. From that point, the seed drops through a non-pressurized tube in a natural trajectory into the seed trench.

Exclusive new dual depth gauge wheel mounting takes precision depth control to new levels. The new depth control unit has an exclusive walking beam linkage which synchronizes each wheel to work in coordination with the other, each carrying exactly one half of the unit weight load. So variances in seedbed levels are adjusted for with greater sensitivity than any other depth gauge system on the market.

Plus an arm-long list of new standard features. Beginning with the stout, rigid 7x7-inch toolbar on every model. New 1½ bu. seed hoppers made of seamless molded polyethylene plastic for long life. A new simple, reliable transmission for quick population changes and a folding, pull-type hitch for compact storage are also new to the 5100. See the back for more performance features and specifications.
