Thinking About Democracy Power Sharing And Majority Rule In Theory And Practice:

Thinking about Democracy Arend Lijphart, 2007-10-10 Arend Lijphart is one of the world's leading and most influential political scientists whose work has had a profound impact on the study of democracy and comparative politics. Thinking about Democracy draws on a lifetime's experience of research and publication in this area and collects together for the first time his most significant and influential work. The book also contains an entirely new introduction and conclusion where Professor Lijphart assesses the development of his thought and the practical impact it has had on emerging democracies. This volume will be of enormous interest to all students and scholars of democracy and comparative politics and politics and international relations in general.

Peacemaking, Power-sharing and International Law Martin Wählisch, 2019-09-05 This monograph provides a contemporary analysis of the frictions between peacemaking and international human rights law based on the cases of postconflict power sharing in Lebanon and Bosnia Herzegovina. In this context it evaluates the long standing debate in the United Nations and human rights bodies about the imperfect peace. Written from a practitioner scholarly viewpoint and drawing from new authentic sources the book describes the mechanisms used in peace agreements and post conflict constitutions for managing ethnic or religious diversity, explains their legal limits under international human rights law and provides a conceptual framework for analysing the nexus between law and peacemaking. The book argues that the relationship between the content of peace agreements and post conflict constitutions, their negotiation process and the element of time needs to be untangled to better understand the legal limits of statebuilding in the aftermath of armed conflict. It is a key resource for scholars in human rights law and peace and conflict studies, advisers in peace processes, constitution makers and peace mediators.

Consociationalism and Power-Sharing in Europe Michaelina Jakala, Durukan Kuzu, Matt Qvortrup, 2017-12-19 This book examines the theoretical and practical relevance and challenges of the consociationalist model of democracy. Since the publication of the Politics of Accommodation 1968 and Democracy in Plural Societies 1977 Professor Lijphart's theories and practical implementations have played a key role in establishing enduring peace settlements. In this edited volume scholars and Professor Lijphart himself critically examine the history of consociationalism and its application in areas including Northern Ireland, Bosnia Herzegovina and Colombia. The book will be essential reading for undergraduate and graduate students of political science, comparative politics, transitional justice and peace studies. It will also be of use to practitioners ranging from diplomats to NGOs who are interested in the practical application of tested models of political accommodation.

Democracy and Social Peace in Divided Societies M. Bogaards, 2014-06-24 This unique comparative study examines minority representation and powersharing in Canada, Kenya, South Africa, Fiji, India, Malaysia and Yugoslavia. Presenting a new concept of the consociational party, Bogaards explores how diversity differs within parties and why it matters for social peace and democracy.

Multilingual Democracy Nenad Stojanović, 2021-06-29 Most experts on divided societies and institutional design broadly agree that it is more difficult to establish and maintain a stable functioning democracy in a country with multiple languages and linguistically fragmented public spheres than in more homogeneous countries. Multilingual countries such as Canada and Belgium have been experiencing considerable difficulties in past decades: see the almost successful 1995 referendum on sovereignty in Quebec or the institutional deadlock and the rise of Flemish nationalism in Belgium since the 1970s. The prospects for the EU to become a viable democracy are even more haunted by multilingualism considering that it has 24 official languages and no lingua franca. Switzerland however is also a multilingual country without a lingua franca, fragmented into 22 mono lingual and three multilingual cantons as well as into four distinct public spheres: German, French, Italian, Romansh. And yet it is widely seen as one of the most stable and successful democracies. Conventional wisdom in political science literature suggests that consociational political institutions account for the success of Swiss multilingual democracy. This book offers a different institutional explanation. The author argues that in mainstream literature important Swiss institutions in particular direct democracy, Parliament and the federal executive have largely been misinterpreted; they have been labelled as consociational whereas they are rather a product of centripetalism, an approach to institutional design in which political incentives are directed toward intergroup compromise because of the need to appeal to voters across group lines in order to form majorities. This approach to achieving long term democratic stability stands in sharp contrast to consociationalism.

Complex Democracy Volker Schneider, Burkard Eberlein, 2015-05-26. This book presents a state of the art collection of original contributions on democracy addressing three related themes: the complexity of modern democracies and their structural diversity; coping strategies of democracies in times of crises and current and potential trajectories and transformations of democracy. The first part of the book maps the democratic landscape by revealing the diversity of democratic political systems through either comparative analysis or case studies on the specific nature of political and administrative systems in interest intermediation and identity construction. The second part presents articles that investigate the response of democracies to times of crisis with an emphasis on political economies and policy processes within the European Union. The third part offers studies on democracies that explore their adaptive potential in the context of globalization and in that of broader technical, institutional or cultural changes.

Politics of Identity in Post-Conflict States Éamonn Ó Ciardha, Gabriela Vojvoda, 2015-12-14. Ireland and the Balkans have come to represent divided and re-united communities. They both provide effective microcosms of national, ethnic, political, military, religious, ideological and cultural conflicts in their respective regions and as a result they demonstrate real and imaginary divisions. This book will specifically focus on the history, politics and literature of Bosnia Herzegovina and Northern Ireland while making comparative reference to some of Europe's other disputed and divided regions. Using case studies such as Kosovo and Serbia, Lithuania, Germany, Poland, Russia and Belarus, Greece and Macedonia, it examines space, place and border discourse, the topography of war and violence, post-war settlement and reconciliation and the location and negotiation of national, ethnic, religious, political and cultural identities. The book will be of particular interest to scholars and students of cultural studies history politics Irish studies Slavonic studies area studies and literary studies

Politics of Democratic Breakdown Gangsheng Bao, 2022-05-30 Democratic breakdown as a political and historic event can impact the fate of millions if not hundreds of millions of people by changing the political complexion of a country This book attempts to systematically explain why democracies collapse The author's main theoretical argument is based on the examination of two factors One is political cleavages among voters These can cause serious political conflicts and may lead to fierce political confrontation and major upheaval at the society level The other revolves around the types of political and institutional arrangements under democratic regimes Centrifugal democratic regimes are likely to weaken government capacity or state capacity rendering governments incapable of effectively resolving political conflicts and when these two factors come together political conflicts are less likely to be controlled effectively These situations can evolve into serious political crises and eventually lead to the collapse of democratic regimes The empirical research of this book is based on a comparative historical analysis of Germany Nigeria Chile and India Examining democratic collapses from both theoretical and empirical perspectives this book will be of interest to those engaged in the study of democracy Political Science Comparative Politics and Political Theory

Civil Society and Political Reform in Lebanon and Libya Carmen Geha, 2016-02-12 Lebanon and Libya have undergone critical political events in recent years However demands for reform from civic institutions during these transitions have not led to concrete political decisions Civil Society and Political Reform in Lebanon and Libya reveals the deeply entrenched historical patterns and elements of continuity that have led to path dependent outcomes in the political transitions of both countries Motivated by personal experiences as an activist in Lebanon the author draws together a wide range of data from participant observations nation wide surveys interviews and focus groups in a careful analysis of these two civil society led reform campaigns The study demonstrates how the combination of weak states and power sharing agreements marginalizes civic organisations and poses institutional constraints on the likelihood of reform Written by an active participant in the political events discussed this book offers new insight into two countries which present comparable and informative case studies As such it is a valuable resource for students scholars and policymakers interested in civil society politics and reform in the Middle East and North Africa

Human rights and democratic governance in Kenya: A post-2007 appraisal John Osogo Ambani, Nicholas Wasonga Orago, Ochieng Walter Khobe, Paul Ogendi, Winifred Kamau, Conrad Bosire, Ken Obura, Juliet Okoth, Ruth Aura-Odhiambo, 2015-08-21 This publication is a collection of essays on human rights and democratic governance in Kenya in the period after the 2007 post elections violence After surviving the trauma of electoral violence the country soon embarked on a journey towards reconstruction by engaging in among other things intense re evaluation of the then existing system of laws and institutions In the process the daunting task has been to reverse the flawed systems that have been in existence for many decades and in their place entrench systems that would promote and respect democratic governance and human rights This publication therefore documents the extent of the country's reconstruction since 2007 and makes recommendations for the way forward for the recovery of the state

Power-Sharing Pacts and the Women, Peace and Security Agenda Siobhan Byrne, Allison McCulloch, 2021-11-29
This book offers a comparative lens on the contested relationship between two leading conflict resolution norms ethnopolitical power sharing pacts and the women peace and security WPS agenda Championed by national governments and international organizations over the last two decades power sharing and feminist scholars and practitioners tend to view them as opposing norms Critics charge that power sharing scholars cast gender as an inconsequential political identity that does not motivate people like ethnonationalism From a feminist perspective such thinking serves the interests of ethnicized elites while excluding women and other marginalized communities from key sites of political power This edited volume takes a different tack while recognizing the gender gaps that still exist in power sharing theory and practice contributors also emphasize the constructive engagements that can be built between ethnopolitical power sharing and gender inclusion Three main themes are highlighted The gender silences of existing power sharing arrangements The impact of gender activism and advocacy on the negotiation and implementation of power sharing pacts in divided societies The opportunities for linkages between power sharing and the women peace and security agenda The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Nationalism and Ethnic Politics

Colomer, 2008-07-25 This is a clear comprehensive and authoritative introduction to the institutional regimes of countries in Western Europe written by an outstanding group of political scientists Completely revised and updated throughout Comparative European Politics 3rd edition provides a complete coverage of individual countries or group of countries as well as to the European Union allowing readers to draw sophisticated comparisons between countries is written to a common template so that each chapter explores political parties elections and electoral rules parliaments local regional and state governments and the relations between domestic institutions and the European Union

Negotiations in the World Trade Organization Michal Parizek, 2019-10-10 This book examines the World Trade Organization WTO in the context of the global economy in the twenty first century arguing that many problems within the institution lie in the disparity between its design and the nature of its tasks Studying the global trade regime and the unsuccessful Doha round of trade liberalization negotiations this volume suggests that important institutional adjustments may be necessary for the WTO and other major international institutions to regain their ability to manage global economy It uses extensive new qualitative and quantitative evidence to identify systematic dysfunctions in how the Doha negotiations have been conducted and links these dysfunctions to the exclusively inter governmental design of interest representation in the WTO Based on this the book argues that global economic institutions should consider allowing broader parliamentary and non state representation of their members Presenting findings which can also be applied to other global economic institutions Negotiations in the World Trade Organization will be useful to students and scholars of international trade global governance and international political economy

The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict Karl Cordell, Brendan O'Leary, Stefan Wolff, 2018-10-11 The conflict between Israel and the Palestinians is one of the longest unresolved conflicts of modern times It has brought about the early and violent deaths of tens of thousands of people and blighted the lives of millions more It is symbiotically linked to the wider crises that continue to engulf the wider region The purpose of this volume is to elucidate both the nature of the conflict but perhaps more importantly to make some tentative proposals with regard to how the conflict may eventually be peacefully concluded The contributors offer their prognosis in light of the fact that both Israeli and Palestinian society is becoming increasingly polarised and prey to fanatics who argue that the conflict will and should be solved by the complete destruction of one side by the other In short this volume seeks to provide rational counter arguments to fundamentalist bile that questions the fundamental humanity of the opposing side This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Ethnopolitics

Which European Union? Sergio Fabbrini, 2015-02-26 This book asks how the European Union can tackle the constitutional conundrum caused by the Euro crisis

Constitutional Reform of National Legislatures Richard Albert, Antonia Baraggia, Cristina Fasone, 2019 Despite the importance of second chambers to the success of constitutional democracies around the world today many fundamental questions about bicameralism remain understudied and undertheorized What makes bicameral reform so difficult Why choose bicameralism over unicameralism What are the constitutional values of bicameralism This innovative book addresses these questions and many more from comparative doctrinal empirical historical and theoretical perspectives
