Third World Modernism Architecture Development And Identity:

Third World Modernism Duanfang Lu, 2010-11-02 This set of essays challenge interpretations of the development of modernist architecture in Third World countries during the Cold War The topics look at modernism's part in the transnational development of building technologies and the construction of national and cultural identity Modern Middle-Class

Housing in Tehran Rana Habibi, 2020-11-16 In Modern Middle Class Housing in Tehran Reproduction of an Archetype Rana Habibi offers an engaging analysis of the modern urban history of Tehran during the Cold War period 1945-1979 The book while arguing about the institutionalism of modernity in the form of modern middle class housing in Tehran shows how vernacular archetypes found their way into the construction of new neighborhoods The trajectory of ideal modernism towards popular modernism the introduction of modern taste to traditional society through architects while tracing the path of transnational models in local projects are all subjects extensively expounded by Rana Habibi through engaging graphical analyses and appealing theoretical interpretations involving five modern Tehran neighborhoods Modernism in

Late-Mao China Ke Song, 2023-04-28 This book investigates the architectural history of China in the Mao era 1949-1976 focusing on the rise of modernism in the last seven years of the Cultural Revolution from 1969 to 1976 It highlights the new architecture of this period exemplified by three clusters of buildings for foreign affairs namely buildings for foreign diplomacy in Beijing buildings for foreign trade in Guangzhou and China's foreign aid projects overseas The emergence of new architecture in the early 1970s is closely associated with China's political and diplomatic shift of the time from a radical emphasis on ideological struggle to a dynamic balance between leftist ideology and pragmatic concerns In this context China's relations with the West quickly improved culminating with American president Richard Nixon's visit to China in 1972 The increasing foreign affairs brought new opportunities to Chinese architects who referenced both Western modernism and Chinese architectural traditions to create a new version of Chinese modernism The book brings dimensions of form politics and knowledge to the analysis of architecture to construct an understanding of architectural design as an aesthetic political and intellectual practice Modernism in Late Mao China will be an enriching and useful reference for students and scholars who are interested in the global architectural history of the twentieth century especially Cold War modernism Women

Modernism in Africa Docomomo International, 2024-12-16 Many African countries are home to extraordinary architecture that is virtually unknown There are interpretations of Art Deco International Style Brutalism as well as of African vernacular architecture Climate responsive buildings with a fluidity of interior and exterior spaces play a large role While many of these 20th century architects were of European origin they were deeply influenced by their surroundings and found original site specific expressions often in collaboration with African architects A focus of the construction activities were educational buildings which played an important role for these young nations that mostly gained their independence in the 1960s While some of the documented buildings have been restored others are still awaiting reconstruction Well known contributors include among others Uta Pottgiesser TH OWL TU Delft Ana Tost es Lisbon University Ola Uduku University of Liverpool The stunning photography by Jean Molitor takes the reader on a journey across the continent Documentation of over 60 buildings from eight countries with new drawings and photographs The Architecture of the Bight of Biafra Joseph Godlewski, 2024-03-06 The Architecture of the Bight of Biafra challenges linear assumptions about agency progress and domination in colonial and postcolonial cities adding an important sub Saharan case study to existing scholarship on globalization and modernity Intersected by small creeks rivulets and dotted with mangrove swamps the Bight of Biafra has a long history of decentralized political arrangements and intricate trading networks predating the emergence of the Atlantic world While indigenous merchants in the region were active participants in the transatlantic slave trading system they creatively resisted European settlement and maintained indigenous sovereignty until the middle of the nineteenth century Since few built artifacts still exist this study draws from a close reading of written sources travelers accounts slave traders diaries missionary memoirs colonial records and oral histories as well as contemporary fieldwork to trace transformations in the region s built environment from the sixteenth century to today With each chapter focusing on a particular spatial paradigm in this dynamic process this book uncovers the manifold and inventive ways in which actors strategically adapted the built environment to adjust to changing cultural and economic circumstances In parallel it highlights the ways that these spaces were rhetorically constructed and exploited by foreign observers and local agents Enmeshed in the history of slavery colonialism and the modern construction of race the spatial dynamics of the Biafran region have not been geographically delimited The central thesis of this volume is that these spaces of entanglement have been productive sites of Black identity formation involving competing and overlapping interests occupying multiple positions and temporalities and ensnaring real imagined and sometimes contradictory aims This book will be of interest to researchers and students of architecture

architectural history urban geography African studies and Atlantic studies Singapore's Park System Master Planning Raffaella Sini, 2019-04-23 This book traces the evolution of Singapore's parks system from colonial to present times. Further, it contextualizes the design and planning of parks in the general discourse on western and eastern traditions, early twentieth-century western conceptions imported during colonialism, modernism, postmodernism, and the contemporary ecological debate. Park system planning products respond to national policies and result in structural urban elements and a range of park types. Global western ideology and local issues have influenced park system planning and the physical design of individual parks over time. However, in Singapore, the eastern literature has not addressed the development of parks and urban green spaces in terms of historical perspective. The publication reveals the interrelations between visual representations and changing political ideologies. Singapore's system of public parks is shown to represent an iconography created by the state. Its set of constructed narratives elucidates on the potential social, cultural, and environmental roles of public parks. However, Singapore's park system presents a novel paradigm for expanding Asian cities characterized by evolving urban imaging strategies. In framing Singapore's case study within the broader perspective of eastern applications of western planning and design practices and constructions of nation in post-colonial countries, the manuscript establishes the contribution of the Singaporean model of design and planning of parks to the international debate.
