Brave new words Jeff Prucher, The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels Eva-Maria Windberger, 2023-07-17 The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels combines the investigation of David Mitchell's novels with the introduction of a new critical concept to literary studies empowerment Aiming to situate and establish empowerment firmly within the context of literary studies it offers the first framework and definition for reading fictional texts with the lens of empowerment and applies it in the analysis of discourse the fictional characters and the role of the reader in Mitchell's novels Drawing on narratological analysis cognitive approaches to literature and reader response theory it features close readings of Cloud Atlas 2004 Black Swan Green 2006 and The Thousand Autumns of Jacob de Zoet 2010 and dissects the author's strategies poetics and agenda of empowering fiction This book argues for an inherent indissoluble connection between empowerment and the telling of stories and demonstrates how literary studies can benefit from a serious engagement with empowerment and how such an engagement can stimulate new responses to fiction and put literary studies in conversation with other disciplines A Critic at Large in the Multiverse ,

Literary Studies and Human Flourishing James F. English, Heather Love, 2023 The Humanities and Human Flourishing series publishes edited volumes that explore the role of human flourishing in the central disciplines of the humanities and whether and how the humanities can increase human happiness The contributors to this volume of essays investigate the question what do literary scholars contribute to social scientific research on human happiness and flourishing Of all humanities disciplines none is more resistant to the program of positive psychology or the prevailing discourse of human flourishing than literary studies The approach taken in this volume of essays is neither to gloss over that antagonism nor to launch a series of blasts against positive psychology and the happiness industry Rather the contributors reflect on how their literary research work to which they are personally committed might become part of an interdisciplinary conversation about human flourishing The contributors' areas of research are wide ranging covering literary aesthetics book history digital humanities and reader reception as well as the important inter disciplines of gender and sexuality studies disability studies and black studies fields in which issues of stigma and exclusion are paramount and which have critiqued the discourse of human flourishing for its failure to grapple with structural inequality and human difference Literary scholars are drawn more readily to the problematic than to the decidable but by dwelling on the trouble spots in a field of inquiry still largely confined to the sciences Literary Studies and Human Flourishing provides the groundwork for new and more productive forms of interdisciplinary collaboration and exchange

Fight the Power Eric Leif Davin,2008-11-12 Eric Leif DaVietnamesen was raised as a Southern Baptist and Mormon convert although he was always a non believer However like everyone else in his blue collar surroundings he believed in America the military anti Communism and although too young to vote Senator Barry Goldwater when he ran for president in 1964 Then in the Sixties he went to college and became swept up in the movements of the times He came to realize that everything he d believed about his war the Vietnameseetnam War was wrong He came to believe that we were more than just on the wrong side We were the wrong side Eventually he was drafted However he refused induction into the military preferring to face five years in prison the maximum sentence rather than fight in an immoral war This memoir describes his journey through the Sixties from a working class gung ho Goldwater Republican supporter of the Vietnameseetnam War to a radicalized anti war actiVietnamesest who was eventually drafted to fight in that war but refused to go

Translating Cuba Robert S. Lesman,2021-07-12 Cuban culture has long been available to English speakers via translation This study examines the complex ways in which English renderings of Cuban texts from various domains poetry science fiction political and military writing music film have represented reshaped or amended original texts Taking in a broad corpus it becomes clear that the mental image an Anglophone audience has formed of Cuban culture since 1959 depends heavily on the decisions of translators At times a clear ideological agenda drives moves like strengthening the denunciatory tone of a song or excising passages from a political text At other moments translators indifference to the importance of certain facets of a work such as a film s onscreen text or the lyrics sung on a musical performance impoverishes the English speaker s experience of the rich weave of self expression in the original Spanish In addition to the dynamics at work in the choices translators make at the level of the text itself this study attends to how paratexts like prefaces footnotes liner notes and promotional copy shape the audience's experience of the text Breakfast in the Ruins Barry N. Malzberg, 2007-04-01 Barry N Malzberg reflects back over four decades of writing science fiction giving an insider's view of the field during that time which few can match both for its authority and for the sharp and witty way he describes the highs and lows of one science fiction writer's career He also writes vivid profiles of writers and editors ranging from the titans who transformed the field such as John W Campbell to once popular writers who are now all but forgotten such as Hugo Award winner Mark Clifton If there is any particular cachet to my perspective he writes it comes because my career is perhaps more than some metaphoric The original shorter version of the book was widely praised as by the San Francisco Chronicle Contains literary criticism ranging over the whole history of the field this is a mordant brilliant book and by The Washington Post Book World Malzberg makes persuasively clear that the best of science fiction should be valued as literature and nothing else Breakfast in the Ruins is an indispensable book for every science fiction reader At the publisher's request this title is sold without DRM Digital Rights Management How to Grow a Young Reader Kathryn Lindskoog, Ranelda Mack Hunsicker, 2002-06-18 In an age of electronic games TV videos and the Internet You can raise a book lover Reading opens up a lifetime of learning and delight to children In How to Grow a Young Reader Kathryn Lindskoog and Ranelda Mack Hunsicker offer suggestions for creating a reader friendly home truths about how literature strengthens character development and helpful strategies for nurturing a love of reading in any child Includes a helpful guide to over 1 800 books

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists , 1953-07 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world The Cambridge Companion to Science Fiction Edward James, Farah Mendlesohn, 2003-11-20 Science fiction is at the intersection of numerous fields It is a literature which draws on popular culture and which engages in speculation about science history and all types of social relations This volume brings together essays by scholars and practitioners of science fiction which look at the genre from these different angles After an introduction to the nature of science fiction historical chapters trace science fiction from Thomas More to more recent years including a chapter on film and television The second section introduces four important critical approaches to science fiction drawing their theoretical inspiration from Marxism postmodernism feminism and queer theory The final and largest section of the book looks at various themes and sub genres of science fiction A number of well known science fiction writers contribute to this volume including Gwyneth Jones Ken MacLeod Brian Stableford Andy Duncan James Gunn Joan Slonczewski and Damien Broderick Empathy and the Phantasmic in Ethnic American Trauma Narratives Stella Setka, 2020-05-19 Empathy and the Phantasmic in Ethnic American Trauma Narratives examines a burgeoning genre of ethnic American literature called phantasmic trauma narratives which use culturally specific modes of the supernatural to connect readers to historical traumas such as slavery and genocide Drawing on trauma theory and using an ethnic studies methodology this book shows how phantasmic novels and films present historical trauma in ways that seek to invite reader viewer empathy about the cultural groups represented In so doing the author argues that these texts also provide models of interracial alliances to encourage contemporary cross cultural engagement as a restorative response to historical traumas Further the author examines how these narratives function as sites of cultural memory that provide a critical purchase on the enormity of enslavement genocide and dispossession
