Hardboiled & High Heeled Linda Mizejewski, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an information company.

National Women's Health Survey for Trinidad and Tobago Cecile Pemberton, Joel Joseph, 2018-03-06 This report presents the first nationally representative estimates of the prevalence of intimate partner violence (IPV) and non-partner sexual violence (NPSV) against women in Trinidad and Tobago. The data come from the 2017 Trinidad and Tobago Women's Health Survey (WHS), a national quantitative cross-sectional survey of 1,079 women ages 15-64. The report finds that 30 percent of ever-partnered women experienced physical and/or sexual violence by an intimate partner in their lifetime, and 6 percent in the 12 months prior to data collection. Seven percent of all respondents reported having been forced into sexual intercourse by a non-partner in their lifetime; 1 percent in the last 12 months. Significant risk factors associated with IPV identified using Chi-square tests included lower education, female, and partner cohabitation without marriage, rural residency, younger age, non-consensual marriage, having been pregnant, having experienced or witnessed violence in childhood, substance abuse by the partner, and the partner being unemployed and having been in prior relationships. The report documents the negative consequences of IPV for women and their children, as well as the most common responses and coping mechanisms. One in three women who experienced IPV remained quiet about their experience, and most survivors did not seek or receive assistance for their situation. Women most often sought help from their personal contacts, mostly their mothers, rather than police, social services, or other entities adequately resourced to address IPV. Several factors precluded women from accessing help; these included fear, shame, and the normalcy associated with violence. Based on these findings, recommendations for policy and further research are presented.

The Time Has Come Michael Kaufman, 2019-01-15 For too long the struggle for the rights of women and girls was seen as women's business. Of course it's equally men's business, and stops being such a struggle when it's seen that way. This reframing gives us a chance to understand violence against women as deeply toxic for us all. Phumzile Mlambo Ngcuka, UN Under-Secretary-General and Executive Director of UN Women. The Time Has Come explores how a patriarchal culture that has given power to men comes at a huge cost to women, children, and surprisingly to men as well. It details how very achievable changes in our workplaces, in the ways we raise boys to be men, and in the movement to end men's violence will bring significant rewards to communities all around the world. Michael Kaufman is the co-founder of the White Ribbon Campaign, the largest international network of men working to end violence against women, and for decades has been an advisor on gender equality to the United Nations governments NGOs schools and workplaces around the world With honest storytelling compassion and hard hitting analysis The Time Has Come is a compelling look at why men must take a stand in the fight for general equality
